Mendes-France Reports Indochina Peace 'Cruel'

Truce Was Best Bargain Offered 'And It Ended A Nightmare'

PARIS (AP)—Premier Pierre Mendes-France reported to the National Assembly Thursday that the Indochina peace he negotiated at Geneva was cruel but that it was the best bargain to be had and it ended a nightmare for France.

He was immediately attacked by Frederic DuPont, a member of the government of Joseph Laniel which Mendes-France displaced.

DuPont accused the Premier of throwing away advantages in the Geneva negotiations and implied that the Laniel government, if allowed to stay in office, could have had peace and perhaps on better terms.

Reporting to the National Assembly on the Geneva negotiations after his return Thursday morning, Mendes-France was received with a warm welcome by the deputies including the Communists. The Assembly applauded as he mounted the rostrum, and again after his 45-minute address. He had promised the Assembly he would resign unless he succeeded in negotiating a cease-fire by July 20—a deadline he missed by only a few hours.

"I have no illusions and I do not want anyone to have any illusions on the contents of the agreements," Mendes-France said. "The text is sometimes cruel. It consecrates facts which were cruel. It was not possible to do otherwise."

The next step, he said, must be to help the reconstruction of southern Viet Nam and to put the French economy on a sound basis.

"France must follow a generous and realistic policy" in southern Viet Nam, he said, adding that instructions already have been given French officials to turn over all functions to Vietnamese officials and to adhere to the promises of Vietnamese independence.

The Laniel government before going out of office, signed treaties with Viet Nam and Laos promising to give them independence. But in the case of Viet Nam the exact extent of that country's autonomy within the French Union remains to be negotiated in the form of an annex to the treaty. In the case of Laos, the French have retained control of foreign and military affairs. An independence treaty with Cambodia has not yet been negotiated, but the French have withdrawn their troops under a special military agreement.

U. S. Tribute

Mendes-France paid tribute to the support given by the United States at Geneva. He also had high praise for British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, who, he said, had been helpful and conciliatory in the closing stages.

The reference to Molotov brought laughs from the right side of the Assembly.

The Communists in the Assembly were in an uncommonly good mood. They applauded Mendes-France, stood when Assembly President Adnre le Troquer paid tribute to fallen French soldiers in Indochina and even applauded Mendes-France's laudatory comments on Eden.

Hay Fire Damage Is Heavy

Gas Caused By Previous Blaze Burns Haymaker

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

CRETE — Gas formed by heated hay exploded into flames on the August C. Wohl farm, three and a quarter miles southeast of Crete, late Thursday night, destroying a haymaking machine and 2,200 bales of hay.

Damage was estimated at $6,500, with the steel structure which housed the baled hay valued at $5,000.

Wohl, who operates the haymaking business in partnership with his sister, said he went to bed at 9 p.m. and was roused around about 11 p.m. by a neighbor who honked his automobile horn and informed him of the blaze.

High Flames

At the height of the fire, flames shot high into the air and could be seen from several miles away.

It was reported by firemen that they were called to the same place about 5 a.m. Thursday to extinguish a fire in the haymaker. Flames at that time reached nearly 10 feet up into the bin before they were brought under control about 7 a.m.

Wohl said he believed that the gas formed by the first fire was responsible for the second blaze.

Two Trips

While Crete firemen were pumping hundreds of gallons of water into the flames, a Crete implement dealer made two trips to town with a tank truck, supplying 1,500 gallons of water.

Two Crete fire trucks battled the stubborn blaze and Chief Foss said that at least one of the trucks would standby the haymaker during the night to contain the fire and prevent further damage.

Wohl said the haymaker and part of the hay destroyed were insured.

17 On Plane Down Near Red Island

HONG KONG (Friday) (AP)—A British Skymaster carrying 17 persons ditched in the South China Sea near Red China's Hainan Island today and rescue efforts were hampered by the proximity to Communist waters.

The Cathay Pacific Airlines plane carried 12 passengers and 5 crew. The operators in Singapore said six Americans and three British subjects were among those on board.

The four-engine plane was en route from Singapore to Hong Kong via Bangkok when a left wing engine caught fire. It ditched about 9 a.m. (7 p.m., CST, Thursday).

A recue plane radioed at 12:30 p.m. that it had sighted a rubber raft carrying four persons.

At 1:30 p.m. a U. S. Navy PBY from the Philippines arrived here and reported it had sighted "rafts" and had circled them but did not put down because they were too near Communist waters for a U.S. military aircraft.

A second U.S. Navy plane continued to circle the rafts while a civilian flying boat from Hong Kong was called to make a rescue attempt.

It was felt that the civilian plane could intrude on Red waters with greater safety.

Baby Twister Wrecks Chadron Building

Central Nebraska Gets Spotted Rain

... Little Hope Held For Rest Of State

Central Nebraska points got rains varying from .40 of an inch to nearly two inches Thursday, but the weatherman said the rest of the state would go dry.

The forecast was a change from an earlier prediction, which foresaw showers in the southeast. But late Thursday night the weather bureau had a change of mind, and announced the next rain in the state would be in "chance showers" in the northwest by Saturday evening. Temperatures Friday are to be in the 75-85 range.

Meanwhile, the Thursday rains helped some areas.

Holdrege reported about 1.76 inches of precipitation had fallen in the form of gentle rain which came down all day. It was a "God send," one resident said.

Other towns reporting rain were Lexington with .49, Kearney with .74, North Platte with .37, Grand Island with .41, Burwell with .43, and Imperial with .11.

Chadron Cleans Up

Meanwhile at Chadron cleanup work continued after the severe weather Wednesday night. A cloudburst, accompanied by hail, a small tornado and severe lightning caused extensive damage.

A service station, city gas plant and a trailer home were demolished, trees uprooted and power lines snapped. Basements and highways had been temporarily flooded.

The Wesde Frontier Service Station roof and three walls were caved in by the baby twister. Damage was estimated unofficially at $10,000. Three cars inside the station were smashed.

The winds, ranging up to 65 miles an hour moved the trailer home, owned by Wayne Ross, more than 100 feet. No one was in the trailer. A 30-foot sign on the Baline Hotel was twisted.

West of Chadron, the brick building of the Chadron Gas Co. was damaged extensively. The second story of the building was ripped away by the twister.

Highway 19, a mile south of town, was a mass of debris after a 12-foot wall of water rolled across the road following an inch of rain in 20 minutes

Lightning hit a chimney on the American Legion building and started at least one fire in the city. The fire department was also called to stop a prairie fire outside of town.

Anti-Spy Top Boss Vanishes

Bonn Charges Commies Kidnaped Dr. Otto John

BERLIN (AP) — West Germany's anti-spy chief, Dr. Otto John, has disappeared mysteriously in Soviet-run East Berlin. The Bonn Interior Ministry charged Thursday Communists kidnaped him. West Berlin police said a note left behind said he did not want to return West.

If he was kidnaped, the Communists landed a major prize.

John, 44, headed the Federal Office for Protection of the Constitution, which is charged with safeguarding the West German republic against treasonable and subversive activities. The FOPC is comparable in many respects to the Central Intelligence Agency in the United States.

In Washington, officials reported John had visited the United States in June and conferred with Allen W. Dulles, CIA head. The visit was described as unofficial.

As chief of the anti-subversion office, John has an intimate knowledge of antisubversive operations in his own territory and of West German intelligence sources in Russian-occupied East Germany.

John has not been seen since he left his hotel in Allied West Berlin in a taxi Tuesday evening. Police said he called a doctor friend and the two went together to the Soviet sector.

Officer Denies He Made Men Stand In Heat For Hour

FORT DIX, N. J. (INS)—First Lt. Robert S. Morgan of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., pleaded innocent Thursday at the opening of his court martial on charges of forcing a company of trainees to stand at rigid attention for more than an hour in 92-degree heat.

Army prosecutors told the eight-man court they will prove "beyond any doubt that Morgan is guilty of dereliction of duty" and deliberately subjected the trainees to punitive measures.

In an opening statement for the prosecution, 2nd Lt. Charles Rogers of Buffalo, N. Y., said Morgan ordered the trainees—at the end of a full day's work—to stand at attention. When several of the men fainted, he charged, Morgan ordered them doused with water and forced to resume their positions.

All-Weather Surfaces Jump:

Only 300 Miles Of Dirt Road Remain In Lancaster County

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Only 300 miles of dirt road remain in Lancaster County, Board Chairman Russell Brehm said in noting all-weather surfacing has increased to 1,200 miles today as compared with 924 miles in the county in 1947.

In 1947, the county had 710 miles of earth roads and 924 miles of all-weather roads, or only 56.56 per cent all weather surfaced as compared with today's 81.31 per cent, he said

While 300 miles in the 1,500-mile county road system are dirt roads, Brehm noted that 200 miles have no one living on them.

Mail Routes

The 32 mails routes originating in or entering Lancaster County to service county residents, compose an 861-mile system, including 81 miles maintained by the state.

Of the 780 miles of county mail route roads, 773 miles are graded and surfaced, which means the job is 99 per cent complete, Brehm added.

In discussion the road situation of Lancaster County, Brehm praised Co. Engineer Louis W. Weaver and employees of the county highway department.

"It will be only a matter of time before all farm to market roads will be surfaced," Brehm stated.

He reported 1118.3 miles are gravel surfaced; 56.6 are crushed rock; 3.3, are bituminous-rock, and 18 miles are paved the county's road system.

Knowland Acts After A-Bill Foes Win Victory

Building Of A-Plants By AEC Is Authorized By Upper Chamber

WASHINGTON (Friday) (AP)—The Senate recessed for 25 minutes early today, breaking a continuous session that had run for 39 hours and 35 minutes in a battle over an administration atomic bill.

After the 25-minute recess, the Senate started a new legislative day and the marathon debate was resumed with Sen. Eastland (D-Miss) launching into a lengthy speech.

WASHINGTON (Friday) (AP)—Majority Leader Knowland (R-Calif) early today filed a petition for cloture to limit debate and force a vote on the atomic legislation as the Senate neared its 39th hour in continuous session.

The drastic move requires votes of 64 senators to be effective.

It came after Knowland had effectively employed another seldom-used tactic — tabling an amendment or killing it without debate.

Before offering the cloture petition, Knowland made a final attempt to limit debate on the bill and all amendments, holding out an offer to "recess until noon" to let weary senators get some sleep.

When this was rejected Knowland then sent forward the cloture petition. Reading of the signatures on it indicated most of the Republicans had backed the effort.

But to be effective, a large number of Democrats also must vote for it to produce the necessary 64 and that appeared uncertain.

Before filing the debate limitation move, Knowland told the Senate he opposed ever trying to use it "except in desperation."

He said there are "some doubts" now that the Senate and Congress could hit the deadline for adjournment a week from Saturday.

Senate parliamentarians said the earliest possible time for vote on the cloture petition would be 1:01 a.m. Sunday.

If the cloture vote is pushed to conclusion, it appeared likely that the Senate would recess first to take a rest.

Democrats opposed all of Knowland's efforts to limit debate either on each amendment or the bill and all amendments, pointing out that a number of opponents of the bill were not in the Senate.

Knowland brought the cloture threat out into the open as the floor fight rolled on into the morning.

Long Objects

He had asked unanimous consent to limit debate on a pending amendment to one hour, but this was blocked by the objection of Sen. Long (D-La).

Minuets later, he filed the petition. It contained 38 names, all Republicans.

The basic legislation before the Senate concerns President Eisenhower's proposals for peacetime uses of atomic energy and modernizing of existing atomic laws.

But much of the Senate's marathon debate has stemmed from a presidential directive to the atomic energy commission to enter into a contract with a private utility group to replace some of the electric power taken from the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Earlier foes of the Eisenhower atomic energy bill scored an upset victory at the marathon session of the Senate. It voted 45-41 to allow the federal government to go into the commercial production of atomic power.

Sen. Reynolds, Nebraska Republican, voted with the minority as the Senate added the "public power" amendment to the atomic bill. Sen. Bowring (R-Neb) was not recorded as voting.

In vain, administration backers declared that the Atomic Energy Commission has no desire to get into the commercial power field. The Senate voted to authorize the AEC and some other federal agencies to build atomic plants capable of producing commercial quantities of power.

At 6 p.m. the Senate had been in continuous session for 32 hours, and after the "public power" vote the debate continued with no end in sight. The atomic bill as a whole had yet to be acted upon.

On the losing side were 35 Republicans and 6 Democrats: Burke of Ohio, Ervin of North Carolina, Frear of Delaware, Holland and Smathers of Florida, and Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Hickenlooper Speaks

Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Ia) floor manager for the bill, told the Senate the administration doesn't want the AEC in the commercial power field, nor does the AEC itself want to get in it.

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) sponsored the amendment authorizing AEC to get into the field. It provides for giving preference to co-operatives and publicly owned utilities in the sale of excess power from any atomic plants. This is now required in the case of hydro-electric facilities.

It also offers a similar sale preference to private utilities in case the AEC plant were in such areas as New England where publicly-owned facilities are nonexistent. The latter language was suggested by Sen. Pastore (D-RI).

Sen. Morse called the vote on the amendment a "great victory" for those "fighting for the people's rights."

Although the actual results of the vote, if it is enacted into law, depend on future appropriations for atomic plants, it theoretically evened the bitter Senate fight over public vs. private power. Wednesday night the Senate refused to kill an Eisenhower plan for a new private power plant to serve part of the Tennessee Valley area.

Without his amendment, Johnson argued, the AEC would be at the mercy of private power producing companies. He said it would save the AEC "hundreds of millions" in bargaining for the electricity it must have

Suffer, Sneeze, Sniffle, Snort:

Hay Fever Season Is Here, But 'Dry' Ray Of Hope Exists

By SALLY ADAMS
Star Staff Writer

Itchy eyes, drippy noses, and well-used handkerchiefs.

These familiar signs of the hay fever sufferer are once again among us.

According to national averages, one in 20 persons, or 8 million Americans, will suffer from hay fever or other dust and pollen allergies within the next 60 days.

But a ray of hope is in store for victims in the Lincoln area.

Dr George Misko, Lincoln physician, said he believes the dry weather is going to affect polination bringing a "lighter season" to the area. He said one sign of this was that most persons are not having any trouble yet. They usually are by this time of the year.

Ragweed is one of the most vicious of the pollens attacking hay fever sufferers. Only 20 grains of the microscopic pollen grains are required to produce an irritation in a sensitized person.

Among the cities rated "worst" on the ragweed pollen index are Council Bluffs, Ia., and Kansas City.

Allergy specialists caution that many persons blame ragweed for their suffering when it may actually be caused by house dust or other pollens.

Dr. Misko said that sufferers will have the best chance of permanent or even temporary relief if they consult their doctor and are skin tested and treated.

The antihistamine drugs are still one of the most effective means of relief. However, medical authorities caution users to avoid operating automobiles or other machinery since the drugs often cause sudden drowsiness.

Another source of relief may be a new type of electrostatic air cleaner which has recently been marketed. It removes more than 99 per cent of ragweed pollen from the air. The filter attracts and holds dust particles and pollen grain from the air on the same principle as metal filings are attracted and held to a magnet.

According to one report, the only way of dodging pollen completely during the year would be for a victim to stay in Houston, Tex., until the last week of September and then changing his residence to Minnesota. A nonstop flight between points of at least 10,000 feet would be necessary, however.

Sheppard Story Told In Slaying

Doctor Heard Wife 'Scream And Moan'

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dr. Samuel Sheppard calmly told again under oath Thursday his story of hearing his wife Marilyn's screams and of grappling with a "white form" the night she was bludgeoned to death in their Bay Village home.

The tall, athletic osteopath was testifying in an inquest called by the coroner, Dr. Samuel Gerber, into the slaying of the comely housewife, who was four months pregnant when killed early Sunday, July 4.

The 30-year-old doctor repeated his previous story of falling asleep on a couch downstairs that Saturday night.

"The next thing I knew I heard her saying my name loudly, screaming my name, it wasn't exactly a scream. I can't really say what it was. Possibly she screamed once or twice as I was going up the stairs. . . .

White Form

"I rushed into the room and several things happened simultaneously. I saw a white form. I was grappling. I heard her moan, noises. I felt I was struck down from behind and that was all."

After he came to, said Dr. Sheppard, he looked at his wife and "felt she was gone at that time." he said. Somehow he rushed into the adjoining room and determined that the couple's six-year-old son Chip was all right. Then he heard a noise, and ran downstairs.

There was "a figure in the front door, or on the porch, or possibly beyond, possibly toward the yard," and "I pursued this form as best I could," he continued.

As he ran down to the narrow Lake Erie beach behind the Sheppard home and "saw the form of something that made me think it was a big man," said Dr. Sehppard, "I ran to tackle it from behind. I felt twisted or choked, and that's all I remember at that time."

Neck Brace

He wore a neck brace at the inquest, to support an injury he attributed to the grappling with an intruder.

The inquest in a school building in Bay Village got under way as Cleveland police took over investigation of the killing.

Mrs. Sheppard was killed with more than 20 bone-deep blows to the head. Little in the way of a lead has been uncovered so far in the probe.

Hay Fire Damage Is Heavy

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

CRETE — Gas formed by heated hay exploded into flames on the August C. Wohl farm, three and a quarter miles southeast of Crete, late Thursday night, destroying a haymaking machine and 2,200 bales of hay.

Damage was estimated at $6,500, with the steel structure which housed the baled hay valued at $5,000.

Wohl, who operates the haymaking business in partnership with his sister, said he went to bed at 9 p.m. and was roused around about 11 p.m. by a neighbor who honked his automobile horn and informed him of the blaze.

High Flames

At the height of the fire, flames shot high into the air and could be seen from several miles away.

It was reported by firemen that they were called to the same place about 5 a.m. Thursday to extinguish a fire in the haymaker. Flames at that time reached nearly 10 feet up into the bin before they were brought under control about 7 a.m.

Wohl said he believed that the gas formed by the first fire was responsible for the second blaze.

Two Trips

While Crete firemen were pumping hundreds of gallons of water into the flames, a Crete implement dealer made two trips to town with a tank truck, supplying 1,500 gallons of water.

Two Crete fire trucks battled the stubborn blaze and Chief Foss said that at least one of the trucks would standby the haymaker during the night to contain the fire and prevent further damage.

Wohl said the haymaker and part of the hay destroyed were insured.

17 On Plane Down Near Red Island

HONG KONG (Friday) (AP)—A British Skymaster carrying 17 persons ditched in the South China Sea near Red China's Hainan Island today and rescue efforts were hampered by the proximity to Communist waters.

The Cathay Pacific Airlines plane carried 12 passengers and 5 crew. The operators in Singapore said six Americans and three British subjects were among those on board.

The four-engine plane was en route from Singapore to Hong Kong via Bangkok when a left wing engine caught fire. It ditched about 9 a.m. (7 p.m., CST, Thursday).

A recue plane radioed at 12:30 p.m. that it had sighted a rubber raft carrying four persons.

At 1:30 p.m. a U. S. Navy PBY from the Philippines arrived here and reported it had sighted "rafts" and had circled them but did not put down because they were too near Communist waters for a U.S. military aircraft.

A second U.S. Navy plane continued to circle the rafts while a civilian flying boat from Hong Kong was called to make a rescue attempt.

It was felt that the civilian plane could intrude on Red waters with greater safety.

Baby Twister Wrecks Chadron Building

Central Nebraska Gets Spotted Rain

... Little Hope Held For Rest Of State

Central Nebraska points got rains varying from .40 of an inch to nearly two inches Thursday, but the weatherman said the rest of the state would go dry.

The forecast was a change from an earlier prediction, which foresaw showers in the southeast. But late Thursday night the weather bureau had a change of mind, and announced the next rain in the state would be in "chance showers" in the northwest by Saturday evening. Temperatures Friday are to be in the 75-85 range.

Meanwhile, the Thursday rains helped some areas.

Holdrege reported about 1.76 inches of precipitation had fallen in the form of gentle rain which came down all day. It was a "God send," one resident said.

Other towns reporting rain were Lexington with .49, Kearney with .74, North Platte with .37, Grand Island with .41, Burwell with .43, and Imperial with .11.

Chadron Cleans Up

Meanwhile at Chadron cleanup work continued after the severe weather Wednesday night. A cloudburst, accompanied by hail, a small tornado and severe lightning caused extensive damage.

A service station, city gas plant and a trailer home were demolished, trees uprooted and power lines snapped. Basements and highways had been temporarily flooded.

The Weşde Frontier Service Station roof and three walls were caved in by the baby twister. Damage was estimated unofficially at $10,000. Three cars inside the station were smashed.

The winds, ranging up to 65 miles an hour moved the trailer home, owned by Wayne Ross, more than 100 feet. No one was in the trailer. A 30-foot sign on the Baline Hotel was twisted.

West of Chadron, the brick building of the Chadron Gas Co. was damaged extensively. The second story of the building was ripped away by the twister.

Highway 19, a mile south of town, was a mass of debris after a 12-foot wall of water rolled across the road following an inch of rain in 20 minutes

Lightning hit a chimney on the American Legion building and started at least one fire in the city. The fire department was also called to stop a prairie fire outside of town.

All-Weather Surfaces Jump:

Only 300 Miles Of Dirt Road Remain In Lancaster County

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Only 300 miles of dirt road remain in Lancaster County, Board Chairman Russell Brehm said in noting all-weather surfacing has increased to 1,200 miles today as compared with 924 miles in the county in 1947.

In 1947, the county had 710 miles of earth roads and 924 miles of all-weather roads, or only 56.56 per cent all weather surfaced as compared with today's 81.31 per cent, he said.

While 300 miles in the 1,500-mile county road system are dirt roads, Brehm noted that 200 miles have no one living on them.

Mail Routes

The 32 mails routes originating in or entering Lancaster County to service county residents, compose an 861-mile system, including 81 miles maintained by the state.

Of the 780 miles of county mail route roads, 773 miles are graded and surfaced, which means the job is 99 per cent complete, Brehm added.

In discussion the road situation of Lancaster County, Brehm praised Co. Engineer Louis W. Weaver and employees of the county highway department.

"It will be only a matter of time before all farm to market roads will be surfaced," Brehm stated.

He reported 1118.3 miles are gravel surfaced; 56.6 are crused crushed rock; 3.3. are bituminious-rock, and 18 miles are paved the county's road system.

Anti-Spy Top Boss Vanishes

Bonn Charges Commies Kidnaped Dr. Otto John

BERLIN (AP) — West Germany's anti-spy chief, Dr. Otto John, has disappeared mysteriously in Soviet-run East Berlin. The Bonn Interior Ministry charged Thursday Communists kidnaped him. West Berlin police said a note left behind said he did not want to return West.

If he was kidnaped, the Communists landed a major prize.

John, 44, headed the Federal Office for Protection of the Constitution, which is charged with safeguarding the West German republic against treasonable and subversive activities. The FOPC is comparable in many respects to the Central Intelligence Agency in the United States.

In Washington, officials reported John had visited the United States in June and conferred with Allen W. Dulles, CIA head. The visit was described as unofficial.

As chief of the anti-subversion office, John has an intimate knowledge of antisubversive operations in his own territory and of West German intelligence sources in Russian-occupied East Germany.

John has not been seen since he left his hotel in Allied West Berlin in a taxi Tuesday evening. Police said he called a doctor friend and the two went together to the Soviet sector.

Officer Denies He Made Men Stand In Heat For Hour

FORT DIX, N. J. (INS)—First Lt. Robert S. Morgan of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., pleaded innocent Thursday at the opening of his court martial on charges of forcing a company of trainees to stand at rigid attention for more than an hour in 92-degree heat.

Army prosecutors told the eight-man court they will prove "beyond any doubt that Morgan is guilty of dereliction of duty" and deliberately subjected the trainees to punitive measures.

In an opening statement for the prosecution, 2nd Lt. Charles Rogers of Buffalo, N. Y., said Morgan ordered the trainees—at the end of a full day's work—to stand at attention. When several of the men fainted, he charged, Morgan ordered them doused with water and forced to resume their positions.

Knowland Acts After A-Bill Foes Win Victory

Building Of A-Plants By AEC Is Authorized By Upper Chamber

WASHINGTON (Friday) (AP)—The Senate recessed for 25 minutes early today, breaking a continuous session that had run for 39 hours and 35 minutes in a battle over an administration atomic bill.

After the 25-minute recess, the Senate started a new legislative day and the marathon debate was resumed with Sen. Eastland (D-Miss) launching into a lengthy speech.

WASHINGTON (Friday) (AP)—Majority Leader Knowland (R-Calif) early today filed a petition for cloture to limit debate and force a vote on the atomic legislation as the Senate neared its 39th hour in continuous session.

The drastic move requires votes of 64 senators to be effective.

It came after Knowland had effectively employed another seldom-used tactic — tabling an amendment or killing it without debate.

Before offering the cloture petition, Knowland made a final attempt to limit debate on the bill and all amendments, holding out an offer to "recess until noon" to let weary senators get some sleep.

When this was rejected Knowland then sent forward the cloture petition. Reading of the signatures on it indicated most of the Republicans had backed the effort.

But to be effective, a large number of Democrats also must vote for it to produce the necessary 64 and that appeared uncertain.

Before filing the debate limitation move, Knowland told the Senate he opposed ever trying to use it "except in desperation."

He said there are "some doubts" now that the Senate and Congress could hit the deadline for adjournment a week from Saturday.

Senate parliamentarians said the earliest possible time for vote on the cloture petition would be 1:01 a.m. Sunday.

If the cloture vote is pushed to conclusion, it appeared likely that the Senate would recess first to take a rest.

Democrats opposed all of Knowland's efforts to limit debate either on each amendment or the bill and all amendments, pointing out that a number of opponents of the bill were not in the Senate.

Knowland brought the cloture threat out into the open as the floor fight rolled on into the morning.

Long Objects

He had asked unanimous consent to limit debate on a pending amendment to one hour, but this was blocked by the objection of Sen. Long (D-La).

Minuets later, he filed the petition. It contained 38 names, all Republicans.

The basic legislation before the Senate concerns President Eisenhower's proposals for peacetime uses of atomic energy and modernizing of existing atomic laws.

But much of the Senate's marathon debate has stemmed from a presidential directive to the atomic energy commission to enter into a contract with a private utility group to replace some of the electric power taken from the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Earlier foes of the Eisenhower atomic energy bill scored an upset victory at the marathon session of the Senate. It voted 45-41 to allow the federal government to go into the commercial production of atomic power.

Sen. Reynolds, Nebraska Republican, voted with the minority as the Senate added the "public power" amendment to the atomic bill. Sen. Bowring (R-Neb) was not recorded as voting.

In vain, administration backers declared that the Atomic Energy Commission has no desire to get into the commercial power field. The Senate voted to authorize the AEC and some other federal agencies to build atomic plants capable of producing commercial quantities of power.

At 6 p.m. the Senate had been in continuous session for 32 hours, and after the "public power" vote the debate continued with no end in sight. The atomic bill as a whole had yet to be acted upon.

On the losing side were 35 Republicans and 6 Democrats: Burke of Ohio, Ervin of North Carolina, Frear of Delaware, Holland and Smathers of Florida, and Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Hickenlooper Speaks

Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Ia) floor manager for the bill, told the Senate the administration doesn't want the AEC in the commercial power field, nor does the AEC itself want to get in it.

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) sponsored the amendment authorizing AEC to get into the field. It provides for giving preference to co-operatives and publicly owned utilities in the sale of excess power from any atomic plants. This is now required in the case of hydro-electric facilities.

It also offers a similar sale preference to private utilities in case the AEC plant were in such areas as New England where publicly-owned facilities are nonexistent. The latter language was suggested by Sen. Pastore (D-RI).

Sen. Morse called the vote on the amendment a "great victory" for those "fighting for the people's rights."

Although the actual results of the vote, if it is enacted into law, depend on future appropriations for atomic plants, it theoretically evened the bitter Senate fight over public vs. private power. Wednesday night the Senate refused to kill an Eisenhower plan for a new private power plant to serve part of the Tennessee Valley area.

Without his amendment, Johnson argued, the AEC would be at the mercy of private power producing companies. He said it would save the AEC "hundreds of millions" in bargaining for the electricity it must have.

Suffer, Sneeze, Sniffle, Snort:

Hay Fever Season Is Here, But 'Dry' Ray Of Hope Exists

By SALLY ADAMS
Star Staff Writer

Itchy eyes, drippy noses, and well-used handkerchiefs.

These familiar signs of the hay fever sufferer are once again among us.

According to national averages, one in 20 persons, or 8 million Americans, will suffer from hay fever or other dust and pollen allergies within the next 60 days.

But a ray of hope is in store for victims in the Lincoln area.

Dr. George Misko, Lincoln physician, said he believes the dry weather is going to affect polination bringing a "lighter season" to the area. He said one sign of this was that most persons are not having any trouble yet. They usually are by this time of the year.

Ragweed is one of the most vicious of the pollens attacking hay fever sufferers. Only 20 grains of the microscopic pollen grains are required to produce an irritation in a sensitized person.

Among the cities rated "worst" on the ragweed pollen index are Council Bluffs, Ia., and Kansas City.

Allergy specialists caution that many persons blame ragweed for their suffering when it may actually be caused by house dust or other pollens.

Dr. Misko said that sufferers will have the best chance of permanent or even temporary relief if they consult their doctor and are skin tested and treated.

The antihistamine drugs are still one of the most effective means of relief. However, medical authorities caution users to avoid operating automobiles or other machinery since the drugs often cause sudden drowsiness.

Another source of relief may be a new type of electrostatic air cleaner which has recently been marketed. It removes more than 99 per cent of ragweed pollen from the air. The filter attracts and holds dust particles and pollen grain from the air on the same principle as metal filings are attracted and held to a magnet.

According to one report, the only way of dodging pollen completely during the year would be for a victim to stay in Houston, Tex., until the last week of September and then changing his residence to Minnesota. A nonstop flight between points of at least 10,000 feet would be necessary, however.

Sheppard Story Told In Slaying

Doctor Heard Wife 'Scream And Moan'

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dr. Samuel Sheppard calmly told again under oath Thursday his story of hearing his wife Marilyn's screams and of grappling with a "white form" the night she was bludgeoned to death in their Bay Village home.

The tall, athletic osteopath was testifying in an inquest called by the coroner, Dr. Samuel Gerber, into the slaying of the comely housewife, who was four months pregnant when killed early Sunday, July 4.

The 30-year-old doctor repeated his previous story of falling asleep on a couch downstairs that Saturday night.

"The next thing I knew I heard her saying my name loudly, screaming my name, it wasn't exactly a scream. I can't really say what it was. Possibly she screamed once or twice as I was going up the stairs. . . .

White Form

"I rushed into the room and several things happened simultaneously. I saw a white form. I was grappling. I heard her moan, noises. I felt I was struck down from behind and that was all."

After he came to, said Dr. Sheppard, he looked at his wife and "felt she was gone at that time," he said. Somehow he rushed into the adjoining room and determined that the couple's six-year-old son Chip was all right. Then he heard a noise, and ran downstairs.

There was "a figure in the front door, or on the porch, or possibly beyond, possibly toward the yard," and "I pursued this form as best I could," he continued.

As he ran down to the narrow Lake Erie beach behind the Sheppard home and "saw the form of something that made me think it was a big man," said Dr. Sehppard, "I ran to tackle it from behind. I felt twisted or choked, and that's all I remember at that time."

Neck Brace

He wore a neck brace at the inquest, to support an injury he attributed to the grappling with an intruder.

The inquest in a school building in Bay Village got under way as Cleveland police took over investigation of the killing.

Mrs. Sheppard was killed with more than 20 bone-deep blows to the head. Little in the way of a lead has been uncovered so far in the probe.

Parley Will Be Called

U.S. And Britain Will Sponsor International Meet Before Sept. 1

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Britain have agreed to join in calling an international conference of about 10 nations by Sept. 1 to create an anti-Communist Southeast Asian Alliance. Consultations with friendly nations which may participate are already being held.

The aim of the conference will be to conclude a defensive treaty that would post "no trespassing" warnings for the Communists along the borders of South Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia in Indochina, and of Thailand and Burma.

The British agreement to hold a meeting by Sept. 1 apparently represents a concession on timing by Foreign Secretary Eden. Earlier information had been that Eden believed many months would be required to work out the proposed pact.

Deemed Necessary

Secretary of State Dulles had sought creation of anti-Communist strength in Southeast Asia as necessary in view of Communist gains through the Indochina peace settlement reached at Geneva Wednesday.

While there was no immediate official announcement of the American-British agreement or of the diplomatic arrangements already under way. State Department Press Officer Lincoln White fully supported information privately available on the subject when he met reporters at a news conference.

He said that consultations were under way but that details regarding the conference have to be worked out. When pressed to state whether he was confirming that a conference would be held, he said: "I think the implication of what I have said is that a conference is in the offing."

Exact Date Indefinite

The exact date and place of the conference remain to be determined in talks with the other governments which may attend. Consultations with the French regime of Premier Mendes-France, heretofore preoccupied with the Indochina peace negotiations, are expected to begin at once. Some other friendly governments like Thailand, the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand are already definitely counted in as a result of consultations already held.

The British government is sounding out India's Prime Minister Nehru and leaders of Indonesia, Ceylon, Burma and Pakistan on participation. Washington has no real hope that Nehru, a neutralist in the cold war, will be willing to join in, and doubts the wisdom of including Pakistan, which is regarded as more importantly linked to Mid-Eastern security through a pact with Turkey. Burma and Ceylon might cooperate, but no optimism is felt about Indonesia's government, which is as neutralist as that of India.

No Applause For Reds

PARIS (INS)—Toward the end of his report to the Assembly on the Geneva conference Thursday Premier Pierre Mendes-France mentioned the name of British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden. The entire Assembly, including the Communist deputies, applauded. Then, Mendes-France made a reference to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov. Nobody, not even the Communists, applauded.

Wheat Vote Expected To Draw 30,000

1955 Marketing Quota Decision Is Due Friday

By JOHN SWANSON
Star Farm Editor

Unless some unexpected heavy rains develop during the day, and thus swell the number, about 30,000 Nebraska wheat producers are expected to go to the polls Friday and decide on a marketing quota for the 1955 crop.

State officials of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said a close estimate of the number expected to cast their ballots from the 62,000 who are eligible to vote would be very difficult. Charley Clark of the state office said, however, that the total would probably be less than that for last year because subsequent reductions in acreage allotments have made more farmers ineligible to vote.

Only those farmers who have more than 15 acres of land in wheat may vote in the referendum, the second in as many years.

Big Question

But the big question—on how the farmers will vote—will not be known until Friday night. The general opinion of farmers was that the proposition would be approved, although some felt the majority would be less resounding than the 87 per cent approval given quotas last year.

A number of Lancaster County farmers contacted Thursday by The Star held that opinion, almost to a man. None of the farmers said they would vote against the proposition, a number were undecided and several said they would vote "yes."

A typical comment came from a farmer who lives in the Emerald area. "I think I will vote for it," he said, "but I think they should see to it that the land that is diverted from wheat planting is used in a way that will build up the soil.

"Just cutting down on wheat helps the surplus problem, but it doesn't help build up the soil if the ground is still planted to some crop that depletes the soil."

Another was still undecided, although he thought the issue would be carried easily enough. "I would vote for the program if I had been given a larger allotment. But I've been given such a small amount that I don't know how I should vote."

Opposes Supports

A third farmer would not say how he planned to vote, but said he believed the issue would carry. He added that he was opposed to the support program, but said, "I suppose the farmers need some help, with all the help the government is giving other business."

An unqualified approval of the support program came from another farmer who said passage of the quota referendum was even more important to farmers this year in view of the decline in many farm prices and the continued-high cost of things the farmer must buy. He added, "I'm voting yes, for sure."

Richard Ford, extension farm management specialist at the University of Nebraska, said there is far less certainty in the vote this year than last. Last year farmers knew for sure that if the referendum carried, wheat prices would be supported at 90 per cent of parity. But the price level has not been set by Congress so far this year.

According to law, the referendum must have a two-thirds vote in order to carry. Some 500 polling places have been named in the state for the farmer vote. The polls will close at 8 p.m., with the results of the statewide voting to be gathered immediately at the state ASC office in Lincoln.

If the proposition carries, marketing penalties will apply to all wheat produced on more than just the alloted acres. But the price support will be available to all farmers who do comply with allotments. If the vote is "no," there will be no marketing quotas and no marketing penalties on "excess" wheat. But the price support will be at 50 per cent of parity.

The government took the unusual step of publishing a four-column official statement giving its views on the first page of Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper. The statement gave no indication when or where the government thought future parleys should be held.

'Aggressive Forces'

The article, headlined "A Statement by the Soviet Government on the Geneva Conference," said the decisions to hold free elections in the Indochina state of Viet Nam in 1956 "created conditions for the national unity of Viet Nam in accordance with the national yearnings and the interests of all Vietnamese."

The statement said the Geneva agreement represented a defeat of the "aggressive forces." It accused them of wanting to divide Viet Nam so as to turn Southern Viet Nam into one of the jumping off grounds for a new aggressive bloc designed in Southeast Asia.

The statement said the Geneva agreements were reached despite the "position of the United States which wished to hinder the successful work of this conference." The attack on the United States followed by one day a blistering editorial in Pravda making the same charge and saying the United States suffered defeat at Geneva.

The statement said Geneva showed the way to solve presently unresolved international problems.

Moscow Citizen Expects War III

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee was told Thursday that "the informed man-in-the-street" in Russia expects the Soviet to be "in a general war" within five years.

Col. Ulius (Pete) Amoss, head of a private world-wide intelligence network, testified that he got this information "from sources in Moscow."

Testifying before a special task force on "strategy and tactics of world Communism," he added: "Some informants believe the general war may come much earlier."

Meanwhile, he contended, the Soviet began World War III even before World War II was over, and "all that remains to be done (by the U.S.) is to win it."

He endorsed a proposal by subcommittee chairman William E. Jenner (R-Ind.), for the U.S. to sever diplomatic relations with Moscow.

Judge Stauffer Ill

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP) — District Judge Carroll O. Stauffer of Omaha was hospitalized here Thursday with pneumonia. His condition is described as good and his physician said Judge Stauffer will remain in the hospital "a few days." Judge Stauffer has been handling district court cases here during the past week in the absence of Judge C. G. Perry who is vacationing.

National Guard Takes Over Law In Phenix City

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (INS) — National Guardsmen took over all law enforcement in Phenix City Thursday on orders of Alabama Gov. Gordon Persons to suppress what he called a "state of lawlessness, intimidation, tumult and fear."

Persons' action came after several days of published reports of tapped telephone conversations between Phenix City gambling kingpins and law enforcement officials.

It was an aftermath of the gang-type slaying more than a month ago of Albert Patterson, Alabama attorney general nominee, who had promised a cleanup of Phenix City gambling and vice conditions. His murder has not been solved.

Patterson was shot to death in an alley near his Phenix City law office, only days after he had been certified as the state's new attorney-general designate.

Persons' order, executed with military precision, supplanted all Phenix City police and members of the sheriff's office in the community which has been termed "Alabama's capital of gambling and vice."

Boy, 12, Tells Of Slaying 8-Year-Old

ALBANY, N. Y. (INS) —A 12-year old boy who confessed the bludgeon slaying of an eight-year old girl was held Thursday in the Albany Children's Shelter while authorities puzzled over what charge to place against him.

Legal technicalities arising from the boy's age and the question of premeditation confronted law enforcement officials with a major puzzle.

The problem was to be worked out at a three-way conference among James F. Dolan, assistant district attorney of Albany County, State Police Sgt. James Buckley and Police of suburban Colonie where the girl was slain.

The youth—whose name cannot be disclosed under law—was arrested by state police a few hours after pretty Bonnette Dallaire was found dying in the cellar of a partially completed house.

He said he was collecting straw for an archery target when he saw the girl enter the basement. He followed Bonnette into the cellar, grabbed her and began choking her. He then hit her with a rock weighing about 15 pounds and finally beat her on the head with a foot-long piece of pipe.

The boy said: "I was seized by an idea that came into my head and blacked out."

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP)— John Copeland was pleased when a swarm of bees set up housekeeping in a case of bottles in his soft drink truck. He drove the truck to his house and inticed the bees into a hive. He is a part time beekeeper.

—Anti-Red Alliance—

Parley Will Be Called

U.S. And Britain Will Sponsor International Meet Before Sept. 1

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Britain have agreed to join in calling an international conference of about 10 nations by Sept. 1 to create an anti-Communist Southeast Asian Alliance. Consultations with friendly nations which may participate are already being held.

The aim of the conference will be to conclude a defensive treaty that would post "no trespassing" warnings for the Communists along the borders of South Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia in Indochina, and of Thailand and Burma.

The British agreement to hold a meeting by Sept. 1 apparently represents a concession on timing by Foreign Secretary Eden. Earlier information had been that Eden believed many months would be required to work out the proposed pact.

Deemed Necessary

Secretary of State Dulles had sought creation of anti-Communist strength in Southeast Asia as necessary in view of Communist gains through the Indochina peace settlement reached at Geneva Wednesday.

While there was no immediate official announcement of the American-British agreement or of the diplomatic arrangements already under way, State Department Press Officer Lincoln White fully supported information privately available on the subject when he met reporters at a news conference.

He said that consultations were under way but that details regarding the conference have to be worked out. When pressed to state whether he was confirming that a conference would be held, he said: "I think the implication of what I have said is that a conference is in the offing."

Exact Date Indefinite

The exact date and place of the conference remain to be determined in talks with the other governments which may attend. Consultations with the French regime of Premier Mendes-France, heretofore preoccupied with the Indochina peace negotiations, are expected to begin at once. Some other friendly governments like Thailand, the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand are already definitely counted in as a result of consultations already held.

The British government is sounding out India's Prime Minister Nehru and leaders of Indonesia, Ceylon, Burma and Pakistan on participation. Washington has no real hope that Nehru, a neutralist in the cold war, will be willing to join in, and doubts the wisdom of including Pakistan, which is regarded as more importantly linked to Mid-Eastern security through a pact with Turkey. Burma and Ceylon might cooperate, but no optimism is felt about Indonesia's government, which is as neutralist as that of India.

No Applause For Reds

PARIS (INS)—Toward the end of his report to the Assembly on the Geneva conference Thursday Premier Pierre Mendes-France mentioned the name of British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden. The entire Assembly, including the Communist deputies, applauded. Then, Mendes-France made a reference to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov. Nobody, not even the Communists, applauded.

Wheat Vote Expected To Draw 30,000

1955 Marketing Quota Decision Is Due Friday

By JOHN SWANSON
Star Farm Editor

Unless some unexpected heavy rains develop during the day, and thus swell the number, about 30,000 Nebraska wheat producers are expected to go to the polls Friday and decide on a marketing quota for the 1955 crop.

State officials of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said a close estimate of the number expected to cast their ballots from the 62,000 who are eligible to vote would be very difficult. Charley Clark of the state office said, however, that the total would probably be less than that for last year because subsequent reductions in acreage allotments have made more farmers ineligible to vote.

Only those farmers who have more than 15 acres of land in wheat may vote in the referendum, the second in as many years.

Big Question

But the big question—on how the farmers will vote—will not be known until Friday night. The general opinion of farmers was that the proposition would be approved, although some felt the majority would be less resounding than the 87 per cent approval given quotas last year.

A number of Lancaster County farmers contacted Thursday by The Star held that opinion, almost to a man. None of the farmers said they would vote against the proposition, a number were undecided and several said they would vote "yes."

A typical comment came from a farmer who lives in the Emerald area. "I think I will vote for it," he said, "but I think they should see to it that the land that is diverted from wheat planting is used in a way that will build up the soil.

"Just cutting down on wheat helps the surplus problem, but it doesn't help build up the soil if the ground is still planted to some crop that depletes the soil."

Another was still undecided, although he thought the issue would be carried easily enough. "I would vote for the program if I had been given a larger allotment. But I've been given such a small amount that I don't know how I should vote."

Opposes Supports

A third farmer would not say how he planned to vote, but said he believed the issue would carry. He added that he was opposed to the support program, but said, "I suppose the farmers need some help, with all the help the government is giving other business."

An unqualified approval of the support program came from another farmer who said passage of the quota referendum was even more important to farmers this year in view of the decline in many farm prices and the continued high cost of things the farmer must buy. He added, "I'm voting yes, for sure."

Richard Ford, extension farm management specialist at the University of Nebraska, said there is far less certainty in the vote this year than last. Last year farmers knew for sure that if the referendum carried, wheat prices would be supported at 90 per cent of parity. But the price level has not been set by Congress so far this year.

According to law, the referendum must have a two-thirds vote in order to carry. Some 500 polling places have been named in the state for the farmer vote. The polls will close at 8 p.m., with the results of the statewide voting to be gathered immediately at the state ASC office in Lincoln.

If the proposition carries, marketing penalties will apply to all wheat produced on more than just the alloted acres. But the price support will be available to all farmers who do comply with allotments. If the vote is "no," there will be no marketing quotas and no marketing penalties on "excess" wheat. But the price support will be at 50 per cent of parity.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) charged and Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Vt) warmly denied it—that Senate Democrats are forcing a delay which threatens to mean no farm bill this session.

'The Best' Peace

LONDON (INS)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told Commons amid heavy applause from both Conservatives and Laborites, that the Geneva settlement—"the best" possible in the circumstances—had lessened the danger of a third world war.

The only alternative to the Indochina agreements, Eden said, was "continued fighting and further misery."

Kremlin Asks New Talks For Korea

MOSCOW (Friday) (AP) — The Soviet government called officially today for a new international conference on reunification of Korea.

It said the successful results of the Geneva Indochina parley also opened the way for "a successful settlement" by negotiation of the reunification of Germany, disarmament and the ending of the atomic race.

The government took the unusual step of publishing a four-column official statement giving its views on the first page of Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper. The statement gave no indication when or where the government thought future parleys should be held.

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — A Czech grocery man has escaped from communist Czechoslovakia by swimming three miles under water in a submarine suit fashioned from a picture of a U.S. Navy frogman, American officials said today.

Olrich Lopada, 41, made his getaway June 28 across the rain-swollen waters of the Dyje River at the Czech frontier town of Znojmo, 50 miles northwest of Vienna.

Now at a U.S. escapee camp at Wels, Lopada said his makeshift frogman suit was made out of sheet rubber glued together with rubber cement, and a diver's helmet built from an old German gas mask. The mask had two rubber hoses attached to corks that floated on the water.

Lopada told U.S. officials he hid all day along the river bank on the Czech side until night fell and border patrols could not see him slipping into the water. He carried wire cutters to get through the barbed-wire frontier in midstream.

Lopada got the idea for the suit from a picture in a magazine of U.S. frogmen in the Normandy invasion. He told U.S. officials the Communist Czech regime had forced him out of his grocery business and hounded him as a known anti-Red from job to job.

STAN DELAPLANE'S
POSTCARD

A week ago I was driving across Utah. And persuing the local periodicals, as is my custom when confused and in search of guidance I find "Irritated Wife" writing to the editor.

"This may sound silly to you," she wrote, "but to me it is getting very embarrassing and annoying.

"I love my husband very dearly, but I do wish you could give me some advice on how to make him realize what a fool he is making of himself.

"He is thoroughly convinced he has good-looking legs and is forever creating a situation whereby he will have some excuse to show them off.

"Every costume party we have been to for years has been to him a wonderful opportunity to go to great lengths and expense in the selection of a costume. Always it is Robin Hood, a ballet dancer, or, if nothing else, George Washington in tight knee breeches.

"I am sick and tired of it . . ."

☆ ☆ ☆

This is a pretty problem. As an old-time mender of busted hearts I hardly know where to begin. My first thought is this lady is slightly daffy.

Here she sits among the sage and sand and complains because a Class A Broadway act is performing 24 hours a day.

What in the world is going on here when a man cannot show his legs? "Irritated Wife," you are engaging me on an irritated point.

As for the man with the gorgeous gams, I have never run into such a case myself. Though I once had a journalistic interest in Mr. "Legs" Diamond who eliminated competition with a tommygun.

I also had several sessions with the late Mr. Earl Carroll while he examined ladies' legs.

It was Mr. Carroll's custom to tour the country announcing that he was looking for the most beautiful under-pinnings in America.

You talk about the "Mr." of "Mrs. Irritated Wife" being impressed with his legs. You should see the mobs of girls who used to turn out for Mr. Carroll.

It was sickening. Or I guess it should have been. I went time after time and was never ill at all. But I am hardy.

Mr. Carroll used to look very bored. To him it was like looking at so many piano legs. Maybe less interesting because he was very fond of piano music.

Mr. Carroll would go through the motions. Usually with a limp tape measure. He would measure around the ankle. Then he would measure the calf. Then he would measure where a can-can dancer wears her garters.

After that you could not see. Blinded by photographers' flash globes.

I don't know what is irritating "Irritated Wife." But I suspect it is the competition.

Bill Would Enable Minatare Boy To Remain In States

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 5-year-old son of a Japanese mother and an American soldier would be granted permanent residence in country under a bill passed by the House and sent to the White House.

Michio Yamamoto, the boy, lives with his mother and stepfather in Minatare, Neb. He arrived in this country in 1951 with his mother who had married Kuni Yamamoto, a U.S. citizen serving in Japan with U.S. armed forces.

It subsequently developed that the boy's U.S. citizenship had been established by means of a falsified birth certificate and affidavit by Yamamoto that the boy was his own child.

DUTCHMAN INDICTED FOR LYING

WASHINGTON (AP)—Henry W. (The Dutchman) Grunewald, noted Washington wirepuller, was indicted Thursday on 10 charges of perjury.

The Dutchman

The indictment charges that he lied four times to the grand jury and six times before a House Ways and Means subcommittee about his alleged connection with tax-filing activities.

Some of the counts involved the same cases.

Tax Case Involved

Count No. 1 charged that Grunewald falsely testified to the House subcommittee in April 1953 that he had never discussed tax cases with Daniel A. Bolich, once the nation's No. 2 tax collector. Bolich himself is now under indictment on charges of evading his own income taxes.

The subcommittee record showed that Grunewald was asked whether "During this time that Mr. Bolich was staying in your suite at the Washington Hotel, did he ever discuss tax cases with you."

Grunewald's reply was recorded: "At no time did Mr. Bolich discuss any tax cases with me in any way, shape or form, to my recollection, at any time."

Friendly Terms

Bolich was one of several officials of the Internal Revenue Bureau during the Truman administration with whom Grunewald was on friendly terms.

Previous court and congressional proceedings have shown "The Dutchman" also had contacts with Republicans in Washington, and one awed witness once described him as a "man who could walk into senators' offices with his hat on."

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — A Czech grocery man has escaped from communist Czechoslovakia by swimming three miles under water in a submarine suit fashioned from a picture of a U.S. Navy frogman, American officials said today.

Olrich Lopada, 41, made his getaway June 28 across the rain-swollen waters of the Dyje River at the Czech frontier town of Znojmo, 50 miles northwest of Vienna.

Now at a U.S. escapee camp at Wels, Lopada said his makeshift frogman suit was made out of sheet rubber glued together with rubber cement, and a diver's helmet built from an old German gas mask. The mask had two rubber hoses attached to corks that floated on the water.

Lopada told U.S. officials he hid all day along the river bank on the Czech side until night fell and border patrols could not see him slipping into the water. He carried wire cutters to get through the barbed-wire frontier in midstream.

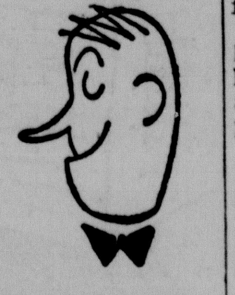
Lopada got the idea for the suit from a picture in a magazine of U.S. frogmen in the Normandy invasion. He told U.S. officials the Communist Czech regime had forced him out of his grocery business and hounded him as a known anti-Red from job to job.

Wagener Campaign Chairmen Announced

Frederick H. Wagener, Republican for governor, has announced his campaign chairmen for seven more counties:

Gerald Menefee of Lexington, Dawson County; G. Owen Cole of Emmett, Holt County; Russell R. Langford of North Platte, Lincoln County; Keith Hopewell of Tekamah, Burt County; L. E. Laflin of Crab Orchard, Johnson County; Jack Godberson of Gibbon, Buffalo County, and Clyde F. Cochran of Norfolk, Madison County.

STAN DELAPLANE'S POSTCARD



A week ago I was driving across Utah. And persuing the local periodicals as is my custom when confused and in search of guidance I find "Irritated Wife" writing to the editor.

"This may sound silly to you," she wrote, "but to me it is getting very embarrassing and annoying.

"I love my husband very dearly, but I do wish you could give me some advice on how to make him realize what a fool he is making of himself.

"He is thoroughly convinced he has good-looking legs and is forever creating a situation whereby he will have some excuse to show them off.

"Every costume party we have been to for years has been to him a wonderful opportunity to go to great lengths and expense in the selection of a costume. Always it is Robin Hood, a ballet dancer, or, if nothing else, George Washington in tight knee breeches.

"I am sick and tired of it . . ."

☆ ☆ ☆

This is a pretty problem. As an old-time mender of busted hearts I hardly know where to begin. My first thought is this lady is slightly daffy.

Here she sits among the sage and sand and complains because a Class A Broadway act is performing 24 hours a day.

What in the world is going on here when a man cannot show his legs? "Irritated Wife," you are engaging me on an irritated point.

☆ ☆ ☆

As for the man with the gorgeous gams, I have never run into such a case myself. Though I once had a journalistic interest in Mr. "Legs" Diamond who eliminated competition with a tommygun.

I also had several sessions with the late Mr. Earl Carroll while he examined ladies' legs.

It was Mr. Carroll's custom to tour the country announcing that he was looking for the most beautiful under-pinnings in America.

You talk about the "Mr." of "Mrs. Irritated Wife" being impressed with his legs. You should see the mobs of girls who used to turn out for Mr. Carroll.

It was sickening. Or I guess it should have been. I went time after time and was never ill at all. But I am hardy.

Mr. Carroll used to look very bored. To him it was like looking at so many piano legs. Maybe less interesting because he was very fond of piano music.

Mr. Carroll would go through the motions. Usually with a limp tape measure. He would measure around the ankle. Then he would measure the calf. Then he would measure where a can-can dancer wears her garters.

After that you could not see. Blinded by photographers' flash globes.

I don't know what is irritating "Irritated Wife." But I suspect it is the competition.

Bill Would Enable Minatare Boy To Remain In States

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 5-year-old son of a Japanese mother and an American soldier would be granted permanent residence in country under a bill passed by the House and sent to the White House

Michio Yamamoto, the boy, lives with his mother and stepfather in Minatare, Neb. He arrived in this country in 1951 with his mother who had married Kuni Yamamoto, a U.S. citizen serving in Japan with U.S. armed forces.

It subsequently developed that the boy's U.S. citizenship had been established by means of a falsified birth certificate and affidavit by Yamamoto that the boy was his own child.

DUTCHMAN INDICTED FOR LYING

WASHINGTON (AP)—Henry W. (The Dutchman) Grunewald, noted Washington wirepuller, was indicted Thursday on 10 charges of perjury.

The indictment charges that he lied four times to the grand jury and six times before a House Ways and Means subcommittee about his alleged connection with tax-filing activities.

The Dutchman

Some of the counts involved the same cases.

Tax Case Involved

Count No. 1 charged that Grunewald falsely testified to the House subcommittee in April 1953 that he had never discussed tax cases with Daniel A. Bolich, once the nation's No. 2 tax collector. Bolich himself is now under indictment on charges of evading his own income taxes.

The subcommittee record showed that Grunewald was asked whether "During this time that Mr. Bolich was staying in your suite at the Washington Hotel, did he ever discuss tax cases with you."

Grunewald's reply was recorded: "At no time did Mr. Bolich discuss any tax cases with me in any way, shape or form, to my recollection, at any time."

Friendly Terms

Bolich was one of several officials of the Internal Revenue Bureau during the Truman administration with whom Grunewald was on friendly terms.

Previous court and congressional proceedings have shown "The Dutchman" also had contacts with Republicans in Washington, and one awed witness once described him as a "man who could walk into senators' offices with his hat on."

Nebraska Products

Clarence A. Davis, Lincoln attorney who joined other Nebraskans when the call came from Washington for men good and true, has given the Eisenhower administration a big dollars worth.

Called into public service to be solicitor for the Department of Interior, Davis, this week, was promoted to undersecretary of the department. It was one of those satisfying actions that found both the administration and the Senate completely of the same mind. Davis was confirmed by a unanimous voice vote of the Senate. There was no one who was not ready to say that the government had picked up a great bargain. This Nebraskan quickly earned a reputation for soundness, energy and achievement.

Nebraska has sent an unusually large number of men to Washington the past two years. All of them have been called to difficult and important tasks. None of them have floundered. None of them have brought upon the administration any stigma of doubtful motives. All of them have earned reputations of service mindedness and competence.

Nebraska does not specialize in the art of federal government. But it is unique that Nebraskans perform exceptionally well It is a tribute to the character of Middle Western people—a people reared in the tradition the basic virtues, industry, integrity and fundamental thinking.

Those are hard qualities to beat. When they are compared with the glossy exteriors of manner and form they show then greater validity when one measures the output both qualitatively and quantitatively.

Nebraska can take confidence in its citizenship. No matter what party prevails in Washington men of solidity and honest works can be found here, and they are always needed men.

Pay Of City Employees

About this time every year city employees begin looking at their pay checks with a gleam in their eye. They see a new fiscal year just around the corner and hope it means a new and higher set of figures on those checks.

There is certainly nothing wrong with this Quite naturally the city employees would like to have more money if they could get it—who of us wouldn't?

After the City Council studies the issue it may decide that a raise is in line again this year. But before any such decision is reached a lot of study should be given to the present wage scale.

There are definitely some known inequalities in the present classification system and many others are reported. It would seem that this might be the year for adjustments in individual classifications rather than any blanket increase.

Then there are other related things to consider such as benefits. Employees have already suggested a 40 hour week but the Council has sat on this request without an answer for months.

At least for those employees in the City Hall it is hard to see anything wrong with a 40 hour week. Every department is dissatisfied with the present system of staggered working hours to keep the City Hall open Saturday mornings and still maintain the present 41½ hour week.

The system as it now stands means odd hours and days of work for some employees every day in the week. This has proven to be inefficient.

The only question confronting the Council seems to be the advisability of cutting out service at the City Hall to the public on Saturday. If salaries are to be compared to private business then why not compare other benefits?

Many businesses are now closed on Saturdays and the number is constantly increasing. If the Saturday closing of the City Hall would mean smaller and fewer salary increases it looks like a worth while proposition.

At least, the Council should settle such matters before it adopts the coming year's budget. Lets not have across the board salary increases now and then a cut to 40 hours during the year.

Ditto for John Swanson's stories of mounting interest in irrigation in eastern Nebraska sections . . . It is a healthy sign to find Nebraskans giving thought to pump irrigation and to additional storage of waste and flood waters in the off-seasons . . . Nebraska faces one big issue in next November's election which thus far has been completely ignored . . . That is ratification by the next Unicameral Legislature of the proposed federal-Missouri Basin states compact for the use of the waters of the Missouri watershed . . . We have been following developments closely in connection with a similar arrangement for the waters of the Upper Colorado . . . It is more than 750 miles from this section of California which depends so heavily upon Colorado water to the upper basin where a breath-taking program of big dams and storage has been drafted and has received congressional authorization, but thus far no actual appropriation of funds . . . California is up in arms . . . The Times has been giving a great deal of space to the opposition to any Upper Colorado compact . . . California's attorney general has instigated legal action . . . It would be a good idea for Nebraskans to find out where candidates for the office of governor, attorney general and for the Legislature stood on this proposed compact for the Missouri Basin.

Chief danger lies in the fact that because compact negotiations are conducted on a state level, local pocketbook interest is more adequately protected . . . That is open to serious question . . . The war over Colorado's waters along the lower watershed has been in progress for five years between California, Arizona and New Mexico, grows in intensity . . . Now it has spread to Nevada, Utah and Colorado in connection with the upper Colorado . . . In a nutshell, a region nearly a thousand miles distant from the headwaters of the Colorado recognizes that if industrial and population growth here slows up, lack of water will be responsible . . . There is a staggering gamble in attempting to compute needs 50 years ahead in these compact agreements . . . And once entered into, there is no way out except through mutual agreement.

Not Too Much

According to Steelways the trade magazine of that industry, A [illegible] progress has produced enough prime moving machinery to give every American the strength of 782 men. That's just about the amount of strength the average American needs today to pay the bill for the kind of life the machines brought

Hospital Improvement

Nebraska has learned that it will again receive a substantial federal grant for the improvement of its hospital facilities.

Under the Hill Burton act providing dollar matching funds the state has been allocated $610,536 for future improvement.

How much of it will be used depends upon how much Nebraska communities raise. In the past Nebraska has made maximum use of its federal aid. In all now since 1947, when the grants began, allocations to Nebraska, not counting this new one, have amounted to $5,273,670.

Significantly Nebraska had only 3,960 approved hospital beds at the outset of the Hill Burton program. Today it has 5,313. And the distribution of these beds have taken hospital service to localities that prior to the program had far too few, if any.

It is money well spent when improvement of hospital facilities result. There are few services that do so much for so many. No one is exempt from hospitalization and when life or health is at stake it is of mighty important concern to the individual.

Curse Of Politics

We are sorry to report that Vice President Nixon isn't much of a military man. He was a naval officer during the war and has been on reserve ever since But recently the Navy informed him that it couldn't raise his reserve rank to commander because he had failed to meet the requirements. That's what a fellow gets for fiddling around in politics. It distracts one and prevents advancement in other fields.

Shivers In Crucial Test In Texas Polls

WASHINGTON —A year and six months ago the most dashing, debonair governor to come to Washington for the inauguration of Dwight D. Eisenhower was Allan Shivers of Texas. Shivers, a Democrat, had helped induce the vast domain of Texas to go Republican for only the second time in history, so he was entitled to a seat of honor as his candidate took the oath of office.

Tomorrow, in contrast, Shivers faces the fight of his life to get renominated — which in Texas means re-elected — for the fourth term.

Several things have cropped up to plague the handsome, svelte young governor at whose palatial home, "Sharyland," Eisenhower was a special guest on his trip to Mexico last year. One was the natural aversion of Texans to elect a governor to run for four terms. Another was segregation. This backfired against Shivers in a peculiar way.

In the first place, his friend Ike backed up the Supreme Court after it abolished segregation in the schools. To offset this, Allan began making strong statements for segregation and against the supreme court decision.

But then it leaked out that the governor's eldest son had been attending one of the few nonsegregated schools in Texas. His children being brought up in the Catholic faith, his son John Shary, has been attending St. Edward's parochial school in Austin which has been nonsegregated for over a year.

QUICKIE LAND DEAL

Another thing that hurt the governor was revelation that he had made a profit of $125,000 on a quickie land deal. Although reported by this newsman in October 1952, the big-city Texas newspapers conveniently ignored the court record of Hidalgo county until this spring when Shivers' opponent, Ralph Yarborough, forced attention on the amazing court record, which had lain, privileged and quotable, but gathering dust for nearly two years.

The record showed that Lloyd M. Bentsen, father of the Texas congressman by that name, had given Shivers, then lieutenant governor, an option on 13,000 acres of highly speculative land in the Rio Grande valley for $25,000. Then, six months later, Bentsen had arranged for the repurchase of the option for $450,000.

Conveniently, Bentsen waited several months before arranging to buy back the option, thus permitting the lieutenant governor to pay only a capital-gains tax on his juicy $425,000 profit What the lieutenant governor of Texas did in return for this $425,000 handed him on a silver platter was not revealed in the court depositions and has never been explained. But the Bentsens were then anxious to obtain precious water and irrigation rights in order to sell a big development scheme.

What the deal amounted to was a $425,000 windfall to a very important Texas official, and the voters of Texas, not easily fooled, don't seem to like it.

INSURANCE SCANDALS

Another sour development in the Texas political picture was the disclosure that Shivers' former campaign manager, John Van Cronkhite, had received $1,000 a month from a discredited insurance company which should have been put out of business by the Texas insurance commission, but which was temporarily kept in business thanks to Van Cronkhite's influence.

Significantly, Van Cronkhite was hired on the recommendation of Governor Shivers' executive secretary, Maurice Acers.

All these facts have now become known to Texans, thanks to a public lawsuit and official investigation. But what is not generally known is that R. W Worth, an insurance official who knew about certain insurance companies from the inside, presented the facts to both Price Daniel, then attorney general, as early as July 20, 1952, and later to Governor Shivers himself on April 1, 1953.

Worth never got an answer, possibly because Shivers' former campaign manager was up to his neck in the insurance mess. Van Cronkhite, who had managed Shivers' 1950 campaign, was appointed by the governor as $8,400-a-year executive secretary of the Good Neighbor Commission, but found it more profitable to resign in 1951 and set up his own public-relations firm.

It was this firm which handled public relations for "Democrats for Eisenhower" in 1952, again thanks to Shivers' influence.

And this was the firm to which Lloyd's of North America paid $1,000 a month, after an introduction by Shivers' executive secretary, when the insurance company wanted to prevent a crackdown by the Texas insurance commission.

What some of the Texas voters now remember is the governor's speeches during the 1952 election campaign, especially his statement on Oct. 29, 1952:

"Instead of the American eagle as our emblem, we have the fur-bearing mink, the deep freeze and the red herring."

What Next Follows Indochina Cease Fire

GENEVA—The armistice ending the eight-year-old war in Indo-China is both a triumph and a tragedy. It is a triumph for Pierre Mendes-France who promised, on becoming premier of France, to bring peace within 30 days or resign.

For the West it is a tragedy since it means that, after at least a quarter of a million casualties suffered by the French expeditionary corps and the expenditure of vast sums of money, including not less than a billion and a half contributed by the United States. Vietnam is divided roughly at the 17th parallel.

Whether this line can be protected is already the subject of anxious discussion Under the armistice terms, "foreign bases" may not be established in the three "free states" south of the 17th parallel, nor can outside troops be brought in. But the French say that these terms permit them to keep their troops in southern Viet Nam at least until July 19, 1956, by which date elections will supposedly have been held and the independence of the country established. They also say that, while the United States will not be able to send in military material or establish bases, American economic aid to the three free states will not be precluded.

* * *

There was every reason why the Communists should not have granted an armistice. The Viet minh had ample resources to sweep on to victory, which would have been for France a disaster of incalculable consequences.

There will be endless speculation as to why Chou En-Lai and Molotov did finally approve a peace settlement. Unquestionably, fear of enlarging the war, with the threat of American intervention to save the French, entered in But the motive may have a broader base. It may be, as many are already beginning to say, that this armistice represents a major effort to call off the cold war, at least temporarily, and persuade the West that peaceful coexistence is really possible In other words, this may mark the most significant shift in Communist policy since the end of World War II

It is just here that the division between the United States and the Western allies is sharpest. For America this is a defeat and it has been a painful experience for Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, under secretary of state to have to go through the motions of giving at least a kind of approval to that defeat. For most of Western Europe the settlement will be received with a great sigh of relief, since it will seem to alleviate the threat of war, at least temporarily—and the fear of a war with atomic and hydrogen weapons is the massive cloud under which Europe lives.

* * *

One moment during the long night of waiting gave Gen. Smith some satisfaction. Little Cambodia had refused to be swept along into a ceasefire that would have defined pockets of Communist strength inside Cambodia even though the country had not actually been invaded. At 10:45 p.m. Foreign Minister Tep Phan and Nong Kimny, Cambodian ambassador to Washington, went to call on Smith They knew that, in taking time to visit Smith, they were keeping Molotov, Eden and Mendes-France waiting for an urgent session on the Cambodian ceasefire. But they wanted to be reassured that they were in the right and they got that reassurance from the head of the American delegation.

Not only did the Cambodians get their way in the subsequent meeting with the great powers on the points at issue, including the elimination of all Communist pockets, but they got language into the document that may be of great significance in the future. This is a qualification of the prohibition against foreign bases to the effect that such bases may be established if Cambodia is threatened by aggression from the outside. While these are only words, they could be invoked by Cambodia to gain American support in the event of renewed Communist aggression.

There was little satisfaction for America in the pulling and hauling that ended the Indo-Chinese war. For the moment, at least, there is little hope that the terriory below he 17th parallel can be held. The pessimistic view privately expressed is that the armistice is no more than a face-saving surrender which will mean the loss of all of Indo-China within two or three years. Naturally there enters into this view the awareness of the failure of American policy first to bring about intervention to save Dien Bien Phu and second to bring a Southeast Asia alliance into being before the ceasefire

That is now history and therefore, for the time being, irrelevant. What becomes of immediate and urgent importance is whether the sharp divergence of views in the Western alliance will produce further divisions in the aftermath of the peace or whether there will be a renewed and earnest effort to get closer to a unified position. Chou En-Lai is moving with great astuteness to win British opinion to a favorable view of Red China's admission to the United Nations. Even as the ceasefire was being initiated, he broadcast over the network of the British Broadcasting Corporation, his theme being a subtle appeal for a working partnership between two countries that, he indicated, understand each other very well.

If this goes on and if recriminations now resound across the Atlantic over the peace, then one thing is certain. Those pessimists already saying that all of Indo-China is gone, and with it all of Southeast Asia, will be proved 100 per cent right.

Irrigation Water Plays Welcome Tune

By MONA B. PARKER

The main topic of conversation over the state newswise was the same topic that predominated on street corners and over back fences—the weather. Pictorially for the feature cameras, citizens mopped their brows, gazed pathetically at the long red in thermometers, and pursued the subject of sidewalk egg-frying.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Fairbury News claimed for its community "the dubious distinction of being the only town in Nebraska able thus far this summer to fry an egg on the sidewalk, although the stunt was tried in Lincoln (by Lincoln Star Staffer Sally Adams).

"But then," sneered the News, "as many suspected all along, those city slickers at Lincoln just don't know their eggs."

Gretna had an egg problem on its hand, too—or rather, in its pool—but it all ended happily. A small cemented pool that has been dry for several years and surrounded by tall flowers and heavy leaves seemed the ideal place to a maternally inclined little hen to raise a family, so accordingly she laid three eggs on the cement floor of the structure. Kindly neighbors kept a wary eye on the eggs and at last one small yellow chick was hatched.

It was then that the mother hen became aware of the inadequacies of her abode. It was too high for the chick to get out and absolutely barren of either food or drink The hen resisted any attempt at human interference until it was necessary to hold her at bay with a rake while someone else scooped the wee chick from its prison.

Commented the Breeze: "The last they heard was the muttering of the mother as she and the baby vanished in the tall grass."

A Fremont truck driver wasn't so happy, but Wahoo youngsters and a swarm of flies appreciated the situation to the fullest when the driver rounded a corner too abruptly there and 12 cases of pop slid off and broke open. Trucker John T. Abbott concluded it just wasn't his day when he found he had driven over some of the broken glass and ruined a rear tire.

☆ ☆ ☆

"The sweetest music in Nebraska," on the scale of A. C. Huber of the York News-Times, "is the flow of irrigation water down corn rows."

☆ ☆ ☆

The Fairbury Journal tells of perhaps the most persistent corn on record. The William Messing family made an early planting of what they hoped would be "Fourth of July" sweet corn. Came the late freeze and the corn, then about three inches tall, apparently was killed. A few days later, however, it began growing again from ground level and the Messings have been enjoying that perennial favorite, corn on the cob, since the first of July.

☆ ☆ ☆

There was a traveler who was more than a little glad to leave the bus in Hastings the other day. He had shared a seat for some miles with an eight-year-old completely absorbed in a coffee can he carried in which he was bringing home from camp "a couple of pretty nice bullsnakes and a turtle that still has his shell on."

With the regular Lyons Mirror-Sun columnist on vacation, Wayne Samuelson took over writing "Up 'n Down Main Street" for the interim, but compromised with this:

"Instead of going up and down main street, we will just see what's going on down at the swimming pool where I spend most of my time."

The Walthill Marrs have an outdoor shower, a home-made affair consisting of a steel barrel that can be filled with a hose. Old Sol obligingly heats the water during the day and the men come home from the fields at night "dog-tired and black with dust" to relax momentarily under the warm spray. Mrs. Marr looks upon it from a housewife's point of view in the saving of laundry.

Mrs Morris Payne looks hopefully to the future in her Hooper Sentinel writings: "The locusts were shucking their shells Sunday evening, and that's a sign cooler weather is on the way—which doesn't make us sad. Also, the crickets have been chirruping, which means it is 60 days until frost."

AEC Turned Into Political Fair Game

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower himself has now raised another momentous question in connection with the controversial private utility contract he has ordered the Atomic Energy Commission and Tennessee Valley authority to sign. It is whether he is getting the proper information to make the far-reaching decisions which are his remorseless daily portion.

At his press conference Wednesday he was invited to discuss his attitude toward the question of whether the President has the power to order independent agencies to take action that their administrators or a commission majority oppose. He was reminded that a major point in current Senate debate arose out of testimony before the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee that three AEC commissioners opposed signing the moot contract

The President disclosed that he did not know the AEC majority had opposed the contract. He described that information as "a premise."

It is not a premise but a fact, testified to in public hearings and carried on the front pages of the Washington newspapers that he is said to read. Had an AEC majority not opposed the contract, it would not have been necessary for the President, through the Budget Bureau, to order AEC to sign it. AEC has two other contracts with private utilities.

☆ ☆ ☆

Two of the protesting AEC commissioners described their reservations in a formal letter to the Budget Bureau. The new contract seemed to them "incongruous," "roundabout" and a perversion of their "sober primary mission."

The President indicated that he thought he had had an opinion from the attorney general in the matter. Though his language was very involved, he appeared to feel that he was merely accepting a responsibility that he said lots of people would like to get out of.

On July 11 last, Attorney-General Herbert Brownell was asked on the telecast, "Meet The Press," whether he had given his approval to the contract now so bitterly debated. He replied categorically:

"No, that hasn't come to the Department of Justice in any way."

The President concluded by saying that he did not believe the AEC was an independent commission in the sense that the Interstate Commerce Commission and Federal Communications are. It is something, he said, that he was compelled to take action on and over which to exercise supervision.

☆ ☆ ☆

Actually, AEC was established by Congress with the hope and aim of making that most sensitive agency of government more independent than any other. To protect it from Congress itself and all other interference, a special joint committee was established to be its political shield and mentor.

A Little Steam

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Here goes my 25 cents into the fire—but after reading a couple of letters in the July 21 issue of The Star, I have to let off a little steam.

Re air-conditioning and the letter sent in by W. K. Pfeiler—what a way of looking at the water shortage—blaming it on the people who own air-conditioners at home. So Mr. Pfeiler thinks it is all right for business places to air-condition, but for heavens sake don't pity the man who has one at home! Cut him off, give him nothing! Everything is o. k. for business but the heck with the average man! It seems to me he should reconsider his letter because we, the whole country, are supposed to be fighting for the little guy—or maybe I am mixed up. Besides, we have intelligent men trying to solve the problem and I am sure they will.

Here is one that should stir the air—farmer support or parity, whichever you prefer. Let me say this—if the U.S. government or the state government or anyone will guarantee me 90 per cent of my present wage for as long as I do my present job, then and only then will I say give it to the farmers. Why should our taxes pay his wages? They don't pay mine. Let's get back to the system of earning our money and quit looking for guarantees and the gravy train.

One more thing I read in The Star that rather stuck with me—a Mr. Jesse Polson attacked a candidate for governor of this state by saying he was spending too much money on a campaign program. It is a well known fact that the candidate so criticized is well to do. He got that way by being a good businessman His record of what he has done for the city speaks for itself We shouldn't get carried away trying to tell this businessman where and how he should spend his money. If he wishes to spend to show what he stands for, this I have to say—I'll be able to know what this man stands for because he has told me. Mr. Polson should quit crying and tell his candidate to get to work and let us know what he stands for.

Clarence A. Davis, Lincoln attorney who joined other Nebraskans when the call came from Washington for men good and true, has given the Eisenhower administration a big dollars worth.

Called into public service to be solicitor for the Department of Interior, Davis, this week, was promoted to undersecretary of the department. It was one of those satisfying actions that found both the administration and the Senate completely of the same mind. Davis was confirmed by a unanimous voice vote of the Senate. There was no one who was not ready to say that the government had picked up a great bargain. This Nebraskan quickly earned a reputation for soundness, energy and achievement.

Nebraska has sent an unusually large number of men to Washington the past two years. All of them have been called to difficult and important tasks. None of them have floundered. None of them have brought upon the administration any stigma of doubtful motives. All of them have earned reputations of service mindedness and competence.

Nebraska does not specialize in the art of federal government. But it is unique that Nebraskans perform exceptionally well. It is a tribute to the character of Middle Western people—a people reared in the tradition the basic virtues, industry, integrity and fundamental thinking.

Those are hard qualities to beat. When they are compared with the glossy exteriors of manner and form they show their greater validity when one measures the output both qualitatively and quantitatively.

Nebraska can take confidence in its citizenship. No matter what party prevails in Washington men of solidity and honest works can be found here, and they are always needed men.

Pay Of City Employees

About this time every year city employees begin looking at their pay checks with a gleam in their eye. They see a new fiscal year just around the corner and hope it means a new and higher set of figures on those checks.

There is certainly nothing wrong with this. Quite naturally the city employees would like to have more money if they could get it—who of us wouldn't?

After the City Council studies the issue it may decide that a raise is in line again this year. But before any such decision is reached a lot of study should be given to the present wage scale.

There are definitely some known inequalities in the present classification system and many others are reported. It would seem that this might be the year for adjustments in individual classifications rather than any blanket increase.

Then there are other related things to consider such as benefits. Employees have already suggested a 40 hour week but the Council has sat on this request without an answer for months.

At least for those employees in the City Hall it is hard to see anything wrong with a 40 hour week. Every department is dissatisfied with the present system of staggered working hours to keep the City Hall open Saturday mornings and still maintain the present 41½ hour week.

The system as it now stands means odd hours and days of work for some employees every day in the week. This has proven to be inefficient.

The only question confronting the Council seems to be the advisability of cutting out service at the City Hall to the public on Saturday. If salaries are to be compared to private business then why not compare other benefits?

Many businesses are now closed on Saturdays and the number is constantly increasing. If the Saturday closing of the City Hall would mean smaller and fewer salary increases it looks like a worth while proposition.

At least, the Council should settle such matters before it adopts the coming year's budget. Let's not have across the board salary increases now and then a cut to 40 hours during the year.

We were particularly interested in Arch Donovan's story of the closing of irrigation canals above Keystone and the reduced flow of the North Platte River feeding into the huge lake . . . It is a healthy sign to find Nebraskans giving thought to pump irrigation and to additional storage of waste and flood waters in the off-seasons . . . Nebraska faces one big issue in next November's election which thus far has been completely ignored . . . That is ratification by the next Unicameral Legislature of the proposed federal-Missouri Basin states compact for the use of the waters of the Missouri watershed . . . We have been following developments closely in connection with a similar arrangement for the waters of the Upper Colorado . . . It is more than 750 miles from this section of California which depends so heavily upon Colorado water to the upper basin where a breath-taking program of big dams and storage has been drafted and has received congressional authorization, but thus far no actual appropriation of funds . . . California is up in arms . . . The Times has been giving a great deal of space to the opposition to any Upper Colorado compact . . . California's attorney general has instigated legal action . . . It would be a good idea for Nebraskans to find out where candidates for the office of governor, attorney general and for the Legislature stood on this proposed compact for the Missouri Basin.

Chief danger lies in the fact that because compact negotiations are conducted on a state level, local pocketbook interest is more adequately protected . . . That is open to serious question . . . The war over Colorado's waters along the lower watershed has been in progress for five years between California, Arizona and New Mexico, grows in intensity . . . Now it has spread to Nevada, Utah and Colorado in connection with the upper Colorado . . . In a nutshell, a region nearly a thousand miles distant from the headwaters of the Colorado recognizes that if industrial and population growth here slows up, lack of water will be responsible . . . There is a staggering gamble in attempting to compute needs 50 years ahead in these compact agreements . . . And once entered into, there is no way out except through mutual agreement.

Not Too Much

According to Steelways, the trade magazine of that industry, American progress has produced enough prime moving machinery to give every American the strength of 782 men. That's just about the amount of strength the average American needs today to pay the bill for the kind of life the machines brought.

Hospital Improvement

Nebraska has learned that it will again receive a substantial federal grant for the improvement of its hospital facilities.

Under the Hill Burton act providing dollar matching funds the state has been allocated $610,536 for future improvement.

How much of it will be used depends upon how much Nebraska communities raise. In the past Nebraska has made maximum use of its federal aid. In all now since 1947, when the grants began, allocations to Nebraska, not counting this new one, have amounted to $5,273,670.

Significantly Nebraska had only 3,960 approved hospital beds at the outset of the Hill Burton program. Today it has 5,313. And the distribution of these beds have taken hospital service to localities that prior to the program had far too few, if any.

It is money well spent when improvement of hospital facilities result. There are few services that do so much for so many. No one is exempt from hospitalization and when life or health is at stake it is of mighty important concern to the individual.

Curse Of Politics

We are sorry to report that Vice President Nixon isn't much of a military man. He was a naval officer during the war and has been on reserve ever since. But recently the Navy informed him that it couldn't raise his reserve rank to commander because he had failed to meet the requirements. That's what a fellow gets for fiddling around in politics. It distracts one and prevents advancement in other fields.

Shivers In Crucial Test In Texas Polls

WASHINGTON —A year and six months ago the most dashing, debonair governor to come to Washington for the inauguration of Dwight D. Eisenhower was Allan Shivers of Texas. Shivers, a Democrat, had helped induce the vast domain of Texas to go Republican for only the second time in history, so he was entitled to a seat of honor as his candidate took the oath of office.

Tomorrow, in contrast, Shivers faces the fight of his life to get renominated — which in Texas means re-elected — for the fourth term.

Several things have cropped up to plague the handsome, svelte young governor at whose palatial home, "Sharyland," Eisenhower was a special guest on his trip to Mexico last year. One was the natural aversion of Texans to elect a governor to run for four terms. Another was segregation. This backfired against Shivers in a peculiar way.

In the first place, his friend Ike backed up the Supreme Court after it abolished segregation in the schools. To offset this, Allan began making strong statements for segregation and against the supreme court decision.

But then it leaked out that the governor's eldest son had been attending one of the few nonsegregated schools in Texas. His children being brought up in the Catholic faith, his son, John Shary, has been attending St. Edward's parochial school in Austin which has been nonsegregated for over a year.

QUICKIE LAND DEAL

Another thing that hurt the governor was revelation that he had made a profit of $425,000 on a quickie land deal. Although reported by this newsman in October 1952, the big-city Texas newspapers conveniently ignored the court record of Hidalgo county until this spring when Shivers' opponent, Ralph Yarborough, forced attention on the amazing court record, which had lain, privileged and quotable, but gathering dust for nearly two years.

The record showed that Lloyd M. Bentsen, father of the Texas congressman by that name, had given Shivers, then lieutenant governor, an option on 13,000 acres of highly speculative land in the Rio Grande valley for $25,000. Then, six months later, Bentsen had arranged for the repurchase of the option for $450,000.

Conveniently, Bentsen waited several months before arranging to buy back the option, thus permitting the lieutenant governor to pay only a capital-gains tax on his juicy $425,000 profit. What the lieutenant governor of Texas did in return for this $425,000 handed him on a silver platter was not revealed in the court depositions and has never been explained. But the Bentsens were then anxious to obtain precious water and irrigation rights in order to sell a big development scheme.

What the deal amounted to was a $425,000 windfall to a very important Texas official, and the voters of Texas, not easily fooled, don't seem to like it.

INSURANCE SCANDALS

Another sour development in the Texas political picture was the disclosure that Shivers' former campaign manager, John Van Cronkhite, had received $1,000 a month from a discredited insurance company which should have been put out of business by the Texas insurance commission, but which was temporarily kept in business thanks to Van Cronkhite's influence.

Significantly, Van Cronkhite was hired on the recommendation of Governor Shivers' executive secretary, Maurice Acers.

All these facts have now become known to Texans, thanks to a public lawsuit and official investigation. But what is not generally known is that R. W. Worth, an insurance official who knew about certain insurance companies from the inside, presented the facts to both Price Daniel, then attorney general, as early as July 20, 1952, and later to Governor Shivers himself on April 1, 1953.

Worth never got an answer, possibly because Shivers' former campaign manager was up to his neck in the insurance mess. Van Cronkhite, who had managed Shivers' 1950 campaign, was appointed by the governor as $8,400-a-year executive secretary of the Good Neighbor Commission, but found it more profitable to resign in 1951 and set up his own public-relations firm.

It was this firm which handled public relations for "Democrats for Eisenhower" in 1952, again thanks to Shivers' influence.

And this was the firm to which Lloyd's of North America paid $1,000 a month, after an introduction by Shivers' executive secretary, when the insurance company wanted to prevent a crackdown by the Texas insurance commission.

What some of the Texas voters now remember is the governor's speeches during the 1952 election campaign, especially his statement on Oct. 29, 1952:

"Instead of the American eagle as our emblem, we have the fur-bearing mink, the deep freeze and the red herring."

What Next Follows Indochina Cease Fire

GENEVA—The armistice ending the eight-year-old war in Indo-China is both a triumph and a tragedy. It is a triumph for Pierre Mendes-France who promised, on becoming premier of France, to bring peace within 30 days or resign.

For the West it is a tragedy since it means that, after at least a quarter of a million casualties suffered by the French expeditionary corps and the expenditure of vast sums of money, including not less than a billion and a half contributed by the United States, Vietnam is divided roughly at the 17th parallel.

Whether this line can be protected is already the subject of anxious discussion. Under the armistice terms, "foreign bases" may not be established in the three "free states" south of the 17th parallel, nor can outside troops be brought in. But the French say that these terms permit them to keep their troops in southern Viet Nam at least until July 19, 1956, by which date elections will supposedly have been held and the independence of the country established. They also say that, while the United States will not be able to send in military material or establish bases, American economic aid to the three free states will not be precluded.

There was every reason why the Communists should not have granted an armistice. The Viet minh had ample resources to sweep on to victory, which would have been for France a disaster of incalculable consequences.

There will be endless speculation as to why Chou En-Lai and Molotov did finally approve a peace settlement. Unquestionably, fear of enlarging the war, with the threat of American intervention to save the French, entered in. But the motive may have a broader base. It may be, as many are already beginning to say, that this armistice represents a major effort to call off the cold war, at least temporarily, and persuade the West that peaceful coexistence is really possible. In other words, this may mark the most significant shift in Communist policy since the end of World War II.

It is just here that the division between the United States and the Western allies is sharpest. For America this is a defeat and it has been a painful experience for Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, under seceretary of state to have to go through the motions of giving at least a kind of approval to that defeat. For most of Western Europe the settlement will be received with a great sigh of relief, since it will seem to alleviate the threat of war, at least temporarily—and the fear of a war with atomic and hydrogen weapons is the massive cloud under which Europe lives.

One incident during the long night of waiting gave Gen. Smith some satisfaction. Little Cambodia had refused to be swept along into a ceasefire that would have defined pockets of Communist strength inside Cambodia even though the country had not actually been invaded. At 10:45 p.m. Foreign Minister Tep Phan and Nong Kimny, Cambodian ambassador to Washington, went to call on Smith. They knew that, in taking time to visit Smith, they were keeping Molotov, Eden and Mendes-France waiting for an urgent session on the Cambodian ceasefire. But they wanted to be reassured that they were in the right and they got that reassurance from the head of the American delegation.

Not only did the Cambodians get their way in the subsequent meeting with the great powers on the points at issue, including the elimination of all Communist pockets, but they got language into the document that may be of great significance in the future. This is a qualification of the prohibition against foreign bases to the effect that such bases may be established if Cambodia is threatened by aggression from the outside. While these are only words, they could be invoked by Cambodia to gain American support in the event of renewed Communist aggression.

There was little satisfaction for America in the pulling and hauling that ended the Indo-Chinese war. For the moment, at least, there is little hope that the terriory below he 17th parallel can be held. The pessimistic view privately expressed is that the armistice is no more than a face-saving surrender which will mean the loss of all of Indo-China within two or three years. Naturally there enters into this view the awareness of the failure of American policy first to bring about intervention to save Dien Bien Phu and second to bring a Southeast Asia alliance into being before the ceasefire.

That is now history and therefore, for the time being, irrelevant. What becomes of immediate and urgent importance is whether the sharp divergence of views in the Western alliance will produce further divisions in the aftermath of the peace or whether there will be a renewed and earnest effort to get closer to a unified position. Chou En-Lai is moving with great astuteness to win British opinion to a favorable view of Red China's admission to the United Nations. Even as the ceasefire was being initiated, he broadcast over the network of the British Broadcasting Corporation, his theme being a subtle appeal for a working partnership between two countries that, he indicated, understand each other very well.

If this goes on and if recriminations now resound across the Atlantic over the peace, then one thing is certain. Those pessimists already saying that all of Indi-China is gone, and with it all of Southeast Asia, will be proved 100 per cent right.

Gretna had an egg problem on its hand, too—or rather, in its pool—but it all ended happily. A small cemented pool that has been dry for several years and surrounded by tall flowers and heavy leaves seemed the ideal place to a maternally inclined little hen to raise a family, so accordingly she laid three eggs on the cement floor of the structure. Kindly neighbors kept a wary eye on the eggs and at last one small yellow chick was hatched.

It was then that the mother hen became aware of the inadequacies of her abode. It was too high for the chick to get out and absolutely barren of either food or drink. The hen resisted any attempt at human interference until it was necessary to hold her at bay with a rake while someone else scooped the wee chick from its prison.

Commented the Breeze: "The last they heard was the muttering of the mother as she and the baby vanished in the tall grass."

A Fremont truck driver wasn't so happy, but Wahoo youngsters and a swarm of flies appreciated the situation to the fullest when the driver rounded a corner too abruptly there and 12 cases of pop slid off and broke open. Trucker John T. Abbott concluded it just wasn't his day when he found he had driven over some of the broken glass and ruined a rear tire.

"The sweetest music in Nebraska," on the scale of A. C. Huber of the York News-Times, "is the flow of irrigation water down corn rows."

The Fairbury Journal tells of perhaps the most persistent corn on record. The William Messing family made an early planting of what they hoped would be "Fourth of July" sweet corn. Came the late freeze and the corn, then about three inches tall, apparently was killed. A few days later, however, it began growing again from ground level and the Messings have been enjoying that perennial favorite, corn on the cob, since the first of July.

With the regular Lyons Mirror-Sun columnist on vacation, Wayne Samuelson took over writing "Up 'n Down Main Street" for the interim, but compromised with this:

"Instead of going up and down main street, we will just see what's going on down at the swimming pool where I spend most of my time."

The Walthill Marrs have an outdoor shower, a home-made affair consisting of a steel barrel that can be filled with a hose. Old Sol obligingly heats the water during the day and the men come home from the fields at night "dog-tired and black with dust" to relax momentarily under the warm spray. Mrs. Marr looks upon it from a housewife's point of view in the saving of laundry.

Mrs Morris Payne looks hopefully to the future in her Hooper Sentinel writings: "The locusts were shucking their shells Sunday evening, and that's a sign cooler weather is on the way—which doesn't make us sad. Also, the crickets have been chirruping, which means it is 60 days until frost."

There was a traveler who was more than a little glad to leave the bus in Hastings the other day. He had shared a seat for some miles with an eight-year-old completely absorbed in a coffee can he carried in which he was bringing home from camp "a couple of pretty nice bullsnakes and a turtle that still has his shell on."

AEC Turned Into Political Fair Game

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower himself has now raised another momentous question in connection with the controversial private utility contract he has ordered the Atomic Energy Commission and Tennessee Valley authority to sign. It is whether he is getting the proper information to make the far-reaching decisions which are his remorseless daily portion.

At his press conference Wednesday he was invited to discuss his attitude toward the question of whether the President has the power to order independent agencies to take action that their administrators or a commission majority oppose. He was reminded that a major point in current Senate debate arose out of testimony before the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee that three AEC commissioners opposed signing the moot contract.

The President disclosed that he did not know the AEC majority had opposed the contract. He described that information as "a premise."

It is not a premise but a fact, testified to in public hearings and carried on the front pages of the Washington newspapers that he is said to read. Had an AEC majority not opposed the contract, it would not have been necessary for the President, through the Budget Bureau, to order AEC to sign it. AEC has two other contracts with private utilities.

☆ ☆ ☆

Two of the protesting AEC commissioners described their reservations in a formal letter to the Budget Bureau. The new contract seemed to them "incongruous," "roundabout" and a perversion of their "sober primary mission."

The President indicated that he thought he had had an opinion from the attorney general in the matter. Though his language was very involved, he appeared to feel that he was merely accepting a responsibility that he said lots of people would like to get out of.

On July 11 last, Attorney-General Herbert Brownell was asked on the telecast, "Meet The Press," whether he had given his approval to the contract now so bitterly debated. He replied categorically:

"No, that hasn't come to the Department of Justice in any way."

The President concluded by saying that he did not believe the AEC was an independent commission in the sense that the Interstate Commerce Commission and Federal Communications are. It is something, he said, that he was compelled to take action on and over which to exercise supervision.

☆ ☆ ☆

Actually, AEC was established by Congress with the hope and aim of making that most sensitive agency of government more independent than any other. To protect it from Congress itself and all other interference, a special joint committee was established to be its political shield and mentor.

A Little Steam

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Here goes my 25 cents into the fire—but after reading a couple of letters in the July 21 issue of The Star, I have to let off a little steam.

Re air-conditioning and the letter sent in by W. K. Pfeiler—what a way of looking at the water shortage—blaming it on the people who own air-conditioners at home. So Mr. Pfeiler thinks it is all right for business places to air-condition, but for heavens sake don't pity the man who has one at home! Cut him off, give him nothing! Everything is o. k. for business but the heck with the average man! It seems to me he should reconsider his letter because we, the whole country, are supposed to be fighting for the little guy—or maybe I am mixed up. Besides, we have intelligent men trying to solve the problem and I am sure they will.

Here is one that should stir the air—farmer support or parity, whichever you prefer. Let me say this—if the U.S. government or the state government or anyone will guarantee me 90 per cent of my present wage for as long as I do my present job, then and only then will I say give it to the farmers. Why should our taxes pay his wages? They don't pay mine. Let's get back to the system of earning our money and quit looking for guarantees and the gravy train.

One more thing I read in The Star that rather stuck with me—a Mr. Jesse Polson picked a candidate for governor of this state by saying he was spending too much money on a campaign program. It is a well known fact that the candidate so criticized is well to do. He got that way by being a good businessman. His record of what he has done for the city speaks for itself. We shouldn't get carried away trying to tell this businessman where and how he should spend his money. If he wishes to spend to show what he stands for, this I have to say—I'll be able to know what this man stands for because he has told me. Mr. Polson should quit crying and tell his candidate to get to work and let us know what he stands for.

U.S. 'HUMANE' EQUIPMENT TO GO TO COMMIES

WASHINGTON (AP)—Foreign Aid Director Harold Stassen said Thursday the United States will leave in Communist-controlled northern Indochina "humanitarian type" equipment such as hospitals, health clinics and water pumps.

"We will not dismantle or destroy those things which will benefit the people who remain behind," he said.

At a news conference, Stassen also said:

1. The United States has agreed with other Western governments to ease East-West trade controls by knocking off some 150 separate items from the master list of commodities and equipment barred from shipment to Russia and its European satellites. He said an announcement could be expected within a month.

2. The "first big step" toward making European currencies convertible into dollars would be taken "within a year" as a result of a London conference of the West's leading finance ministers.

3. The United States definitely plans to continue economic and technical aid to non-Communist areas of Indochina but it is not clear whether military assistance can be provided as a result of the Geneva truce agreement. American military and economic help will be substantially stepped up to non-Communist regions in Southeast Asia and the Southwest Pacific as a result of the Indochina cease fire.

U.S. 'HUMANE' EQUIPMENT TO GO TO COMMIES

WASHINGTON (AP)—Foreign Aid Director Harold Stassen said Thursday the United States will leave in Communist-controlled northern Indochina "humanitarian type" equipment such as hospitals, health clinics and water pumps.

"We will not dismantle or destroy those things which will benefit the people who remain behind," he said.

At a news conference, Stassen also said:

1. The United States has agreed with other Western governments to ease East-West trade controls by knocking off some 150 separate items from the master list of commodities and equipment barred from shipment to Russia and its European satellites. He said an announcement could be expected within a month.

2. The "first big step" toward making European currencies convertible into dollars would be taken "within a year" as a result of a London conference of the West's leading finance ministers.

3. The United States definitely plans to continue economic and technical aid to non-Communist areas of Indochina but it is not clear whether military assistance can be provided as a result of the Geneva truce agreement. American military and economic help will be substantially stepped up to non-Communist regions in Southeast Asia and the Southwest Pacific as a result of the Indochina cease fire.

Harrison Hopes Senators Will Add Funds To Power Line Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Robert Harrison (R-Neb) said Thursday he hopes the Senate will add money to a supplemental appropriations bill for a power line between Gavins Point Dam and Belden, Neb.

Harrison said no effort will be made at this time to have the money included in the bill by the House, which is now considering the measure

Chairman Jensen (R-Ia) of the House Interior Appropriations Subcommittee is opposed to the federal government spending $450 000 to build the line, which would carry Missouri River power into Nebraska Jensen feels that Nebraska interests should finance the line

The Senate some weeks ago included this item in the annual Interior Department appropriations bill but the House conferees cut it out.

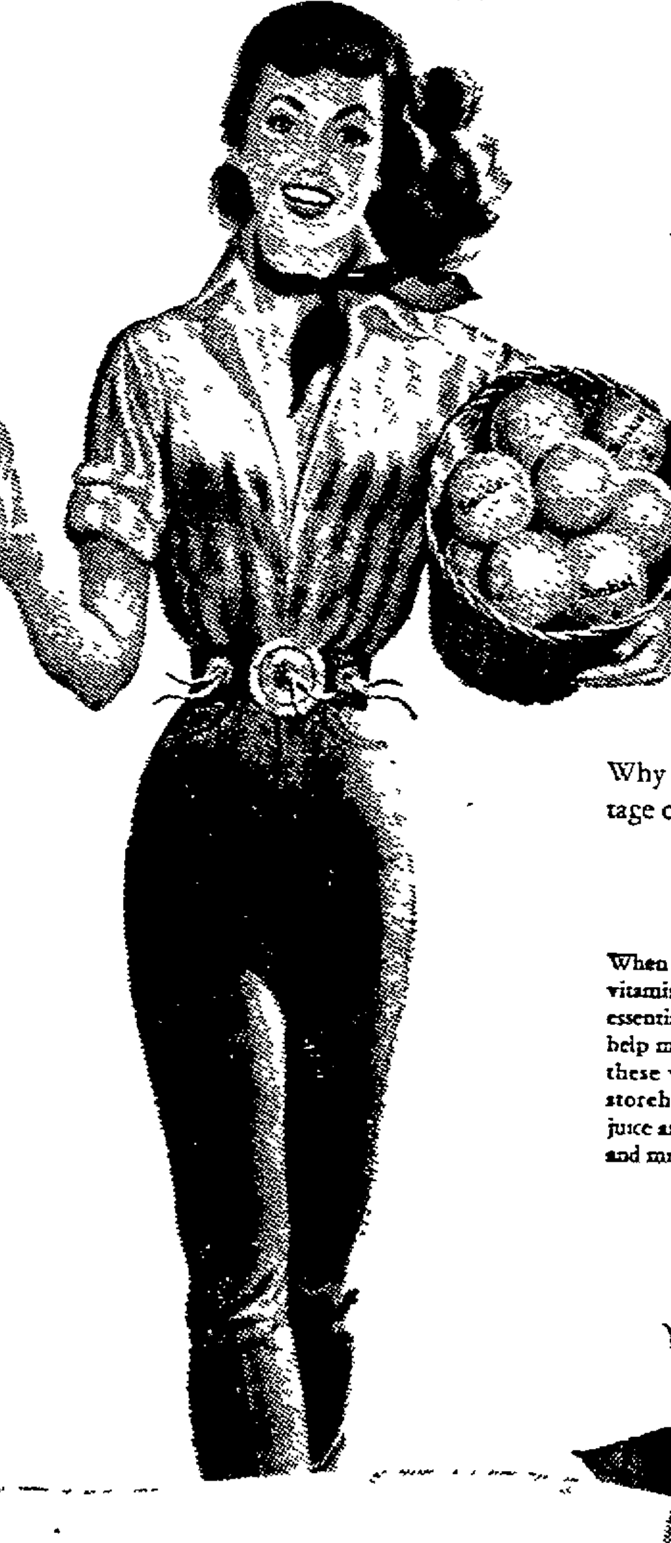
A SENSIBLE NEW WAY TO

Control your weight!



This new Sunkist Orange weight-control plan helps you hold down weight to an attractive, healthful level and keep it there.

This is not a reducing plan as you know them. It's far simpler and makes much better sense. There is no dangerous dieting, no tiresome calorie counting, no back-breaking exercises, no expensive pills or drugs.

You simply follow this rule: Eat a Sunkist Orange 30 minutes before lunch and dinner each day.

Then eat moderately at mealtime, as you should. This becomes amazingly easy because eating the fresh orange with its healthful "meat" (rich in cellulose) helps curb your appetite the natural way and gives you new mealtime hunger control.

This new eat-an-orange plan is working for others. Why not give it a fair trial, say for three weeks? Take advantage of the big SLIM-JANE orange sale and start today.

Why so many modern diets call for fresh oranges!

When you eat less, your supply of vitamins, minerals and other food essentials is reduced. Fresh oranges help maintain a proper balance of these values because they are a storehouse of health. Both their juice and meat are rich in vitamins and minerals. And their important protopectins actually help you get more of the health essentials from the other foods you eat. Whether you are on a weight-control plan or a strict reducing diet, include fresh oranges... fresh Sunkist Oranges, the finest brand you can buy anywhere.

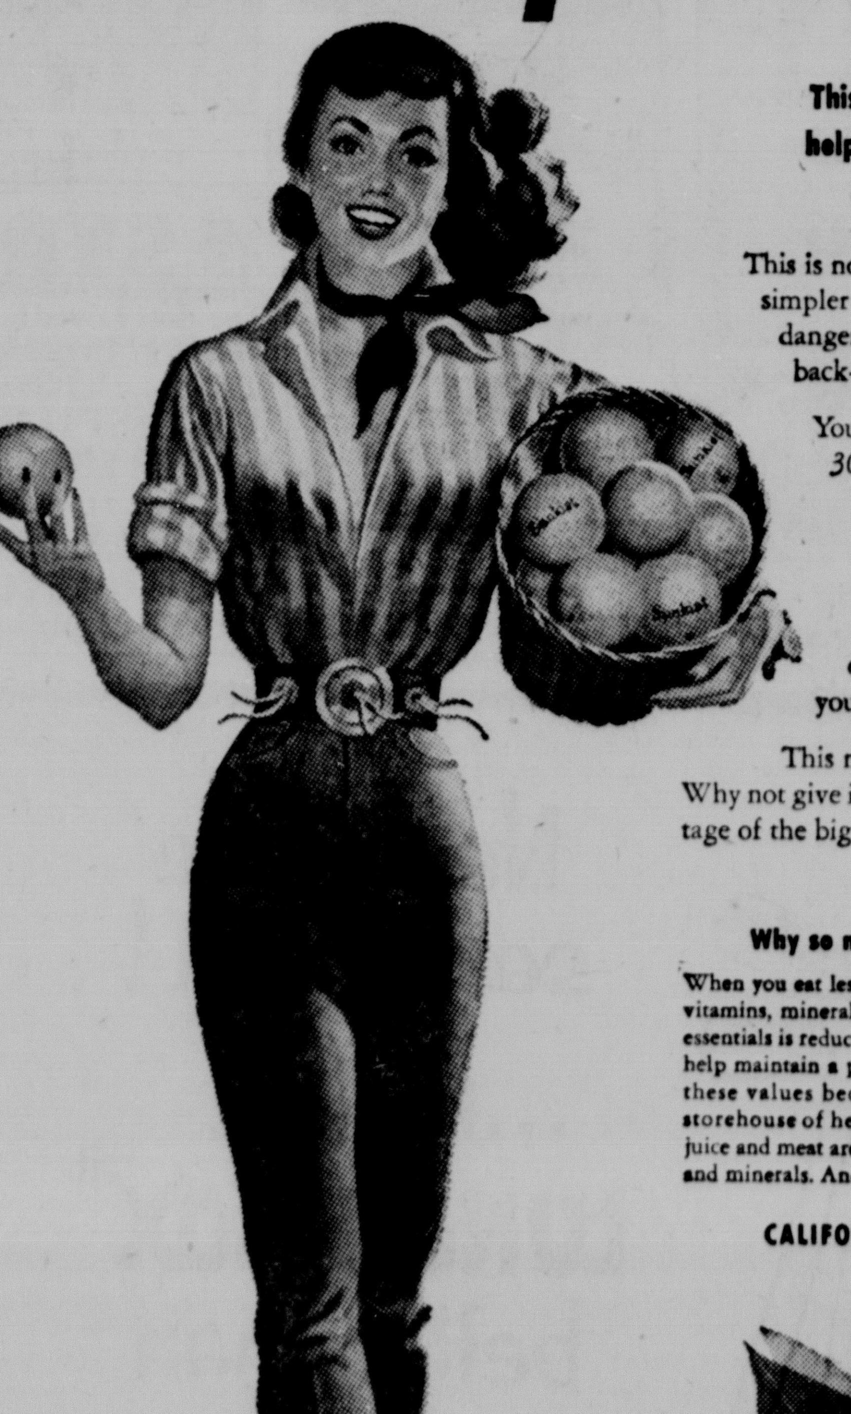
A SENSIBLE NEW WAY TO
Control your weight!



This new Sunkist Orange weight-control plan helps you hold down weight to an attractive, healthful level and keep it there.

This is not a reducing plan as you know them. It's far simpler and makes much better sense. There is no dangerous dieting, no tiresome calorie counting, no back-breaking exercises, no expensive pills or drugs.

You simply follow this rule: Eat a Sunkist Orange 30 minutes before lunch and dinner each day.

Then eat moderately at mealtime, as you should. This becomes amazingly easy because eating the fresh orange with its healthful "meat" (rich in cellulose) helps curb your appetite the natural way and gives you new mealtime hunger control.

This new eat-an-orange plan is working for others. Why not give it a fair trial, say for three weeks? Take advantage of the big SLIM-JANE orange sale and start today.

Why so many modern diets call for fresh oranges

When you eat less, your supply of vitamins, minerals and other food essentials is reduced. Fresh oranges help maintain a proper balance of these values because they are a storehouse of health. Both their juice and meat are rich in vitamins and minerals. And their important protopectins actually help you get more of the health essentials from the other foods you eat. Whether you are on a weight-control plan or a strict reducing diet, include fresh oranges... fresh Sunkist Oranges, the finest brand you can buy anywhere.

Basin Group Hears AEC Spokesman

RAPID CITY, S. D. (AP) — An Atomic Energy Commission spokesman told the Missuri Basin Inter-Agency Committee (MBIAC) Thursday that atomic power may still be several years away and poses no immediate threat to conventional types of power plants.

Dr. Lawrence R. Hafstad, AEC director of reactor development, added, "we don't have to displace existing power plants so long as power demands continue to grow."

Answering a question put by Gov. Sigurd Anderson of South Dakota, Hafstad said the Missouri Basin could not expect an atomic pilot plant in the near future.

NPPS Interested

Basin utility producers, Hafstad said, which have shown interest in the atomic program were the Nebraska Public Power System, and Union Electric and Monsanto Chemical Co., both of St. Louis.

The MBIAC heard that the Oahe Dam, west of Pierre, S. D., may be putting power on the line in 1960—a year ahead of schedule.

Brig. Gen. W. E. Potter, division engineer, noted that it took but two years to start producing power at two other large Missouri River dams—Ft. Randall in South Dakota and Garrison in North Dakota. Possibly only two years will be needed at Oahe too, he added.

Col. Hayes said closing of Gavins Point dam, near Yankton, S. D., was scheduled for next summer. The power house substructure and spillway are about 33 per cent complete now, he said.

The MBIAC set its 76th meeting for Sept. 8-9 in Sidney, Mont.

Butler's Fear Of Basin State Compact Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—Just before he died, Sen. Hugh Butler (R-Neb) wrote letters to other Senators from Missouri Basin States saying he feared a proposed water compact among the basin states might hand control to the federal government.

The letters, made public Thursday, were written by Butler, chairman of the Senate Interior Committee, the day before he was stricken. The letters actually were not sent until a few days after his death on July 1.

"If such a compact is ratified," he wrote, "the United States would be given control of the basin water resources."

Asked For Study

Butler asked the senators to study a legal brief which stated an interstate compact supercedes state laws, where there is a conflict.

"We cannot move hastily in the circumstances, and I suggest only that caution be the watchword of the officials of the states involved," he said.

A bill, which would grant the consent of Congress to the negotiation of a compact for the disposition, diversion and control of waters of the Missouri River and its tributaries, had been discussed in public hearings before Butler's interior committee.

It would give permission for Colorado, Kansas, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Wyoming and South Dakota to enter the compact.

Bond Purchases Over $7 Million

Martin said total sales for the first half of 1954 were more than 71 million dollars. The state had attained 75 per cent of its yearly quota and the gain in sales over the first six months of 1953 was 38 per cent, compared to the national increase of 13 per cent.

Juvenile Delinquency Group Expands

A statewide steering committee for the study of juvenile delinquency named by Gov. Robert Crosby held its first meeting Thursday and decided to expand the activities to include organization of a statewide committee on youth.

The governor appointed Dr. Otto Hoiberg of the University of Nebraska as acting chairman. The committee made plans to meet again on Sept. 2.

Central Office

All members of the steering committee were named to one of four sub-committees to bring plans to the September meeting on juvenile laws, organization of a state wide committee and personnel needed for a central office.

Named to the subcommittee to study Nebraska juvenile laws were: Robert A. Nelson, chairman; Judge Paul W. White; Dean James Doyle; Judge C. G. Perry, John J. Wilson, and Alfred G. Ellick.

On the subcommittee to plan a statewide conference are Dr. Frank A. Court, chairman, Mrs. Leonard Campbell, Harold Douthit; Mrs. Catherine Martin, and Mrs Gertrude Allen

Members of the personnel and finance subcommittee are Dr. Frank A. Court, chairman; Mrs. Mayme Stukel, chairman; Otto Ruff; Pat Okura and Mrs. Vernon Chapman.

The committee on organization to lay tentative plans for structure of the statewide committee, to be known as the "Nebraska Committee for Youth," are Dr. Otto G. Hoiberg, chairman, Louise Horne, James Paxton, Mrs. S. W. Epstone and Mrs Robbie Turner Davis.

Crosby Speaks

The governor told the committee that he is hopeful the group will develop a program that "will put Nebraska in the forefront of all states" in handling juvenile problems.

"I hope," Gov. Crosby said, "that you can establish a good statewide approach to the problem in Nebraska"

There are no limitations on what the committee can consider, he said But he suggested state laws ought to be examined as part of the study and various groups which are tackling the problem independently ought to be co-ordinated

Actual prevention of juvenile delinquency must be a community level effort, he said "The best we can do is to stimulate local groups to action"

Crosby told the 15 committee members assembled that establishment of the group was prompted by visits from persons concerned about youth problems in the state Miss Stukel, director of the state department of public welfare, then surveyed work of other states on the problem

Glenvil Man Gets Beer License OK

The State Liquor Commission Thursday announced approval of an on-sale and off-sale retail beer license for Carl F. Stromer, Glenvil, Neb.

A hearing brought conflicting testimony as to whether it is economically advisable to have two such licenses in Glenvil the commission said But the chairman and board of trustees of the village had recommended unanimously that the license be granted Until recently, the village had had two such licensees, the commission noted

The application of William D Craig of Republican City for an on and off sale beer license was denied

The village board had recommended issuance of the license The commission said it appears that the applicant is an "honest and law abiding citizen" but that there exists "a reasonable doubt in the minds of the members (of the commission) that the applicant has the ability to cope with the problems connected with the retail sale of alcoholic liquor, and the commission is not fully satisfied that the applicant could fulfill the responsibilities of a licensee under the Nebraska Liquor Control Act"

St. Paul Stills Seized

ST. PAUL, Minn (INS)—Two stills described as the first seized in the city since 1938 were confiscated by St Paul police Two men charged with operating the stills were arrested and held for questioning by federal alcohol tax unit agents The prisoners were identified by police as Karl Ritter and Joseph Cathomen, both of St. Paul. Seven gallons of brandy were found in their homes

Another Meeting Of State Safety Conference Called

Gov. Robert Crosby Thursday called another meeting of his traffic safety conference—this one to be held Saturday, July 31, at Hastings.

The conference was formed by the governor to tackle the problem of reducing highway slaughter The first meeting was held at Grand Island

The program for the Hastings meeting calls for a report by Capt O. H. Witt of the Nebraska Safety Patrol, secretary of the conference; a report by Mrs. Austin Sutton chairman of the women's division; a report by Lyle B. De Moss of Omaha on work being done by Omaha-Lincoln advertising clubs, and a talk by Gov. Crosby.

In his notice to committee members, the governor noted that as of the May 22 meeting the state had counted 110 highway fatalities as compared with 76 for the same period last year. Since then the margin has been reduced to a recent count of 158 for this year, compared with 143 last year.

"So you can see that we have narrowed the margin between 1954 and 1953 by a considerable amount," Gov. Crosby said. "I am hopeful that at the end of 1954 the record will show that through our efforts the 1954 fatality rate was far less than 1953."

University Tests Prove Glass Jars Ideal for Use in Home and Locker Freezing

3-Year Study Reveals Important Advantages of Home Canning Jars in Freezing Fruits, Vegetables, Meat and Poultry

What may come as a surprise and amount to a new discovery to many people, is seen in the striking advantages of glass jars for the home freezing of foods, as established by recent findings at the University of Massachusetts (Massachusetts Agricultural Experiment Station, Bulletin No 465, June, 1952).*

While glass jars have long been familiar to home canners the country over, and have been used in the freezing of foods for several years, the fact that they are equally well suited for the latter purpose has not been widely known These findings establish a number of essential characteristics and properties for a satisfactory package for home and locker frozen foods, all of which are afforded by regular home canning glass jars.

Glass containers have the advantage of being moisture-vapor-proof, which prevents freezer burn or the drying of foods They are likewise leak proof, preventing dripping of syrup Glass containers have the further value of protecting foods from absorbing and giving off flavors and odors. They do not impart flavor or odor to the food, nor do they absorb grease, oil or water Still another advantage of glass containers is that they are durable and may be re-used many times as they generally are in home canning. Then, too, unlike other types of containers and packaging, glass is always clean, never messy, does not stick to foods and contents are easily identified even without a label. All these advantages add up to a perfect container for the freezing of foods in home freezer cabinets, freezer lockers and in the freezer compartments of refrigerators.

NO BREAKAGE

Some people have questioned the use of glass jars for freezing because of a supposed tendency to break at low temperatures. Not so, says the University's Bulletin: "Technically speaking, there is no available evidence to the effect that the brittleness of such containers is increased at freezing temperatures"

Economy and convenience are other advantages to be realized by the use of glass containers for freezing foods. This is particularly true, it is pointed out, of home canners who are beginning to employ freezing as a means of food preservation, either entirely or as a supplementary method.

ATLAS JARS

ATLAS Jars have been used for more than fifty years by home canners. These jars have all the advantages noted in the University Bulletin

In addition, ATLAS Jars are double tested for strength and individually inspected for clearness and perfect workmanship. They come in all sizes and, with ATLAS Arc-Lids, make a perfect package for freezing as well as canning.

Juvenile Delinquency Group Expands

A statewide steering committee for the study of juvenile delinquency named by Gov. Robert Crosby held its first meeting Thursday and decided to expand the activities to include organization of a statewide committee on youth.

The governor appointed Dr. Otto Hoiberg of the University of Nebraska as acting chairman. The committee made plans to meet again on Sept. 2.

Central Office

All members of the steering committee were named to one of four sub-committees to bring plans to the September meeting on juvenile laws, organization of a state wide committee and personnel needed for a central office.

Named to the subcommittee to study Nebraska juvenile laws were: Robert A. Nelson, chairman; Judge Paul W. White; Dean James Doyle; Judge C. G. Perry, John J. Wilson, and Alfred G. Ellick.

On the subcommittee to plan a statewide conference are Dr. Frank A. Court, chairman; Mrs. Leonard Campbell; Harold Douthit; Mrs. Catherine Martin, and Mrs. Gertrude Allen.

Members of the personnel and finance subcommittee are Dr. Frank A. Court, chairman; Mrs. Mayme Stukel, chairman; Otto Ruff; Pat Okura and Mrs. Vernon Chapman.

The committee on organization to lay tentative plans for structure of the statewide committee, to be known as the "Nebraska Committee for Youth," are Dr. Otto G. Hoiberg, chairman; Louise Horne, James Paxton, Mrs. S. W. Epstone and Mrs. Robbie Turner Davis.

Crosby Speaks

The governor told the committee that he is hopeful the group will develop a program that "will put Nebraska in the forefront of all states" in handling juvenile problems.

"I hope," Gov. Crosby said, "that you can establish a good statewide approach to the problem in Nebraska."

There are no limitations on what the committee can consider, he said. But he suggested state laws ought to be examined as part of the study and various groups which are tackling the problem independently ought to be co-ordinated.

Actual prevention of juvenile delinquency must be a community level effort, he said. "The best we can do is to stimulate local groups to action."

Crosby told the 15 committee members assembled that establishment of the group was prompted by visits from persons concerned about youth problems in the state. Miss Stukel, director of the state department of public welfare, then surveyed work of other states on the problem.

Steering Committee On Youth, Delinquency Holds Meeting

Glenvil Man Gets Beer License OK

The State Liquor Commission Thursday announced approval of an on-sale and off-sale retail beer license for Carl F. Stromer, Glenvil, Neb.

A hearing brought conflicting testimony as to whether it is economically advisable to have two such licenses in Glenvil, the commission said. But the chairman and board of trustees of the village had recommended unanimously that the license be granted. Until recently, the village had had two such licensees, the commission noted.

The application of William D. Craig of Republican City for an on and off sale beer license was denied.

The village board had recommended issuance of the license. The commission said it appears that the applicant is an "honest and law abiding citizen" but that there exists "a reasonable doubt in the minds of the members (of the commission) that the applicant has the ability to cope with the problems connected with the retail sale of alcoholic liquor, and the commission is not fully satisfied that the applicant could fulfill the responsibilities of a licensee under the Nebraska Liquor Control Act."

St. Paul Stills Seized

ST. PAUL, Minn. (INS)—Two stills described as the first seized in the city since 1938 were confiscated by St. Paul police. Two men charged with operating the stills were arrested and held for questioning by federal alcohol tax unit agents. The prisoners were identified by police as Karl Ritter and Joseph Cathomen, both of St. Paul. Seven gallons of brandy were found in their homes.

Another Meeting Of State Safety Conference Called

Gov. Robert Crosby Thursday called another meeting of his traffic safety conference—this one to be held Saturday, July 31, at Hastings.

The conference was formed by the governor to tackle the problem of reducing highway slaughter. The first meeting was held at Grand Island.

The program for the Hastings meeting calls for a report by Capt. O. H. Witt of the Nebraska Safety Patrol, secretary of the conference; a report by Mrs. Austin Sutton, chairman of the women's division; a report by Lyle B. De Moss of Omaha on work being done by Omaha-Lincoln advertising clubs, and a talk by Gov. Crosby.

In his notice to committee members, the governor noted that as of the May 22 meeting the state had counted 110 highway fatalities as compared with 76 for the same period last year. Since then the margin has been reduced to a recent count of 158 for this year, compared with 143 last year.

"So you can see that we have narrowed the margin between 1954 and 1953 by a considerable amount," Gov. Crosby said. "I am hopeful that at the end of 1954 the record will show that through our efforts the 1954 fatality rate was far less than 1953."

Attend Dinner Before Premier

Chatting informally before the dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wilson at the University Club Wednesday evening, are, from the left, Mrs Alfred DuTeau, Mrs. Robert Ferguson and Mrs. Wilson

The group, following dinner, saw the world premier showing of the movie, "Her Twelve Men," at the Stuart Theater The movie was adapted from the book, "Snips and Snails" which was written by Louise Baker (Mrs. Wilson)

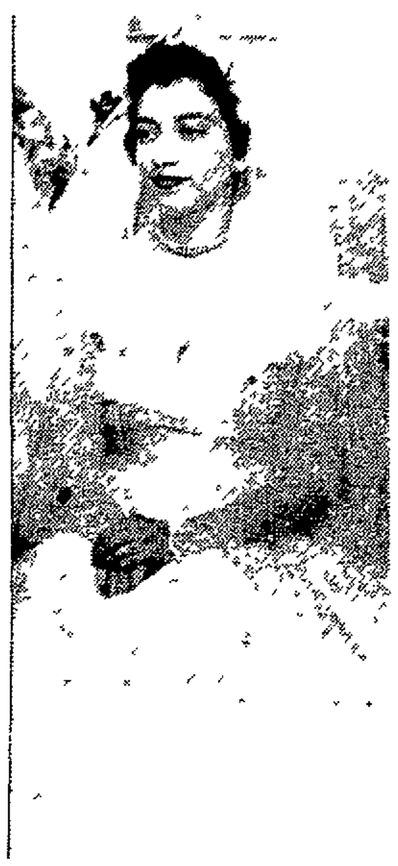
Has Evening Wedding

Miss Maxine Stiegelmar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Stiegelmar. became the bride of Walter Petty of the Lincoln Air Force Base, son of Mr and Mrs Ernest Petty of Montgomery, Ind, at an 8 o'clock ceremony solemnized Friday evening, July 16, at Trinity Methodist Church. The Rev. S. B Thomas read the lines of the service against a background formed by candles burning in branched candelabra and basket arrangements of white gladioli and blue Majestic daisies.

As the tapers were lighted by Marvin Stiegelmar and Robert Chab of Crete, Miss Janice Wagner, soloist, sang, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Tritt, who also played the wedding music.

The attendants, Miss Nadine Shepard, maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Darlene Ridgley and Miss Mary Ann Bieber, chose alike frocks of blue net over taffeta. Bolero jackets covered the strapless bodices which narrowed to the waists and the full skirts were in the ballerina length. They carried colonial bouquets of blue and white carnations. Miss Marlene Malone of Crete, was the flower girl

The bride chose for her wedding a gown of white Chantilly lace over satin. Scallops formed the low neckline of the moulded bodice which was designed with long, lace sleeves, and the full skirt, gathered at the waistline, was in the floor length. A cap of white Chantilly lace over satin, dotted with seed pearls held her fingertip veil of illusion and she carried a white Bible marked with a white orchid.



MRS. WALTER PETTY

Richard Templeton of the Lincoln Air Force Base, was the best man and Willard Connelly and Conrad Richards, both of the Lincoln Air Force Base, were ushers.

The couple left for a wedding trip to St Joseph, Mo., immediately following a reception which was held in the church parlors. For traveling, Mrs. Petty wore a blue frock with white accessories.

Mr. and Mrs Petty will leave in the near future for Scott Air Force Base, Belleville, Ill., where Mr. Petty will be stationed

Signs Of Fall

STRANGE AS it may seem, there are signs pointing to autumn, even on this, one of the latter days of July. Attend Dinner Before Premier

Chatting informally before the dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wilson at the University Club Wednesday evening, are, from the left, Mrs. Alfred DuTeau, Mrs. Robert Ferguson and Mrs. Wilson.

The group, following dinner, saw the world premier showing of the movie, "Her Twelve Men," at the Stuart Theater. The movie was adapted from the book, "Snips and Snails," which was written by Louise Baker (Mrs. Wilson.)

Has Evening Wedding

MRS. WALTER PETTY

Miss Maxine Stiegelmar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Stiegelmar, became the bride of Walter Petty of the Lincoln Air Force Base, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Petty of Montgomery, Ind., at an 8 o'clock ceremony solemnized Friday evening, July 16, at Trinity Methodist Church. The Rev. S. B. Thomas read the lines of the service against a background formed by candles burning in branched candelabra and basket arrangements of white gladioli and blue Majestic daisies.

As the tapers were lighted by Marvin Stiegelmar and Robert Chab of Crete, Miss Janice Wagner, soloist, sang, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Tritt, who also played the wedding music.

The attendants, Miss Nadine Shepard, maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Darlene Ridgley and Miss Mary Ann Bieber, chose alike frocks of blue net over taffeta. Bolero jackets covered the strapless bodices which narrowed to the waists and the full skirts were in the ballerina length. They carried colonial bouquets of blue and white carnations. Miss Marlene Malone of Crete, was the flower girl.

The bride chose for her wedding a gown of white Chantilly lace over satin. Scallops formed the low neckline of the moulded bodice which was designed with long, lace sleeves, and the full skirt, gathered at the waistline, was in the floor length. A cap of white Chantilly lace over satin, dotted with seed pearls held her fingertip veil of illusion and she carried a white Bible marked with a white orchid.

Richard Templeton of the Lincoln Air Force Base, was the best man and Willard Connelly and Conrad Richards, both of the Lincoln Air Force Base, were ushers.

The couple left for a wedding trip to St. Joseph, Mo., immediately following a reception which was held in the church parlors. For traveling, Mrs. Petty wore a blue frock with white accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Petty will leave in the near future for Scott Air Force Base, Belleville, Ill., where Mr. Petty will be stationed.

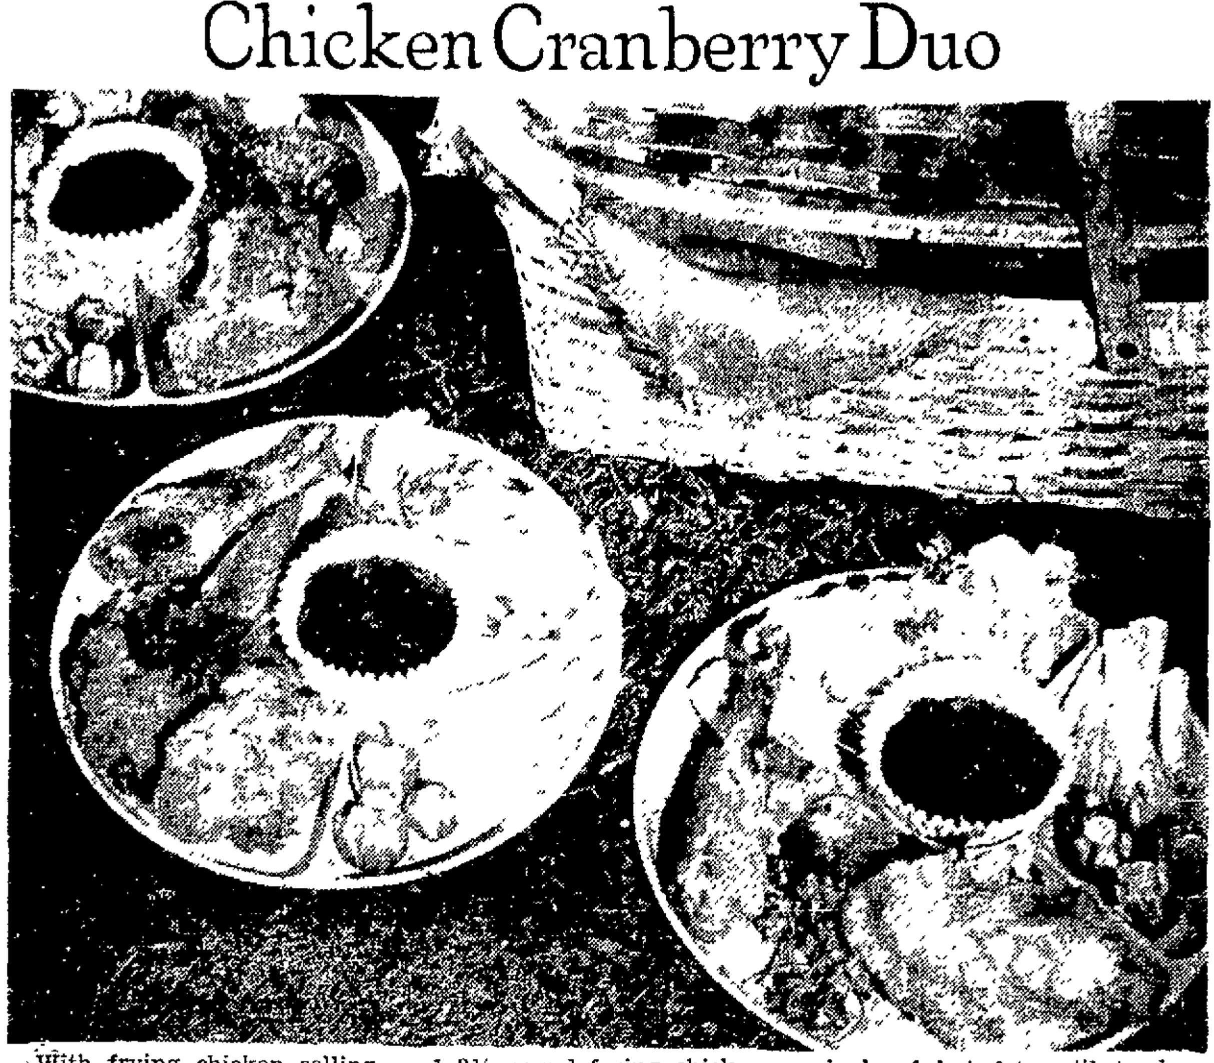
Chicken Cranberry Duo



With frying chicken selling for a song these days, we can scarcely afford not to buy it each week. However, if you are like most of us, you are becoming a bit weary of the same method of preparation each time. Here is fried chicken with real personality that tastes equally delicious whether hot from the pan, or toted cold in the picnic basket. A natural to serve with it is our Christmas-time friend, cranberry sauce, prepared as a relish. Don't forget jars of potato salad and crisp carrot sticks, and you're ready for a feast.

1 2½-pound frying chicken
1 cup sour cream
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 cloves mashed garlic
¾ teaspoon white pepper
½ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon celery salt
½ teaspoon paprika

Cut chicken in serving pieces. Place chicken in refrigerator dish. Combine remaining ingredients and pour over chicken to cover all pieces. Cover dish and let stand overnight in refrigerator. Drain; dredge in flour and fry in 1 inch of hot fat until tender, about 50 minutes.

Mix up the cranberry relish the day before to let the flavors blend. Store right in the jar until you're ready to slip it into the picnic basket. Here's how you make Cranberry Picnic Relish:

1 pound can jellied cranberry sauce
½ cup stuffed olives, sliced
½ cup chopped pecans
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated onion

Crush jellied cranberry sauce with a fork. Stir in all other ingredients. Chill for several hours before serving.

A Vote For Thought And Reason

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

"Why, mommy?" That little "why" seems to be the favored word in every youngster's vocabulary once the questioning age is reached. And it seems to me that grown-ups might take two cues from the child's "why" habit.

Too many people, upon reaching maturity, simply stop asking why a thing is so. They accept a statement or opinion without wondering, or probing beneath the surface. That's the easiest way in the world just to stop thinking!

Never be afraid to question. You broaden your field of information and gain soundness for your convictions only by seeking facts and by reasoning—not by parroting what someone else says or believes.

Individual Thought

Everyone must think for himself . . . evaluate ideas and opinions. So take the young (and unknowingly wise) point of view that you want to know the why and the wherefore before before you accept the fact.

The other cue I mentioned is one of a different sort. It has to do with your way of answering the "why" question when it is put to you.

Perhaps you've become accustomed to answer a "why" with a "because": It's true because I say it's true. That is an easy dodge, but neither gracious nor intelligent.

In past ages of history, men were supposed to be articulate, women merely attractive. But times have changed! Women today are experts in finance and government, in the business world and in the household. Woman's place is in the home, in the office—and in the life of the community.

I hope you do take an interest in community affairs and in the broader scope of events; that you participate in welfare and in political groups, just as you do in purely social activities. If so, then you must be able to speak up in behalf of your own plans and opinions: to give thoughtful answers when someone asks why you believe, or why you do thus-and-so.

Afterwards Answers

Virtually everyone finds himself in a situation, now and then, where the answer that comes to mind afterwards is more clever, more satisfactory, than the answer given at the time. The people who experience this least often are the most articulate people.

You'll discover you can cut down on the number of times this situation occurs if you outline in your mind the possible why's and wherefore's before questions are asked. Then you won't be forced into vague "because" answers.

2 cloves mashed garlic
¾ teaspoon white pepper
½ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon celery salt
½ teaspoon paprika

Cut chicken in serving pieces. Place chicken in refrigerator dish. Combine remaining ingredients and pour over chicken to cover all pieces. Cover dish and let stand overnight in refrigerator. Drain; dredge in flour and fry in 1 inch of hot fat until tender, about 50 minutes.

Mix up the cranberry relish the day before to let the flavors blend. Store right in the jar until you're ready to slip it into the picnic basket. Here's how you make Cranberry Picnic Relish:

1 pound can jellied cranberry sauce
½ cup stuffed olives, sliced
½ cup chopped pecans
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated onion

Crush jellied cranberry sauce with a fork. Stir in all other ingredients. Chill for several hours before serving.

A Vote For Thought And Reason

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

"Why, mommy?" That little "why" seems to be the favored word in every youngster's vocabulary once the questioning age is reached. And it seems to me that grown-ups might take two cues from the child's "why" habit.

Too many people, upon reaching maturity, simply stop asking why a thing is so. They accept a statement or opinion without wondering, or probing beneath the surface. That's the easiest way in the world just to stop thinking!

Never be afraid to question. You broaden your field of information and gain soundness for your convictions only by seeking facts and by reasoning—not by parroting what someone else says or believes.

Individual Thought

Everyone must think for himself . . . evaluate ideas and opinions. So take the young (and unknowingly wise) point of view that you want to know the why and the wherefore before before you accept the fact.

The other cue I mentioned is one of a different sort. It has to do with your way of answering the "why" question when it is put to you.

Perhaps you've become accustomed to answer a "why" with a "because": It's true because I say it's true. That is an easy dodge, but neither gracious nor intelligent.

In past ages of history, men were supposed to be articulate, women merely attractive. But times have changed! Women today are experts in finance and government, in the business world and in the household. Woman's place is in the home, in the office—and in the life of the community.

I hope you do take an interest in community affairs and in the broader scope of events; that you participate in welfare and in political groups, just as you do in purely social activities. If so, then you must be able to speak up in behalf of your own plans and opinions; to give thoughtful answers when someone asks why you believe, or why you do thus-and-so.

Afterwards Answers

Virtually everyone finds himself in a situation, now and then, where the answer that comes to mind afterwards is more clever, more satisfactory, than the answer given at the time. The people who experience this least often are the most articulate people.

You'll discover you can cut down on the number of times this situation occurs if you outline in your mind the possible why's and wherefore's before questions are asked. Then you won't be forced into vague "because" answers.

'Go Go White Sox' Are Going Fast

CHAMPIONS SWEEP TWIN BILL

Mantle, Byrd, Sain Star In Wins; Cleveland Keeps Pace

NEW YORK (AP)— Mickey Mantle starred at bat and Johnny Sain and Harry Byrd performed brilliantly on the mound as the New York Yankees swept both ends of a doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox today 4-3 and 11-1. The twin victories enabled the Yankees to stay within a half game of the Cleveland Indians who also swept a doubleheader, whipping the Boston Red Sox 6-3 and 5-2.

Mantle collected four hits for the day, including his 20th home run of the season, and drove in two runs in each game to tie Chicago's Minnie Minoso with 74 RBIs. His single in the eighth inning of the opener tied the score at 3-3 and his homer in the 10th broke up the game.

Sain, making his 31st relief appearance in the ninth inning of the first game, retired six straight batters to register his fifth victory of the season against two losses. The Yankees have won the last 5 games in which Sain has appeared.

Byrd had a shutout until the ninth of the nightcap. He permitted five hits, two in the ninth, for his sixth victory against five defeats.

The White Sox, in losing the series to New York three games to one, now trail the Indians by 6½ games and the Yankees by six.

Billy Pierce started the second game for Chicago and Manager Paul Richards allowed him to go all the way despite 11 runs and 12 Yankee hits that included home runs by Yogi Berra and Bill Skowron. Berra also homered in the first game.

Brooks Stop Redlegs, 8-5

CINCINNATI (AP) — Although he had to have help from Jim Hughes, Don Newcombe hurled his first pitching victory since June 23 Thursday as the Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the Cincinnati Redlegs, 8 to 5. Newcombe was aided by a lusty 13 hit attack which included home runs by Duke Snider and Pee Wee Reese.

Newcombe, who now has a 6-5 record, also scored his last triumph against the Reds.

He was shelled out in the seventh, however, when the Redlegs used two hits, two walks and an error for a pair of runs.

The Dodger doubles included two by rookie Sandy Amoros, who has hit five doubles in his 11 times at bat for the Brooks. The other two-baser was by Carl Furillo in the second inning and that was his sixth straight hit against Redleg pitching. The string ended in the fourth, however, when he popped to Roy McMillan.

Detroit Homers Defeat A's 9-4

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A pair of two-run homers by Jim Delsing and Harvey Kuenn and bases-empty round trippers by Wayne Belardi and Frank Bolling overpowered the Philadelphia Athletics as the Detroit Tigers took a 9-4 decision before a sparse crowd of 1,675 Thursday.

Giants Beaten By Cubs, 13-5

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs scored 11 runs, seven of them unearned, in the seventh and eighth innings to defeat the first place New York Giants, 13-5, before a Ladies' Day turnout of 29,136 Thursday.

The victory, the Chicagoans' seventh in the last 10 games, earned the seventh placers a 1-1 series standoff.

Rookie Jimmy Davis gained his fifth straight triumph with eighth inning assistance from Bill Tremel, another rookie.

Randy Jackson hit his 18th and 19th homers and Gene Baker blasted an inside-the-park round tripper for his 10th.

Two Bobs Tip Bosox

BOSTON (AP)—The league-leading Cleveland Indians combined longball hitting with tight pitching performances by veterans Bob Feller and Bob Lemon Thursday to sweep a doubleheader from Boston 6-3 and 5-2 in Fenway Park.

Lemon, now 10-5, held the Red Sox hitless until his pitching rival Skinny Brown bounced a one-out single over the head of third baseman Al Smith in the sixth inning of the nightcap.

Lemon got rattled and yielded a hit to Billy Consolo and uncorked a wild pitch, but then settled down until the ninth. Ted Williams led off that inning with a single and rookie Harry Agganis homered but that ended Boston's scoring.

The twin triumphs gave Cleveland a 13-1 margin against the Red Sox this season. The Indians now have won seven of their last eight in the tight American League pennant scramble.

McQuillen, Stewart Combine To Beat Sox 4-3

By NORRIS ANDERSON
Sports Editor, The Star

Red McQuillen's lethal flail went marauding Thursday night and blazed the Lincoln Chiefs to a 4-3 upbraiding of the Colorado Springs Sky Sox before 912 Sherman Field patriots.

Sky Sox hopes were socked into a temporary state of apprehension as the senior redhead blasted home three Lincoln runs and Pitcher Frank Stewart, aside from a temporary lapse in the ninth, was an arm of might.

Steadily growing fatter off Red's productive bat, the Chiefs led 4-1 heading into the ninth.

Hal Rhyne's single to right caused a minimum of anxiety. When Stewart bore down and fanned the next two batters, the crowd started easing for the exits.

Catcher Doug Cossey, reputedly a soft touch, stepped up like Stan Musial and casually slapped one of Stewart's fastballs over the rightfield fence.

A bit slack-jawed by this bit of rudeness, the citizens paused in the aisles long enough to watch Stewart fan pinch-hitter Don Bradey and end the game.

Now atop a two-game victory chain, the Chiefs will depend on Vance Carlson (6-5) to add another link tonight against the Sky Sox lefthander, Don Rudolph (6-6), in a single game at 8 o'clock.

Lincoln's past performance against southpaws hints that Rudolph, if he can find the plate, may make reindeers of Wietelmann's worthies.

Plucky little Mel Rue, a hard luck guy these days, was nailed on the wrist by one of starter Don Dahlke's sweeps in the first. After medical scrutiny, Mel stayed on base, reached second when Johnny Jones walked and came bounding home on Red McQuillen's bad hop single over Al Jacinto's noggin.

Rue was on base with a walk in the third when the rampaging redhead laced a liner in front of centerfielder Max Bunyard. Whoops! The ball bounced clean over Maxie's dome for a triple.

Pausing at third, the joyful Red picked up a handful of pebbles and tossed 'em on the basepaths as a token of bad hops that are good to hitters.

Tom Neill's brisk ground single to center handily moved Red home.

Singles by Billy Smith and the omnipresent McQuillen, blessed by an error, presented the Chiefs with an unearned run in the fifth.

FRANK STEWART

It turned out to be the decider.

Colorado Springs picked up another unearned score in the seventh on two errors and a double by Bunyard, former Oklahoma A. & M. athlete. One of the errors was on a throw by Rue after a difficult play. Umpire Ray Cox claimed the toss pulled Jones who had a foot jump on the runner, slightly off the bag.

Wigwam notes . . . McQuillen's banner evening hiked his plate average from .323 to .331 . . . Stewart was pitching with a pulled muscle in his left leg . . . It was heavily bandaged . . . 'I Don't Want It,' Says Porky

Ed Oliver Cops PGA Medalist Honors

By WILL GRIMSLEY

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Ed (Porky) Oliver, the portly, sharp-putting jester from Lemont, Ill., reluctantly won the low qualifying medal in the Professional Golfers Assn. tournament Thursday with a 36-hole score of 136, six under par.

"I don't want it—somebody take it quick," the 220-pound funster said after bracketing a one-under-par 70 to his opening 66 over the par-71 Keller Club course.

"They can have the low medal and the $250 that goes with it. This thing is a jinx. I'd rather sleep tonight."

Oliver barely beat out Jackie Burke Jr., and Cary Middlecoff, a pair of playing partners from Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., for the prize. Burke shot a 69 and Middlecoff a 68 to wind up in a tie at 137.

Into Trap

The boyish-looking Burke sprayed a tee shot and later banged into a trap on the final hole for a bogey five that speared his chances. Middlecoff, 1949 U.S. Open champion, missed four putts of under five feet.

The red-hot gallery favorite, stiff-necked Sam Snead, squeaked into the championship bracket with a second straight 73 for 146—one stroke below the 147 cutoff point. Sam's putting was wretched.

U.S. Open champion Ed Furgol qualified comfortably at 140 after shooting a steady 71 and the defending PGA titleholder, Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich. showed the boys he was still around by firing a four-under-par 67 for 141. Burkemo was exempt from qualifying.

The 67 was matched by Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N.Y., Burkemo's own choice as the "man to beat," for the best individual cards of the day.

Burkemo heads a field of 64 survivors who begin head-to-head match play battling today at 8 a.m. (CST). Two 18-hole rounds are on the first day's program, followed by 36-hole matches daily until Tuesday's final.

A Tired, Aching Sammy Snead

Sammy Snead is a tired picture after finishing the first round of the PGA tourney with a two-over-par 73 at the Keller Country Club in St. Paul, Minn. His grimace is caused by a set of sore neck muscles. (United Press Telephoto.)

Reed To Quarterfinals; Spangler Upset Victim

OMAHA (AP)—Defending Champion Whitey Reed of Lincoln won two matches Thursday in the State Men's Golf Tourney to go into the quarter-finals against Gene Chadwell of Lincoln.

In the other quarter-finals Wally Hopp of Hastings meets Carl Poling, Beatrice; Bill Martin, Omaha, meets Bob Fraser, Omaha, and Stan Stroh, Lincoln, plays Don Bell, Plattsmouth.

Reed won his second round match from Dale Wiseby, Lincoln, 8-6, then his third round match 1 up from Mark Stevens of Omaha. It was his second 1 up win of the tourney.

The big upsets Thursday were staged by Stan Stroh of Lincoln, who whipped his golfing pal, Dick Spangler Jr., also of Lincoln, 2-1, and Don Bell, Plattsmouth, who ousted Bob Astelford, Omaha ace, 3-2. Both of these were third round matches.

In a second round match Spangler had taken out former champion By Adams of Fairbury, 3-2.

WASHINGTON (AP)—On Sept. 1 the post office at Mauch Chunk, Pa., will officially become Jim Thorpe, Pa., in honor of the great Indian athlete.

Thorpe, one of the most celebrated of all football players, also starred in baseball and in track and field events. Thorpe died about a year ago from cancer and was buried in the small Pennsylvania coal mining town that is to bear his name.

Injured Pompey Has No Excuses

CHICAGO (AP) — Yolande Pompey of Trinidad, British Empire middleweight and light heavyweight champion, despite a broken right hand and a badly bruised left, Thursday declared, "I have no excuses" for losing a 10-round decision to Moses Ward.

Pompey's United State's ring debut was marred Wednesday night at Chicago Stadium by the Detroit slugger's close victory in a nationally televised bout.

Lou Burston, overseas representative for the International Boxing Club, said that Pompey injured his hands in the second round. The left hand had been broken in a bout in England early this year.

Burston said the fractured right hand possibly will sideline the 25-year-old West Indian for several months.

Dr. M. S. Corbett, attending Pompey, said the break was between the wrist and the knuckles on the back of the right hand.

After Pompey absorbed his second loss in 31 starts, he soaked his hands in ice water in his dressing room.

"They hurt, but I'm not making them an excuse for losing," he said. "Ward is a good fighter."

CHAMPIONS SWEEP TWIN BILL

Mantle, Byrd, Sain Star In Wins; Cleveland Keeps Pace

NEW YORK (AP)— Mickey Mantle starred at bat and Johnny Sain and Harry Byrd performed brilliantly on the mound as the New York Yankees swept both ends of a doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox today 4-3 and 11-1. The twin victories enabled the Yankees to stay within a half game of the Cleveland Indians who also swept a doubleheader, whipping the Boston Red Sox 6-3 and 5-2.

Mantle collected four hits for the day, including his 20th home run of the season, and drove in two runs in each game to tie Chicago's Minnie Minoso with 74 RBIs. His single in the eighth inning of the opener tied the score at 3-3 and his homer in the 10th broke up the game.

Sain, making his 31st relief appearance in the ninth inning of the first game, retired six straight batters to register his fifth victory of the season against two losses. The Yankees have won the last 5 games in which Sain has appeared.

Byrd had a shutout until the ninth of the nightcap. He permitted five hits, two in the ninth, for his sixth victory against five defeats.

The White Sox, in losing the series to New York three games to one, now trail the Indians by 6½ games and the Yankees by six.

Billy Pierce started the second game for Chicago and Manager Paul Richards allowed him to go all the way despite 11 runs and 12 Yankee hits that included home runs by Yogi Berra and Bill Skowron. Berra also homered in the first game.

Brooks Stop Redlegs, 8-5

CINCINNATI (AP) — Although he had to have help from Jim Hughes, Don Newcombe hurled his first pitching victory since June 23 Thursday as the Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the Cincinnati Redlegs, 8 to 5. Newcombe was aided by a lusty 13 hit attack which included home runs by Duke Snider and Pee Wee Reese.

Newcombe, who now has a 6-5 record, also scored his last triumph against the Reds.

He was shelled out in the seventh, however, when the Redlegs used two hits, two walks and an error for a pair of runs.

The Dodger doubles included two by rookie Sandy Amoros, who has hit five doubles in his 11 times at bat for the Brooks. The other two-baser was by Carl Furillo in the second inning and that was his sixth straight hit against Redleg pitching. The string ended in the fourth, however, when he popped to Roy McMillan.

Giants Beaten By Cubs, 13-5

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs scored 11 runs, seven of them unearned, in the seventh and eighth innings to defeat the first place New York Giants, 13-5, before a Ladies' Day turnout of 29,136 Thursday.

The victory, the Chicagoans' seventh in the last 10 games, earned the seventh placers a 1-1 series standoff.

Rookie Jimmy Davis gained his fifth straight triumph with eighth inning assistance from Bill Tremel, another rookie.

Randy Jackson hit his 18th and 19th homers and Gene Baker blasted an inside-the-park round tripper for his 10th.

Two Bobs Tip Bosox

BOSTON (AP)—The league-leading Cleveland Indians combined longball hitting with tight pitching performances by veterans Bob Feller and Bob Lemon Thursday to sweep a doubleheader from Boston 6-3 and 5-2 in Fenway Park.

Lemon, now 10-5, held the Red Sox hitless until his pitching rival Skinny Brown bounced a one-out single over the head of third baseman Al Smith in the sixth inning of the nightcap.

Lemon got rattled and yielded a hit to Billy Consolo and uncorked a wild pitch, but then settled down until the ninth. Ted Williams led off that inning with a single and rookie Harry Agganis homered but that ended Boston's scoring.

The twin triumphs gave Cleveland a 13-1 margin against the Red Sox this season. The Indians now have won seven of their last eight in the tight American League pennant scramble.

McQuillen, Stewart Combine To Beat Sox 4-3

By NORRIS ANDERSON
Sports Editor, The Star

Red McQuillen's lethal flail went marauding Thursday night and blazed the Lincoln Chiefs to a 4-3 upbraiding of the Colorado Springs Sky Sox before 912 Sherman Field patriots.

Sky Sox hopes were socked into a temporary state of apprehension as the senior redhead blasted home three Lincoln runs and Pitcher Frank Stewart, aside from a temporary lapse in the ninth, was an arm of might.

Steadily growing fatter off Red's productive bat, the Chiefs led 4-1 heading into the ninth.

Hal Rhyne's single to right caused a minimum of anxiety. When Stewart bore down and fanned the next two batters, the crowd started easing for the exits.

Catcher Doug Cossey, reputedly a soft touch, stepped up like Stan Musial and casually slapped one of Stewart's fastballs over the rightfield fence.

A bit slack-jawed by this bit of rudeness, the citizens paused in the aisles long enough to watch Stewart fan pinch-hitter Don Bradey and end the game.

Now atop a two-game victory chain, the Chiefs will depend on Vance Carlson (6-5) to add another link tonight against the Sky Sox lefthander, Don Rudolph (6-6), in a single game at 8 o'clock.

Lincoln's past performance against southpaws hints that Rudolph, if he can find the plate, may make reindeers of Wietelmann's worthies.

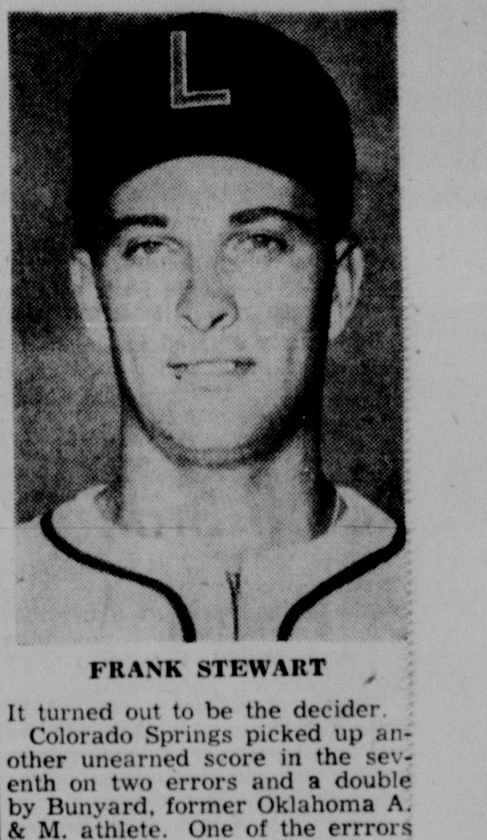
Plucky little Mel Rue, a hard luck guy these days, was nailed on the wrist by one of starter Don Dahlke's sweeps in the first. After medical scrutiny, Mel stayed on base, reached second when Johnny Jones walked and came bounding home on Red McQuillen's bad hop single over Al Jacinto's noggin.

Rue was on base with a walk in the third when the rampaging redhead laced a liner in front of centerfielder Max Bunyard. Whoops! The ball bounced clean over Maxie's dome for a triple.

Pausing at third, the joyful Red picked up a handful of pebbles and tossed 'em on the basepaths as a token of bad hops that are good to hitters.

Tom Neill's brisk ground single to center handily moved Red home.

Singles by Billy Smith and the omnipresent McQuillen, blessed by an error, presented the Chiefs with an unearned run in the fifth.



FRANK STEWART

It turned out to be the decider.

Colorado Springs picked up another unearned score in the seventh on two errors and a double by Bunyard, former Oklahoma A. & M. athlete. One of the errrors was on a throw by Rue after a difficult play. Umpire Ray Cox claimed the toss pulled Jones who had a foot jump on the runner, slightly off the bag.

Wigwam notes . . . McQuillen's banner evening hiked his plate average from .323 to .331 . . . Stewart was pitching with a pulled muscle in his left leg . . . It was heavily bandaged . . . It'll probably be Norm Brown Saturday night in the Colorado Springs finale . . . Among the interesting Sky Soxers: Hal Trosky Jr., 17-year-old son of the former major league slugger and Willie (The Knuck) Ramsdell, the old major league flutterballer . . . Willie was released by Holdrege of the Nebraska Independent League . . . Jones still leads the league in base hits with 121, although McQuillen is now hard at his heels with 120 . . . It was Wigwam Night, as well as Ladies Night . . . A young fellow named Bob Cunningham won an autographed ball from the Chiefs . . . The crowd was cut by threatening clouds an hour before game time . . . Hugh Mulcahey, the former major league hurler, viewed the game in the guise of a White Sox scout.

'I Don't Want It,' Says Porky

By WILL GRIMSLEY

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Ed (Porky) Oliver, the portly, sharp-putting jester from Lemont, Ill., reluctantly won the low qualifying medal in the Professional Golfers Assn. tournament Thursday with a 36-hole score of 136, six under par.

"I don't want it—somebody take it quick," the 220-pound funster said after bracketing a one-under-par 70 to his opening 66 over the par-71 Keller Club course.

"They can have the low medal and the $250 that goes with it. This thing is a jinx. I'd rather sleep tonight."

Oliver barely beat out Jackie Burke Jr., and Cary Middlecoff, a pair of playing partners from Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., for the prize. Burke shot a 69 and Middlecoff a 68 to wind up in a tie at 137.

Into Trap

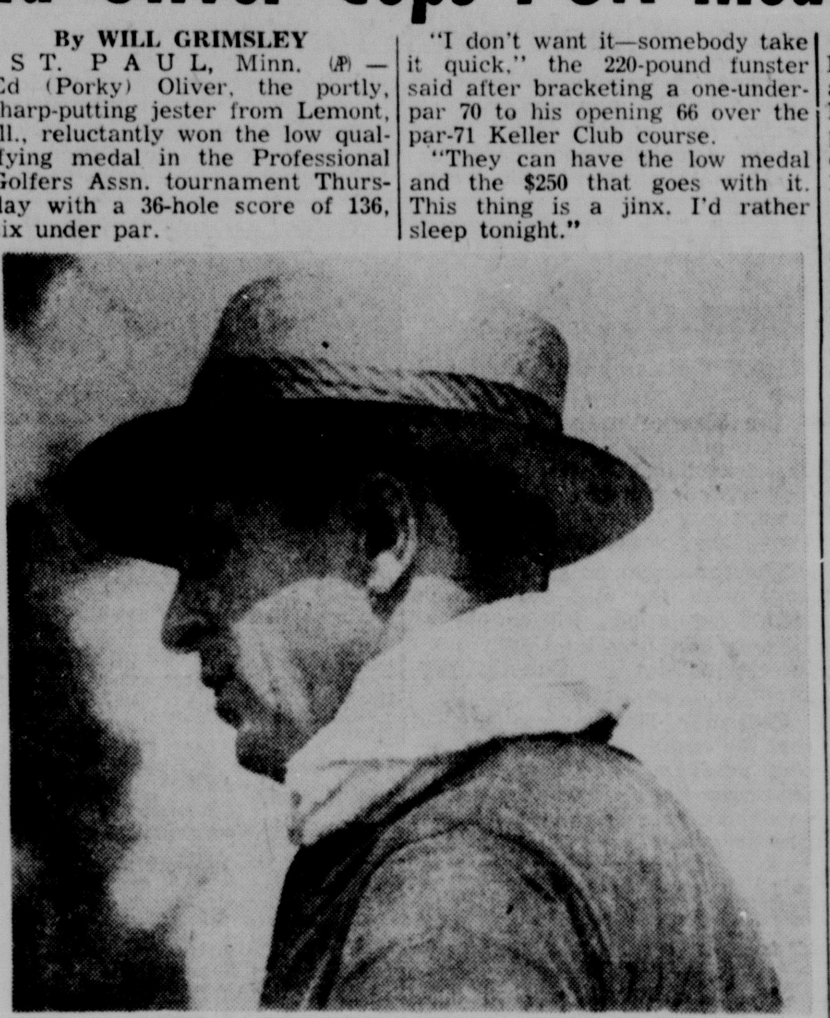
The boyish-looking Burke sprayed a tee shot and later banged into a trap on the final hole for a bogey five that speared his chances. Middlecoff, 1949 U.S. Open champion, missed four putts of under five feet.

The red-hot gallery favorite, stiff-necked Sam Snead, squeaked into the championship bracket with a second straight 73 for 146—one stroke below the 147 cutoff point. Sam's putting was wretched.

U.S. Open champion Ed Furgol qualified comfortably at 140 after shooting a steady 71 and the defending PGA titleholder, Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich. showed the boys he was still around by firing a four-under-par 67 for 141. Burkemo was exempt from qualifying.

The 67 was matched by Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N.Y., Burkemo's own choice as the "man to beat," for the best individual cards of the day.

Burkemo heads a field of 64 survivors who begin head-to-head match play battling today at 8 a.m. (CST). Two 18-hole rounds are on the first day's program, followed by 36-hole matches daily until Tuesday's final.



A Tired, Aching Sammy Snead

Sammy Snead is a tired picture after finishing the first round of the PGA tourney with a two-over-par 73 at the Keller Country Club in St. Paul, Minn. His grimace is caused by a set of sore neck muscles. (United Press Telephoto.)

Mauch Chunk To Become Jim Thorpe

WASHINGTON (AP)—On Sept. 1 the post office at Mauch Chunk, Pa., will officially become Jim Thorpe, Pa., in honor of the great Indian athlete.

Thorpe, one of the most celebrated of all football players, also starred in baseball and in track and field events. Thorpe died about a year ago from cancer and was buried in the small Pennsylvania coal mining town that is to bear his name.

Injured Pompey Has No Excuses

CHICAGO (AP) — Yolande Pompey of Trinidad, British Empire middleweight and light heavyweight champion, despite a broken right hand and a badly bruised left, Thursday declared, "I have no excuses" for losing a 10-round decision to Moses Ward.

Pompey's United State's ring debut was marred Wednesday night at Chicago Stadium by the Detroit slugger's close victory in a nationally televised bout.

Lou Burston, overseas representative for the International Boxing Club, said that Pompey injured his hands in the second round. The left hand had been broken in a bout in England early this year.

Burston said the fractured right hand possibly will sideline the 25-year-old West Indian for several months.

Dr. M. S. Corbett, attending Pompey, said the break was between the wrist and the knuckles on the back of the right hand.

After Pompey absorbed his second loss in 31 starts, he soaked his hands in ice water in his dressing room.

"They hurt, but I'm not making them an excuse for losing," he said. "Ward is a good fighter."

Babe Is Tabbed At Fort Wayne

Zaharias' Showing In Inverness Makes Her Heavy Favorite

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Babe Didrickson Zaharias held her normal favorite's rating in Fort Wayne's first Women's Open golf tournament, a 54-hole event starting today over the short but tricky Orchard Ridge course.

The winner will pick up $700 of the $3,500 purse.

The Babe's 12-stroke margin in the recent National Open and her sparkling play last weekend in the Inverness invitational at Toledo left the Fort Wayne field with no doubt as to whom it has to beat.

Other pros entered in the three-day event include Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., Western Open champion, Jackie Pung the Hawaiian slugger, Beverly Hanson of Fargo, N D, eighth-best money winner on the circuit, and Betty Hicks, LPGA tourney chairman and runnerup in the Open.

Amateur entrants include 9-year-old Lana Kaye Roberts of Chicago, 76-pound daughter of trick shot artist John Roberts, who plays consistently in the 80s.

State amateur champions Gloria Armstrong of California, Greta Leona of Illinois and Marge Burns of North Carolina also are entered.

Other pros in the field include Pat O'Sullivan, Orange, Conn.; Alice Bauer Hagge and Marlene Bauer, Sarasota, Fla.; Betty Dodd, San Antonio, Tex.; Carol Bowman, Richmond, Calif; Marilyn Smith, Wichita, Kans; Tommie Riley, Peoria, Ill; Bonnie Randolph Columbus, Ohio, Betty Bush, Hammond, Ind, Betty Mims Danoff, Santa Monica Calif, and Fay Crocker, Montevideo, Uruguay.

Yankees Sign Ralph Branca

NEW YORK, (AP) — Ralph Branca, who pitched for three World Series losers as a member of the Brooklyn Dodgers, joined the five-time World Champion New York Yankees Thursday.

The big righthander, only 28 despite nine years of big league service, had been a free agent following his unconditional release by the Detroit Tigers last week.

Branca, a native New Yorker, began his major league career with Brooklyn in 1945 and was sold to the Tigers last July. He won 21 games in his first full season with the Dodgers in 1947 but never lived up to that again.

Branca reached his lowest point in the final game of the 1951 playoffs between Brooklyn and New York when he threw that famous home run pitch to Bobby Thomson. The blow gave the Giants the pennant. Branca never quite got over that, winning only four games in the next two seasons with the Dodgers.

With Detroit this season, the 6-2, 220-pound Branca had a 3-3 record but was ineffective as a starter, failing to go the route in any of his starts. He blamed that on lack of work and insists that his arm, insured in 1952, is as good as new again.

"Ralph still has good stuff," Stengel commented "I think he'll help us.

Milwaukee Signs NWU's McGuire

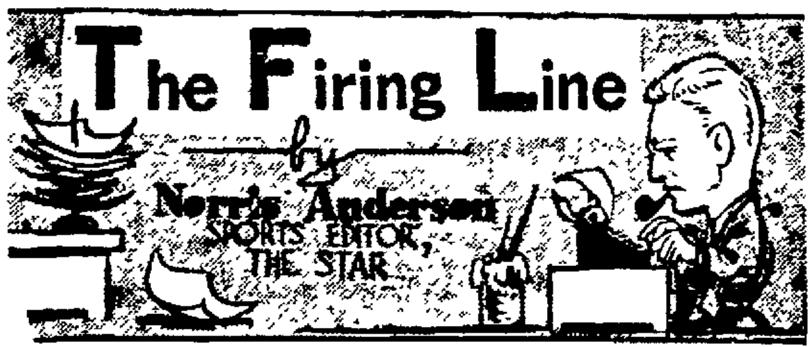
McGuire

The Knob Noster, Mo., youth will report at Waycross, Ga, for spring training with the Braves' minor league clubs next spring.

A basketball, baseball and football player at Wesleyan, McGuire was signed by scout Russ Sehon.

Sehon was in Lincoln after conducting a tryout camp at Rushville for 136 youths. After watching the Lincoln Chiefs defeat Denver Wednesday night, he stayed on to sign McGuire.

There is a chance that McGuire might play for the Chiefs, one of Milwaukee's farm clubs, in 1955.

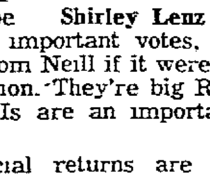


The Firing Line

by Norris Anderson Sports Editor, The Star

Time arrives for a thought toward the Western League All-Star sections. Who do the Chiefs have in the running?

Well, skippers like Andy Cohen of Denver think that First Base-Jones, Catcher Walt Linden and Pitcher Andy Bush Outfielders Andy Anderson and Red McQuillen might be getting some important votes, as would have Tom Neill if it weren't for his operation. They're big RBI guys and RBIs are an important commodity.



Shirley Lenz

The unofficial returns are already in for All-Western League secretary and Sherman Field has a winner.

She is Miss Shirley Lenz 21-year old secretary to General Manager Bill Herring.

Shirley, in her second year at Sherman Field, has been watching baseball for well over 20 years. It happened like this:

Shirley's dad, Paul Lenz, now a rancher at Bassett, is an old-time semi-pro catcher. His daughter saw her first game at the age of six weeks with Mrs. Lenz doing the holding.

By the time she was five years old, Shirley knew she wanted to be in baseball someway, either as a gal player or secretary.

The idea grew until after graduation from high school, she dropped a letter to Bill Hayes, then general manager of the Chiefs. Bill was so impressed by the sincerity of the little ranch girl that he hired her immediately as the Sherman Field secretary. She's been on the job ever since and has gained a lot of friends in lincoln.

Her ambition? To someday be a secretary in the big leagues either with Milwaukee or Brooklyn, her two favorite teams.

Who are the best players she's seen in the Western League? Well, that would be Len Johnson and Sam Hairston of Colorado Springs and Curt Roberts of Denver.

Her working hours? Pretty irregular, sometimes from 9 a.m. until 11 p m, when there's a game. She loves every moment of it.

Shirley is hoping her kid brother, Mickey, 14 turns into a pro baseball player. If so, Mickey will have an expert to type up his first contract.

Name of Shirley Lenz. Has freckles, big brown eyes, and knows her baseball.

Here's a couple for the road.

Bobo Newsom, the famous traveler, was promised a Detroit bonus if he won 20 games in 1940.

By late September, Bobo had 19 racked up and was slated to start the second game of a doubleheader. But the opening-game pitcher was in trouble in the ninth and Manager Del Baker signaled his bullpen.

To Baker's surprise, out came Bobo, entirely on his own.

"If Bobo ain't worryin' none, you should either," announced the famous traveler.

Bobo won the first game, in extra innings, and the second one, too.

Joe McCarthy, the old Yankee skipper, used to be an agile agent with his conversational footwork.

Asked his spring training opinion of the Yankees' chances, Joe would say: "Can't tell yet. Gotta wait until they get on a big field."

When they got on the big fields (in the majors) he would say: "Nope, gotta swing around the whole league before I know."

After the Yankees had made their tour: "Gotta see what the other fellows do in our park."

In late September with the Yankees some 25 games ahead: "We have a good chance."

A conservative sort, Joe.

Fund Raising Wheels Start Turning

The $40,000 grant-in-aid athletic scholarship fund drive officially opened at the University of Nebraska Thursday when the four-man sub-committee approved the campaign issue of the Nebraska Alumnus. $40,000 Grant-In-Aid Drive Launched By Alumnus Issue

Wheels were turning Thursday for the drive to raise $40,000 in grant-in-aid funds for University of Nebraska athletes.

The special "fund raising" issue of the Nebraska Alumnus, official publication of the Nebraska Alumni Association, has gone to press.

A four-man sub-committee consisting of Chairman Elsworth Du Teau, Athletic Director Bill Orwig, Editor Phil Holman and Alumni Secretary James S. Pittenger, gave the final okay that started the campaign issue rolling.

The 32-page magazine will be in the mails not later than Aug. 15, according to Chairman Du Teau. A copy will be sent to each graduate or former student at the University, approximately 80,000.

The campaign, in strict accordance with the Big Seven and NCAA regulations, will enable the University's Athletic Department to expand its grant-in-aid program this year.

Chairman DuTeau emphasized that the campaign "will be a one-shot program" and said that by next year the athletic department should be able to support the entire program.

Bannister, Landy, Santee Go Slated

NEW ORLEANS (INS)—The general manager of the Sugar Bowl Association said Thursday he is confident he can arrange a mile race between Roger Bannister, John Landy and Wes Santee.

Fred Digby made the statement as he left New Orleans for Vancouver, B C, and the British Empire Track and Field Games where England's Bannister and Australia's Landy will compete. Digby said he hopes to have the "dream race" in the Sugar Bowl track meet New Year's Eve.

Santee set a new Sugar Bowl mile mark last year with a 4.04 2 clocking and is now in the Marine Corps. He is expected to get a leave and defend his title. His best mark for the mile is 4.00.6.

Slade-Jackson Bout Being Planned

TV Has Not Seen Last Of Hurricane

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK —(INS) — Although Jimmy Slade showed him up for the Paluka he is and Nino Valdes stiffened him in two heats, TV addicts have not seen the last of Hurrican Jackson.

You might suppose that this eccentric character would have sunk into oblivion but, if so, you don't understand the workings of the fight racket.

Believe it or not, the International Boxing Club, already is planning a return bout between Slade and Jackson, or they may put him in with Roland La Starza.

As one official put it: "Why not? Sure, the guy's a Paluka and he can't fight a lick but what of it? The TV fans will stand still for anything. Didn't they even make a hero of Chuck Davey? So why shouldn't we continue to collect all that nice TV cabbage with Jackson?"

And another said: "Jackson may not be the most intelligent guy in the world but you got to admit he came up with a unique alibi when he attributed three knockdowns by Valdes to slippery shoes."

What about Valdes? Well, the big Cuban certainly proved that with no handcuffs on him, he can certainly handle a Jackson.

But could he handle a Rocky Marciano?

Valdes is now shouting for the first crack at Marciano but he won't get it. Marciano will take Ezzard Charles again in September and probably take him fast this next time.

That leaves Valdes available for a nice date with Marciano in Miami next February.

The race crowd will still be there and you may be sure there will be a heavy influx of Cubans from Havana. The gate should be tremendous and the TV money away up in the stratosphere.

And what are Valdes' chances of licking Marciano? Just about what yours would be.

Zaharias' Showing In Inverness Makes Her Heavy Favorite

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Babe Didrickson Zaharias held her normal favorite's rating in Fort Wayne's first Women's Open golf tournament, a 54-hole event starting today over the short but tricky Orchard Ridge course.

The winner will pick up $700 of the $3,500 purse.

The Babe's 12-stroke margin in the recent National Open and her sparkling play last weekend in the Inverness invitational at Toledo left the Fort Wayne field with no doubt as to whom it has to beat.

Other pros entered in the three-day event include Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., Western Open champion; Jackie Pung, the Hawaiian slugger; Beverly Hanson of Fargo, N.D., eighth-best money winner on the circuit, and Betty Hicks, LPGA tourney chairman and runnerup in the Open.

Amateur entrants include 9-year-old Lana Kaye Roberts of Chicago, 76-pound daughter of trick shot artist John Roberts, who plays consistently in the 80s.

State amateur champions Gloria Armstrong of California, Greta Leona of Illinois and Marge Burns of North Carolina also are entered.

Other pros in the field include Pat O'Sullivan, Orange, Conn.; Alice Bauer Hagge and Marlene Bauer, Sarasota, Fla.; Betty Dodd, San Antonio, Tex.; Carol Bowman, Richmond, Calif.; Marilyn Smith, Wichita, Kans.; Tommie Riley, Peoria, Ill.; Bonnie Randolph Columbus, Ohio; Betty Bush, Hammond, Ind.; Betty Mims Danoff, Santa Monica Calif., and Fay Crocker, Montevideo, Uruguay.

Yankees Sign Ralph Branca

NEW YORK, (AP)—Ralph Branca, who pitched for three World Series losers as a member of the Brooklyn Dodgers, joined the five-time World Champion New York Yankees Thursday.

The big righthander, only 28 despite nine years of big league service, had been a free agent following his unconditional release by the Detroit Tigers last week.

Branca, a native New Yorker, began his major league career with Brooklyn in 1945 and was sold to the Tigers last July. He won 21 games in his first full season with the Dodgers in 1947 but never lived up to that again.

Branca reached his lowest point in the final game of the 1951 playoffs between Brooklyn and New York when he threw that famous home run pitch to Bobby Thomson. The blow gave the Giants the pennant. Branca never quite got over that, winning only four games in the next two seasons with the Dodgers.

With Detroit this season, the 6-2, 220-pound Branca had a 3-3 record but was ineffective as a starter, failing to go the route in any of his starts. He blamed that on lack of work and insists that his arm, insured in 1952, is as good as new again.

"Ralph still has good stuff," Stengel commented. "I think he'll help us.

Milwaukee Signs NWU's McGuire

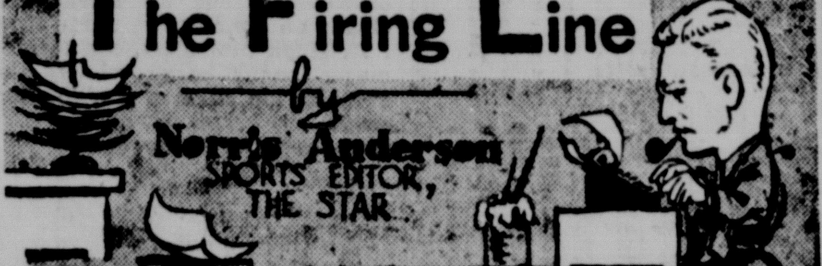
McGuire

The Knob Noster, Mo., youth will report at Waycross, Ga., for spring training with the Braves' minor league clubs next spring.

A basketball, baseball and football player at Wesleyan, McGuire was signed by scout Russ Sehon.

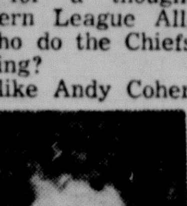
Sehon was in Lincoln after conducting a tryout camp at Rushville for 136 youths. After watching the Lincoln Chiefs defeat Denver Wednesday night, he stayed on to sign McGuire.

There is a chance that McGuire might play for the Chiefs, one of Milwaukee's farm clubs, in 1955.



Time arrives for a thought toward the Western League All-Star sections. Who do the Chiefs have in the running?

Well, skippers like Andy Cohen of Denver think that First Base-Jones, Catcher Walt Linden and Pitcher Andy Bush Outfielders Andy Anderson and Red McQuillen might be getting some important votes, as would have Tom Neill if it weren't for his operation. They're big RBI guys and RBIs are an important commodity.



Shirley Lenz

The unofficial returns are already in for All-Western League secretary and Sherman Field has a winner.

She is Miss Shirley Lenz, 21-year old secretary to General Manager Bill Herring.

Shirley, in her second year at Sherman Field, has been watching baseball for well over 20 years. It happened like this:

Shirley's dad, Paul Lenz, now a rancher at Bassett, is an old-time semi-pro catcher. His daughter saw her first game at the age of six weeks with Mrs. Lenz doing the holding.

By the time she was five years old, Shirley knew she wanted to be in baseball someway, either as a gal player or secretary.

The idea grew until after graduation from high school, she dropped a letter to Bill Hayes, then general manager of the Chiefs. Bill was so impressed by the sincerity of the little ranch girl that he hired her immediately as the Sherman Field secretary. She's been on the job ever since and has gained a lot of friends in lincoln.

Her ambition? To someday be a secretary in the big leagues either with Milwaukee or Brooklyn, her two favorite teams.

Who are the best players she's seen in the Western League? Well, that would be Len Johnson and Sam Hairston of Colorado Springs and Curt Roberts of Denver.

Her working hours? Pretty irregular, sometimes from 9 a.m. until 11 p.m., when there's a game. She loves every moment of it.

Shirley is hoping her kid brother, Mickey, 14, turns into a pro baseball player. If so, Mickey will have an expert to type up his first contract.

Name of Shirley Lenz. Has freckles, big brown eyes, and knows her baseball.

Here's a couple for the road.

Bobo Newsom, the famous traveler, was promised a Detroit bonus if he won 20 games in 1940.

By late September, Bobo had 19 racked up and was slated to start the second game of a doubleheader. But the opening-game pitcher was in trouble in the ninth and Manager Del Baker signaled his bullpen.

To Baker's surprise, out came Bobo, entirely on his own.

"If Bobo ain't worryin' none, you should either," announced the famous traveler.

Bobo won the first game, in extra innings, and the second one, too.

Joe McCarthy, the old Yankee skipper, used to be an agile agent with his conversational footwork.

Asked his spring training opinion of the Yankees' chances, Joe would say: "Can't tell yet. Gotta wait until they get on a big field."

When they got on the big fields (in the majors) he would say: "Nope, gotta swing around the whole league before I know."

After the Yankees had made their tour: "Gotta see what the other fellows do in our park."

In late September with the Yankees some 25 games ahead: "We have a good chance."

A conservative sort, Joe.

Fund Raising Wheels Start Turning

The $40,000 grant-in-aid athletic scholarship fund drive officially opened at the University of Nebraska Thursday when the four-man sub-committee approved the campaign issue of the Nebraska Alumnus. Left to right, seated: Bill Orwig, athletic director, and Elsworth DuTeau, chairman of the drive. $40,000 Grant-In-Aid Drive Launched By Alumnus Issue

Wheels were turning Thursday for the drive to raise $40,000 in grant-in-aid funds for University of Nebraska athletes.

The special "fund raising" issue of the Nebraska Alumnus, official publication of the Nebraska Alumni Association, has gone to press.

A four-man sub-committee consisting of Chairman Elsworth Du Teau, Athletic Director Bill Orwig, Editor Phil Holman and Alumni Secretary James S. Pittenger, gave the final okay that started the campaign issue rolling.

The 32-page magazine will be in the mails not later than Aug. 15, according to Chairman Du Teau. A copy will be sent to each graduate or former student at the University, approximately 80,000.

The campaign, in strict accordance with the Big Seven and NCAA regulations, will enable the University's Athletic Department to expand its grant-in-aid program this year.

Chairman DuTeau emphasized that the campaign "will be a one-shot program" and said that by next year the athletic department should be able to support the entire program.

Bannister, Landy, Santee Go Slated

NEW ORLEANS (INS)—The general manager of the Sugar Bowl Association said Thursday he is confident he can arrange a mile race between Roger Bannister, John Landy and Wes Santee.

Fred Digby made the statement as he left New Orleans for Vancouver, B.C., and the British Empire Track and Field Games where England's Bannister and Australia's Landy will compete. Digby said he hopes to have the "dream race" in the Sugar Bowl track meet New Year's Eve.

Santee set a new Sugar Bowl mile mark last year with a 4:04.2 clocking and is now in the Marine Corps. He is expected to get a leave and defend his title. His best mark for the mile is 4:00.6.

Slade-Jackson Bout Being Planned

TV Has Not Seen Last Of Hurricane

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK —(INS) — Although Jimmy Slade showed him up for the Paluka he is and Nino Valdes stiffened him in two heats, TV addicts have not seen the last of Hurrican Jackson.

You might suppose that this eccentric character would have sunk into oblivion but, if so, you don't understand the workings of the fight racket.

Believe it or not, the International Boxing Club, already is planning a return bout between Slade and Jackson, or they may put him in with Roland La Starza.

As one official put it: "Why not? Sure, the guy's a Paluka and he can't fight a lick but what of it? The TV fans will stand still for anything. Didn't they even make a hero of Chuck Davey? So why shouldn't we continue to collect all that nice TV cabbage with Jackson?"

And another said: "Jackson may not be the most intelligent guy in the world but you got to admit he came up with a unique alibi when he attributed three knockdowns by Valdes to slippery shoes."

What about Valdes? Well, the big Cuban certainly proved that with no handcuffs on him, he can certainly handle a Jackson.

But could he handle a Rocky Marciano?

Valdes is now shouting for the first crack at Marciano but he won't get it. Marciano will take Ezzard Charles again in September and probably take him fast this next time.

That leaves Valdes available for a nice date with Marciano in Miami next February.

The race crowd will still be there and you may be sure there will be a heavy influx of Cubans from Havana. The gate should be tremendous and the TV money away up in the stratosphere.

And what are Valdes' chances of licking Marciano? Just about what yours would be.

Reynolds Tired; Bowring Presides; Morse Fresh As Great Moment Passes

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—At 10 a.m. Thursday the Senate put in its 24th consecutive hour of steady debate on the atomic energy bill.

The great moment passed completely uncelebrated.

'Pvt.' Morse

Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga), who in his 31 years of service in the Senate has seen a lot of this sort of thing, leaned back in his chair. He looked tired.

One of the Senate's newest members, Sam Reynolds (R-Neb), slumped in his seat. He looked tired, Sen. William F. Knowland, the Republican leader from California& sat sort of bunched up in his chair. He looked tired, rumpled and unhappy.

Presiding over the Senate was another new member, Eva Bowring of Nebraska. From the press gallery directly overhead it was impossible to tell how the onetime cowgirl looked, but she didn't appear overly enthusiastic about her new job of riding herd on senators.

The only other senator on the floor was Wayne Morse, the independent from Oregon. He was speaking—as he had been for almost five hours.

Morse looked fresh as a daisy.

While other senators wandered wearily in and out, Morse remained in excellent fettle. His blue suit stayed neatly pressed, the flower in his buttonhole seemed optimistic, and although he isn't exactly overset with hair, what he has, stayed slicked down perfectly.

Morse doesn't like the atomic energy bill, and he was paying tribute to those who don't like it either. Especially Sens. Albert Gore (D-Tenn) and Lister Hill (D-Ala).

"I was willing to enlist in the rear ranks of any parliamentary army," Morse said. "It's a great honor to serve under their generalship."

Some of those who favor the bill seemed to stir uneasily when Morse said:

"Here's one private that will march forward for days and weeks to come."

Under the rules, a man must stay on his feet and in his place if he is to retain his rights to the floor. Morse obeyed the rules. Now and then he would lean comfortably on the lectern in front of him. Now and then he would sip tea. But the steady flow of talk—nearly all of it on the issue—never faltered.

Morse even showed he could carry on two talks at once. Gen. Hill, for instance, came over for a consultation with Pvt. Morse.

Morse would say a few words aloud, whisper a few to Hill, say a few aloud, whisper a few more to Hill. Both conversations seemed to go along nicely.

Once Morse was asked how long he expected to keep going.

Batting Practice

"I am not going to speak at great length—for me," said Morse, who holds the course record with a speech lasting 22 hours and 26 minutes.

As a matter of fact, Morse said, this hardly should be counted as a speech at all.

"I need this," he said cheerfully, "as a sort of batting practice."

Well, after batting around for 6 hours and 14 minutes, Morse figured he had practiced enough for one day, and sat down.

Instead of rushing away, as one might think he would, Morse hung around to laugh and joke with other senators.

Gore then took over and took issue, mildly, with Morse.

"There are no private in the U.S. Senate," Gore said.

There appeared to be plenty of generals though, all talkative.

Congratulations

Improvements At Fairgrounds Total $100,000

More than $100,000 is being spent this year on new buildings and improvements at the State Fairgrounds, Fair Board Secretary Ed Schultz said.

Biggest project undertaken this year is the construction of a $60,000 brick veneer building to house the poultry, pigeon and rabbit shows. It will be completed in time for the 1954 Fair, Sept. 5-10.

Over-all size of the building is 300 by 70 feet. In the front is a 20x60 two-story area which will house offices. Along the 300 foot back wall will be a covered porch. Total inside exhibit space will amount to 21,000 square feet.

During the "off" season, the building will be used for trade shows, according to Schultz.

Other major improvement projects undertaken this year include a hay barn to replace the one that was destroyed by fire last year; a tool and work shop; remodeling on the Industrial Arts building to provide dormitory space for 4-H club boys; and a race track re-conditioning program.

Realty Investment Co. Asks Assessed Value Reduction

Realty Investment Co. has asked the Lancaster District Court to order the 1954 assessed valuation on its property at 1228 P fixed at $27,500.

In its petition, the company appeals from action of the Lancaster County Board of Equalization fixing the assessed value on the property at $32,500.

Following a complaint hearing, the board had reduced the actual valuation from $72,610 to $65,000, or an assessed value of $32,500.

The company alleges that "such finding of the board was unjust, arbitrary and in violation of law" and "fixes value far in excess of fair and reasonable market value" of the property, which the company alleges is not over $55,000, or an assessed value not exceeding $27,500.

The transcript in the appeal was filed earlier in the proceedings.

23 U.S. Leaders Organize Behind McCarthy Censure Move

Power Abuse Curb Urged

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP) — Public relations counsel for 23 prominent citizens announced Thursday the group is telegraphing Senate members urging them to support a proposed resolution of censure against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis)

The telegrams endorsed a censure resolution proposed by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) as a move "to curb the flagrant abuse of power by Sen. McCarthy."

Among the announced signers are Paul G Hoffman, former foreign aid administrator; Lewis W. Douglas, former ambassador to Britain and former budget director; Will Clayton, a former undersecretary of state, and other nationally known figures.

Hoffman was a prominent member of the Citizens-for-Eisenhower Committee in 1952. Douglas also supported Eisenhower in the presidential campaign that year. Both men had previously held high positions in the Democratic administrations of former President Truman.

Most Members

Another signer was Howard C. Petersen, a Philadelphia banker who was finance chairman of the Eisenhower for President National Committee in 1952

William Frye, public relations counsel for the group, announced the telegrams were being sent to "most Senate members." They said in part.

"The issues posed by McCarthyism override all considerations of party advantage of expediency. At stake are the integrity, dignity and authority of our highest legislative body . . .

"We believe that you should disregard party and other lesser considerations and meet this issue squarely. We urge you and your colleagues to show by your vote on this issue that the Senate of the United States is prepared to assume responsibility and deal resolutely with an abuse of power or contempt of its traditions, within its own ranks, which threatens the orderly and equitable processes of our constitutional system."

'Massive'

Flanders had planned to introduce a censure resolution Tuesday, but postponed his move until July 30. One reason for the postponement, Flanders said, was his desire that the vote be "as massive and bipartisan as possible"

On another section of the McCarthy front Thursday, Sen. Mundt (R-ND) said McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee is "trying for an elemental factor in American justice" in seeking an explanation for the Defense Department's denial of clearance to Thomas W. Lavenia, office manager and assistant counsel for the subcommittee.

The Pentagon has refused to clear Lavenia to handle defense secrets and says it can't say why because that would require disclosure of confidential information. Mundt, a senior member of the subcommittee, said:

"Somebody's got to say this boy is guilty of something."

McCarthy has demanded that representatives of the Defense and Justice Departments appear at an executive session Friday to explain the clearance denial.

Lavenia himself told newsmen he thinks the reason he wasn't cleared was that in 1936, while attending St. John's University Law School in Brooklyn, N.Y., he had a brief association with the American Law Students Assn., a group McCarthy has termed leftist.

The Defense Department has also refused to clear Donal A. Surine who was shifted this week from the subcommittee's investigative staff to McCarthy's office payroll.

Morrison Claims Ike Farm Plan Could Lose Nebraskans $75,000,000

Frank Morrison, Democratic candidate for the First District Congressional seat, charged Thursday night that the Eisenhower farm program could result in a loss of $75,000,000 a year on wheat and corn receipts.

Speaking at a Furnas County Democratic rally in Arapahoe, Morrison hit at the Republican party which he said had "failed the voters on all campaign promises made before the last election.

Morrison claimed President Eisenhower promised 100 per cent parity as Kasson, Minn, but now supports Benson 75 per cent plan. The reduction from present 90 per cent supports to 75 would mean a 15 per cent loss, or about $75,000,000 on corn and wheat crops alone, in Nebraska, Morrison charged.

Morrison also cited Republican balanced budget promises and said "they have created the largest peacetime deficit in the history of our country"

He hit also at "promised tax relief" followed by "giving away 40 billion dollars of tidelands oil resources, which political maneuver will result in ever-increased property taxes for the support of Nebraska schools, now deprived of this source of revenue"

"Our problem is to find new markets, not to strangle farmers with red tape," Morrison said The object, he said "should always be abundance, not regimented scarcity."

OmahaRepublican Named To Post By Citizens For Green

The announcement was made by Paul A. Harmon, Omaha attorney and a vice chairman of the state "Citizens for Green" organization.

Moscow Discloses Trial, Execution Of Beria's Chief Henchman

. . . Accused In 'Doctor's Plot'

MOSCOW (Friday) (AP) — Pravda announced today the execution of M. D. Ryumin, chief henchman of the late Police Chief Lavrenty Beria. Ryumin was accused of master-minding the notorious "Doctor's Plot."

The Communist party paper said investigations showed Ryumin had forced the doctors to "slander themselves and other people of perpetrating the heaviest state crime — high treason, espionage, subversive activity and so on."

Pravda said the investigation showed these accusations were absolutely groundless and the persons incriminated had been fully freed."

The newspaper said the military collegium of the Supreme Court of the Soviet Union ordered Ryumin shot. The sentence already has been carried out, it added.

Pravda said:

"During his work as chief investigator and then as chief of the section of investigation of especially important cases in the former Ministry of State Security he acted as a camouflaged enemy of the Soviet state and, pursuing careerist and adventurist aims, falsified investigation material on the basis of which provocational cases were created and groundless arrests of a number of Soviet citizens, including outstanding men of medicine, were carried out."

The newspaper said Ryumin's case was heard from July 2 to July 7 under Article 58.7 of the criminal code, and the death sentence was imposed because the Court "took into consideration the special dangers of criminal activity of Ryumin and the heaviness of the consequences of the crime perpetrated by him."

The arrest of Ryumin was announced April 6, 1953. Pravda said then he had tried to arouse anti-Semitic feeling within the Soviet Union by fabricating a case against the nine doctors, several of whom were Jewish.

The "Doctor's Plot," one of the most tantalizing mysteries behind the Iron Curtain, was announced to the world in January, 1953. Apparently it had something to do with the undercover struggle for power then in full swing despite the fact that Joseph Stalin was still alive.

The original announcement from the Internal Security Ministry, of which Ryumin was a leading official, accused nine doctors of plotting to kill prominent Soviet military and civilian leaders. It charged they had done away with Andrei A. Zhdanov, a member of the Politburo, in 1948, and Alexander Shcherbakov, another prominent official, in 1945, by faulty medical treatment.

Then on April 3, last year, a very short time after Lavrenty P. Beria, Russia's secret police boss, had taken over the combined interior and internal security ministries upon the death of Stalin, it was announced that 15 doctors had been freed. There never had been any announcement of the arrest of the other six.

Drum Beats Heard In White House As David Practices

WASHINGTON (AP)—Drum beats sounded through the White House Thursday. Dwight David Eisenhower II, grandson of the President, received a handsome birdseye maple drum from its manufacturer while his beaming grandparents looked on in the President's office.

"Oh, isn't it a beauty, David!" Eisenhower exclaimed as the 6-year-old youngster solemnly removed the big drum from its carton and began beating on it with a pair of sticks.

The drum was made by the manufacturing firm of Noble Cooley, Granville, Mass , to mark its 100th anniversary. It is a Civil War type regimental drum, similar to one made by the company in 1860 and later presented to President Lincoln's son, Robert, in another White House ceremony.

With the big drum for David were two little red souvenir drums for his sister, Barbara Ann, 5, and Susan Elaine, 2, who sat perched on the President's desk.

Iron Worker Falls Eight Floors Down A Shaft; Injuries Slight

MINNEAPOLIS (INS) — An iron worker who fell more than eight floors down a shaft and escaped with a cut elbow, bruises and a slight shoulder injury had only one comment to make:

"I sure thank the Lord."

The iron rigger, Earl E. Coyour of Minneapolis, was supervising a job on the eighth floor of a new building when he stepped on a shaft cover, thinking it would hold him.

Moscow Discloses Trial, Execution Of Beria's Chief Henchman

. . . Accused In 'Doctor's Plot'

MOSCOW (Friday) (AP) — Pravda announced today the execution of M. D. Ryumin, chief henchman of the late Police Chief Lavrenty Beria. Ryumin was accused of master-minding the notorious "Doctor's Plot."

The Communist party paper said investigations showed Ryumin had forced the doctors to "slander themselves and other people of perpetrating the heaviest state crime — high treason, espionage, subversive activity and so on."

Pravda said the investigation showed these accusations were absolutely groundless and the persons incriminated had been fully freed."

The newspaper said the military collegium of the Supreme Court of the Soviet Union ordered Ryumin shot. The sentence already has been carried out, it added.

Pravda said:

"During his work as chief investigator and then as chief of the section of investigation of especially important cases in the former Ministry of State Security he acted as a camouflaged enemy of the Soviet state and, pursuing careerist and adventurist aims, falsified investigation material on the basis of which provocational cases were created and groundless arrests of a number of Soviet citizens, including outstanding men of medicine, were carried out."

The newspaper said Ryumin's case was heard from July 2 to July 7 under Article 58.7 of the criminal code, and the death sentence was imposed because the Court "took into consideration the special dangers of criminal activity of Ryumin and the heaviness of the consequences of the crime perpetrated by him."

The arrest of Ryumin was announced April 6, 1953. Pravda said then he had tried to arouse anti-Semitic feeling within the Soviet Union by fabricating a case against the nine doctors, several of whom were Jewish.

The "Doctor's Plot," one of the most tantalizing mysteries behind the Iron Curtain, was announced to the world in January, 1953. Apparently it had something to do with the undercover struggle for power then in full swing despite the fact that Joseph Stalin was still alive.

The original announcement from the Internal Security Ministry, of which Ryumin was a leading official, accused nine doctors of plotting to kill prominent Soviet military and civilian leaders. It charged they had done away with Andrei A. Zhdanov, a member of the Politburo, in 1948, and Alexander Shcherbakov, another prominent official, in 1945, by faulty medical treatment.

Then on April 3, last year, a very short time after Lavrenty P. Beria, Russia's secret police boss, had taken over the combined interior and internal security ministries upon the death of Stalin, it was announced that 15 doctors had been freed. There never had been any announcement of the arrest of the other six.

Drum Beats Heard In White House As David Practices

WASHINGTON (AP)—Drum beats sounded through the White House Thursday. Dwight David Eisenhower II, grandson of the President, received a handsome birdseye maple drum from its manufacturer while his beaming grandparents looked on in the President's office.

"Oh, isn't it a beauty, David!" Eisenhower exclaimed as the 6-year-old youngster solemnly removed the big drum from its carton and began beating on it with a pair of sticks.

The drum was made by the manufacturing firm of Noble Cooley, Granville, Mass., to mark its 100th anniversary. It is a Civil War type regimental drum, similar to one made by the company in 1860 and later presented to President Lincoln's son, Robert, in another White House ceremony.

With the big drum for David were two little red souvenir drums for his sister, Barbara Ann, 5, and Susan Elaine, 2, who sat perched on the President's desk.

U.S. Deficit Less Than Expected

$245,000,000 Under Estimate; Now Stands At $3,029,000,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower announced Thursday, with considerable pride, that the federal government's deficit on June 30 was $3,029,000,000, or $245,000,000 less than had been expected in January.

In other comparisons, he listed the $6,411,000,000 in-the-red showing of a year earlier, and the $9,922,000,000 deficit President Truman had estimated in his final budget would be the deficit on June 30, 1954.

Eisenhower said in a statement at the White House that progress has been made toward a balanced budget while cutting taxes. He said:

"Mean Great Deal"

"These fiscal achievements mean a great deal to the American people:

"1. We have made possible a program of tax cuts totalling 7½ billion dollars.

"2. We have halted inflation. The purchasing power of the dollar has varied only one-half of one cent in the past 18 months.

"3. Our people have new confidence. We are laying a firm base for a healthy and expanding economy for better national security, and for more jobs for more people."

Reduced Income

Eisenhower's report indicated that the economic downturn which set in last summer reduced the government's income by some three billion dollars below the receipts he forecast last January.

But the administration meanwhile chopped spending, mainly national security outlay a little more than enough to fit the shrinkage of its purse, by some three and a fourth billion dollars less than the January estimate.

Consequently, the government was able to wind up fiscal 1954 on June 30 with the less-than-expected deficit of $3,029,000,000.

Two-Thirds Of Way

This figure, for the first full fiscal year of the Eisenhower administration, was $6,420,000,000 less than the $9,449,000,000 by which the government overspent its income in the previous fiscal year.

Noting this, Eisenhower said in his statement that "we have come over two-thirds of the way toward balancing the budget."

Spending during the past 12 months, totalling $67,579,000,000, was $6,695,000,000 below the fiscal 1953 total, and was $10,348,000, less than spending outlined by Truman for fiscal 1954.

Receipts Told

The government's receipts in fiscal 1954 came to $164,550,000,000, which was $275,000,000 less than the year before and $3,455,000,000 less than Truman forecast.

A joint statement from Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Budget Director Rowland Hughes said national security outlays last fiscal year ran $4,068,000,000 less than in the year before and were $2,511,000,000 less than previously programmed for fiscal 1954.

Direct military spending was cut $3,465,000,000 under the total of the year before and was $1,404,000,000 under the previous estimate for fiscal 1954. Atomic Energy Commission spending ran $102,000,000 more in fiscal 1954 than the year before, but was $307,000,000 less than had been predicted.

Swift's Brookfield Butter Shortening

Cut drawn chicken into serving pieces. Rinse in cold water, drain well. Put flour, salt, pepper, and paprika in a paper bag. Shake 3 or 4 pieces of chicken in the bag at a time to coat thoroughly. Heat enough butter and shortening in a heavy skillet to make a layer ¾ inch deep. Place chicken in hot shortening. Brown on both sides. Place chicken, one layer deep, in a shallow baking pan. Brush chicken generously with melted butter. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) until tender, about 30 to 40 minutes. Baste with melted butter after 15 minutes of baking. If chicken cannot be served at once, reduce oven heat. Brush chicken with more melted butter.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. Early autumn balloting for congressional desk-room must be taken with a grain of silt.

From New England's rogue-bound coast to California's sunken dining-rooms the middle more than justifies the ends.

But in the course of catalogued items we must take the will for the deed and notarize them both.

☆ ☆ ☆

That's because a new element has been chaffed from the wheat in national politics.

☆ ☆ ☆

☆ ☆ ☆

The national bosses of both parties are busy diagnosing this astounding offshoot of tourist bias. Can it be captured by Jim Farley riding a motorcycle? Can it be swung by Tom Dewey making a door-to-door canvass on a scooter?

☆ ☆ ☆

We have only August, September and October left for making the slip that passeth all understanding. Here is a transient bloc of jolting citizens who are as maneuverable as Moseby's guerrillas. And who can follow up my stunt of 1929 when I rode my bicycle from town to town voting wet for the Literary Digest.

☆ ☆ ☆

This is a movable element in local migration. At so much per vote they can go north with the birds and south with the eggs.

☆ ☆ ☆

There was a time when the sachems of Tammany sent around carriages for the truck trade. Voters were hauled to the calibrating booths of a partisan precinct to complete their education with an arm-twisted "X".

☆ ☆ ☆

But today we have a powerful vote that furnishes its own transportation. The long, long trailers are winding. They want no detours to the poorhouse.

☆ ☆ ☆

The majorities are as interchangeable as bingo buttons.

☆ ☆ ☆

The 49th state of the union could be Alaska or Hawaii. But both are likely to be beaten to the draw by a trailer colony.

Beans Sag Again, Wheat, Corn Up

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybeans broke sharply on the Board of Trade again Thursday but the rest of the market righted itself after the previous session's drop.

An easier trend was apparent in all pits at the opening, but only in soybeans were the losses large. Trading was quiet. As the day wore on a little timid demand entered wheat and corn and they both forged ahead for moderate gains.

Wheat closed 1 to 1⅝ higher, corn 1½-2⅛ higher, oats unchanged to ¼ lower, rye 1⅞-2¼ higher, soybeans 7¼ to 10 cents lower and lard 10 to 55 cents a hundred pounds lower.

Steels Top Mart In Another Climb

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market banged out another new high Thursday in a strong advance topped by soaring prices for steels.

Almost all divisions of the market had a hand in the rise with the exception of the aircrafts which were lower.

Gains went to between one and four points in many cases, and they were fairly well distributed throughout the list.

Losses of between one and two points marked the outside range of the decline which was not pronounced.

Steels ran up rapidly when merger rumors spread through Wall Street. One of these involving Bethlehem Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube was started several days ago.

A Bethlehem spokesman said the company had no comment on the rumors. Meanwhile, two high officials of Youngstown were in New York but not talking.

Follansbee said that financial interests, not otherwise identified, had offered to buy assets of the company.

Higher with the steels were many railroads, oils, utilities, metals, motion pictures, radio-television, tobaccos, and a long list of miscellaneous issues.

The aircrafts were down and some chemicals were lower. Otherwise the losses were pretty well scattered.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained $1 at $131.20, highest point for the average since Oct. 22, 1929.

The industrial component of the average was up $1.60, railroads gained 70 cents, and the utilities were up 30 cents at a new high of $63.30.

Volume was the clue to performance. It expanded on the rise to 2,990,000 shares, second highest day of the year topped only by the 3,000,000 shares traded July 15. Wednesday's volume was 2,510,000.

The American Stock Exchange was higher in heavy trading with 660,000 shares changing hands. That compares with 510,000 shares traded Wednesday.

'Buppy,' Candidate For Hero Award, Found Strangled

IOWA CITY, Ia. (INS) — "Buppy", candidate for the 1954 dog "Hero of Heroes" citation for saving the life of her two-year-old mistress, is dead.

The 13-month old collie-shepherd dog was found strangled to death in dense underbrush on a farm near Iowa City. She apparently became entangled while chasing rabbits.

"Buppy" became a canine heroine last March 20 when she pushed little Diane Innes of Iowa City out of the path of a truck on Highway 6. The little girl had wandered several blocks from home after a neighbor boy left a gate open.

Gold Medal

Mrs. Chadwick Donnally, wife of the pastor of the Iowa City Free Methodist Church, saw the child playing in the middle of the highway—and a truck bearing down on her. Mrs. Donnally called to her husband but before he could reach the child, "Buppy" dashed to her mistress' side and pushed her to the curbing and out of danger.

For this act of heroism and devotion, Iowa City Mayor Leroy Mercer awarded "Buppy" a gold medal and a heroine's citation.

Earlier this month, "Buppy" was announced as one of five finalists in the dog "Hero of Heroes" competition sponsored by Ken-L-Ration. The winner will receive $1,000 in U.S. bonds, a gold plated leash, a gold medal and plaque, a year's supply of dog food and a citation from Illinois Gov. William G. Stratton at ceremonies in Chicago, Aug. 18.

Lingo's Release Hits Snag; Federal Acceptance Stalls

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Release of 18-year-old inmate Arnold L. Lingo from the State Penitentiary under $25 cash bond has hit a snag—at least temporarily—on the question of whether Federal authorities will accept custody of Lingo at this time.

This point was reached Thursday after the Lancaster District Court fixed bail for Lingo as a $25 cash deposit pending State appeal in the habeas corpus action brought by Lingo against Warden Herbert H. Hann.

However, Judge John L. Polk conditioned the nominal cash bond upon Lingo being taken into custody and detained by federal authorities and upon the youth being returned to the state penitentiary if released by federal authorities prior to final disposition of the habeas corpus appeal.

Habeas Corpus

Lingo's attorney, Norma VerMass, said the youth's release from the state penitentiary while the state undertakes an appeal of the habeas corpus writ, is sought so that Lingo can begin serving a two-year federal term he faces.

However, the U. S. District Attorney's office at Omaha has advised Asst. Nebraska Atty. Gen. Ralph Nelson that there's "some doubt as to whether Lingo can be accepted for federal custody at this time."

Basis of this doubt is the commitment order from the U. S. District Court at Lincoln that the federal sentence shall begin upon completion of Lingo's current state sentences and upon his being taken into custody by the U. S. marshal.

Nelson said the Omaha spokesman indicated that clearance from the Department of Justice in Washington on the action to be taken locally by federal authorities is being sought.

Lingo, who is from San Antonio, Texas, was 15 years of age when he entered the State Pententiary. He was sentenced in October, 1951, from Buffalo County to 12 years for armed robbery and five years for auto theft, terms to run concurrently.

Chain Of Events

In connection with the chain of events upon which the youth received state sentences, he was indicted in Federal Court for kidnapping and transporting two individuals over the state line.

However, counts of the indictment were dismissed except as to one hostage and Lingo was sentenced March 6, 1953, to two years federal imprisonment on this count.

Lingo was attending a Colorado Springs Bible school in September, 1951, just before he and a fellow student allegedly went on a four-state crime spree.

Stolen Wallet And Check Blanks Used In Forgery; Take Totals $450

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

Joe Kohiro lost his wallet, the Lincoln School of Commerce lost six check blanks, and six business firms in Lincoln lost a total of $450.

This was the net toll of a check artist who parlayed an offer of good will by Restauranteur Joe Kohiro of 129 No. 14th with six stolen check blanks and the laxness of six Lincoln store operators.

It happened this way: Kohiro, who operates Joe's Place, permitted a man described as around 45 and of slight build, the use of the rest room, located in the basement.

In short order, six checks from the check books of the Lincoln School of Commerce started turning up with Kohiro's forged signature. A check with the School of Commerce by Det. Carl Wise of the police department showed the blank checks had been stolen last Monday or Tuesday.

In checking the stores, which cashed the checks, it was learned that a man about 145 pounds and slightly over six feet had used Kohiro's identification, taken from Kohiro's wallet which was in his trousers in the basement, for cashing the checks.

The checks, at $75 each, amounted to $450 total. The store owners failed to check the identification, however, for Kohiro is described as being only slightly over five feet tall and weighing about 130 pounds.

Det. Wise said a description of the man included a balding from the forehead back. He was reported to have been with a slightly-built woman.

Det. Wise said he thought the check-passer was probably a professional operator, as the checks had been run through a check protector machine.

Butler Treasurer Resigns His Post

Lincoln Star Special

DAVID CITY, Neb. — Ben Brown, county treasurer of Butler County for nearly 20 years, has submitted his resignation to the County Board of Supervisors. Ill health forced him to relinquish the position effective Aug. 1. He has been hospitalized for about two weeks as a result of a heart attack.

The couny board announced acceptance of the resignation "with regret" and named the deputy county treasurer, Mrs. Verda Pool Yanek, to fill the position from Aug. 1 to Nov. 1. After the latter date, the winning candidate in the general election will take office immediately rather than waiting until the regular term of office begins in January 1955.

Mr. Brown, who is 73 years of age, has filled the office since January, 1935. He had announced several months ago his intention to retire as county treasurer at the expiration of his current term in January.

Preliminary Auditorium Toil Starts

Moore, Wilson Work On Plans, Specifications

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

Preliminary work has gotten under way on the preparation of plans and specifications for the new city auditorium.

This is ground work being laid out in general terms between Benjamin F. Moore, auditorium consultant from Spokane, Wash., and Walter F. Wilson, representing the Associated Auditorium Architects. Following a conference with city officials, the two men began what is expected to be about a week of planning on features of the auditorium to be incorporated in final working drawings.

At the conference, the question of initial operating funds for the auditorium was raised. The city legal department was asked to bring back a report on the legality of using some of the $2.5 million auditorium construction fund for operational purposes immediately after construction.

The neeed for initial operating funds was pointed out by Councilman Pat Ash who stated that some arractions require advance payments before being presented. Aside from the initial start, Ash said, the auditorium is definitely planned for a self sustaining venture.

As to size of the building, Moore stated that a seating capacity of 7,000 should be provided.

The type of presentation, he said, will determine the exact seating capacity. Those presentations such as boxing matches which take up little floor space he said, would naturally leave more space for seating.

Moore answered another question on how to keep the first floor ice skating rink from leaking down into the basement. This problem can be solved, he said, with the use of a cork flooring between the rink and the basement ceiling.

Foreign Affairs Interest Greatest, Gov. Crosby Says

HASTINGS, Neb. (AP)—Gov Robert Crosby said questions pertaining to foreign affairs have been raised most often during his campaign for the Republican nomination for the six year year Senate term.

The governor visited here for several hours with local supporters including Richard Hunter, Adams County campaign chairman, and Mrs. Alice Amen and Fred Irons chairman of the newly-formed State Republicans for Crosby Committee.

About 50 persons were on hand for the question and answer session.

The governor said economic aid to Europe should be brought to an end, but added that military aid throughout the world is still justified to stem Communist aggression.

Spare Nothing

The United States should spare nothing in being militarily prepared for defense, he declared.

Expressing belief that the Strategic Air Command and the Air Force are the principal line of defense, he said he was definitely against universal military training. He expressed belief Selective Service was more fair with its provisions to end compulsory military service when possible.

Beans Sag Again, Wheat, Corn Up

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybeans broke sharply on the Board of Trade again Thursday but the rest of the market righted itself after the previous session's drop.

An easier trend was apparent in all pits at the opening, but only in soybeans were the losses large. Trading was quiet. As the day wore on a little timid demand entered wheat and corn and they both forged ahead for moderate gains.

Wheat closed 1 to 1⅝ higher, corn 1½-2⅛ higher, oats unchanged to ¼ lower, rye 1¾-2¼ higher, soybeans 7¼ to 10 cents lower and lard 10 to 55 cents a hundred pounds lower.

Steels Top Mart In Another Climb

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market banged out another new high Thursday in a strong advance topped by soaring prices for steels.

Almost all divisions of the market had a hand in the rise with the exception of the aircrafts which were lower.

Gains went to between one and four points in many cases, and they were fairly well distributed throughout the list.

Losses of between one and two points marked the outside range of the decline which was not pronounced.

Steels ran up rapidly when merger rumors spread through Wall Street. One of these involving Bethlehem Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube was started several days ago.

A Bethlehem spokesman said the company had no comment on the rumors. Meanwhile, two high officials of Youngstown were in New York but not talking.

Follansbee said that financial interests, not otherwise identified, had offered to buy assets of the company.

Higher with the steels were many railroads, oils, utilities, metals, motion pictures, radio-television, tobaccos, and a long list of miscellaneous issues.

The aircrafts were down and some chemicals were lower. Otherwise the losses were pretty well scattered.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained $1 at $131.20, highest point for the average since Oct. 22, 1929.

The industrial component of the average was up $1.60, railroads gained 70 cents, and the utilities were up 30 cents at a new high of $63.30.

Volume was the clue to performance. It expanded on the rise to 2,890,000 shares, second highest day of the year topped only by the 3,000,000 shares traded July 15. Wednesday's volume was 2,510,000.

The American Stock Exchange was higher in heavy trading with 660,000 shares changing hands. That compares with 510,000 shares traded Wednesday.

'Buppy,' Candidate For Hero Award, Found Strangled

IOWA CITY, Ia. (INS) — "Buppy", candidate for the 1954 dog "Hero of Heroes" citation for saving the life of her two-year-old mistress, is dead.

The 13-month old collie-shepherd dog was found strangled to death in dense underbrush on a farm near Iowa City. She apparently became entangled while chasing rabbits.

"Buppy" became a canine heroine last March 20 when she pushed little Diane Innes of Iowa City out of the path of a truck on Highway 6. The little girl had wandered several blocks from home after a neighbor boy left a gate open.

Gold Medal

Mrs. Chadwick Donnally, wife of the pastor of the Iowa City Free Methodist Church, saw the child playing in the middle of the highway—and a truck bearing down on her. Mrs. Donnally called to her husband but before he could reach the child, "Buppy" dashed to her mistress' side and pushed her to the curbing and out of danger.

For this act of heroism and devotion, Iowa City Mayor Leroy Mercer awarded "Buppy" a gold medal and a heroine's citation.

Earlier this month, "Buppy" was announced as one of five finalists in the dog "Hero of Heroes" competition sponsored by Ken-L-Ration. The winner will receive $1,000 in U.S. bonds, a gold plated leash, a gold medal and plaque, a year's supply of dog food and a citation from Illinois Gov. William G. Stratton at ceremonies in Chicago, Aug. 18.

Lingo's Release Hits Snag; Federal Acceptance Stalls

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Release of 18-year-old inmate Arnold L. Lingo from the State Penitentiary under $25 cash bond has hit a snag—at least temporarily—on the question of whether Federal authorities will accept custody of Lingo at this time.

This point was reached Thursday after the Lancaster District Court fixed bail for Lingo as a $25 cash deposit pending State appeal in the habeas corpus action brought by Lingo against Warden Herbert H. Hann.

However, Judge John L. Polk conditioned the nominal cash bond upon Lingo being taken into custody and detained by federal authorities and upon the youth being returned to the state penitentiary if released by federal authorities prior to final disposition of the habeas corpus appeal.

Habeas Corpus

Lingo's attorney, Norma Ver-Mass, said the youth's release from the state penitentiary while the state undertakes an appeal of the habeas corpus writ, is sought so that Lingo can begin serving a two-year federal term he faces.

However, the U. S. District Attorney's office at Omaha has advised Asst. Nebraska Atty. Gen. Ralph Nelson that there's "some doubt as to whether Lingo can be accepted for federal custody at this time."

Basis of this doubt is the commitment order from the U. S. District Court at Lincoln that the federal sentence shall begin upon completion of Lingo's current state sentences and upon his being taken into custody by the U. S. marshal.

Nelson said the Omaha spokesman indicated that clearance from the Department of Justice in Washington on the action to be taken locally by federal authorities is being sought.

Lingo, who is from San Antonio, Texas, was 15 years of age when he entered the State Pententiary. He was sentenced in October, 1951, from Buffalo County to 12 years for armed robbery and five years for auto theft, terms to run concurrently.

Chain Of Events

In connection with the chain of events upon which the youth received state sentences, he was indicted in Federal Court for kidnapping and transporting two individuals over the state line.

However, counts of the indictment were dismissed except as to one hostage and Lingo was sentenced March 6, 1953, to two years federal imprisonment on this count.

Lingo was attending a Colorado Springs Bible school in September, 1951, just before he and a fellow student allegedly went on a four-state crime spree.

Stolen Wallet And Check Blanks Used In Forgery; Take Totals $450

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

Joe Kohiro lost his wallet, the Lincoln School of Commerce lost six check blanks, and six business firms in Lincoln lost a total of $450.

This was the net toll of a check artist who parlayed an offer of good will by Restauranteur Joe Kohiro of 129 No. 14th with six stolen check blanks and the laxness of six Lincoln store operators.

It happened this way: Kohiro, who operates Joe's Place, permitted a man described as around 45 and of slight build, the use of the rest room, located in the basement.

In short order, six checks from the check books of the Lincoln School of Commerce started turning up with Kohiro's forged signature. A check with the School of Commerce by Det. Carl Wise of the police department showed the blank checks had been stolen last Monday or Tuesday.

"In checking the stores, which cashed the checks, it was learned that a man about 145 pounds and slightly over six feet had used Kohiro's identification, taken from Kohiro's wallet which was in his trousers in the basement, for cashing the checks.

The checks, at $75 each, amounted to $450 total. The store owners failed to check the identification, however, for Kohiro is described as being only slightly over five feet tall and weighing about 130 pounds.

Det. Wise said a description of the man included a balding from the forehead back. He was reported to have been with a slightly-built woman.

Det. Wise said he thought the check-passer was probably a professional operator, as the checks had been run through a check protector machine.

Lincoln Star Special

DAVID CITY, Neb. — Ben Brown, county treasurer of Butler County for nearly 20 years, has submitted his resignation to the County Board of Supervisors. Ill health forced him to relinquish the position effective Aug. 1. He has been hospitalized for about two weeks as a result of a heart attack.

The couny board announced acceptance of the resignation "with regret" and named the deputy county treasurer, Mrs. Verda Pool Yanek, to fill the position from Aug. 1 to Nov. 1. After the latter date, the winning candidate in the general election will take office immediately rather than waiting until the regular term of office begins in January 1955.

Preliminary Auditorium Toil Starts

Moore, Wilson Work On Plans, Specifications

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

Preliminary work has gotten under way on the preparation of plans and specifications for the new city auditorium.

This is ground work being laid out in general terms between Benjamin F. Moore, auditorium consultant from Spokane, Wash., and Walter F. Wilson, representing the Associated Auditorium Architects. Following a conference with city officials, the two men began what is expected to be about a week of planning on features of the auditorium to be incorporated in final working drawings.

At the conference, the question of initial operating funds for the auditorium was raised. The city legal department was asked to bring back a report on the legality of using some of the $2.5 million auditorium construction fund for operational purposes immediately after construction.

The neeed for initial operating funds was pointed out by Councilman Pat Ash who stated that some arractions require advance payments before being presented. Aside from the initial start, Ash said, the auditorium is definitely planned for a self sustaining venture.

As to size of the building, Moore stated that a seating capacity of 7,000 should be provided.

The type of presentation, he said, will determine the exact seating capacity. Those presentations such as boxing matches which take up little floor space, he said, would naturally leave more space for seating.

Moore answered another question on how to keep the first floor ice skating rink from leaking down into the basement. This problem can be solved, he said, with the use of a cork flooring between the rink and the basement ceiling.

Foreign Affairs Interest Greatest, Gov. Crosby Says

HASTINGS, Neb. (AP)—Gov. Robert Crosby said questions pertaining to foreign affairs have been raised most often during his campaign for the Republican nomination for the six year year Senate term.

The governor visited here for several hours with local supporters including Richard Hunter, Adams County campaign chairman, and Mrs. Alice Amen and Fred Irons chairman of the newly-formed State Republicans for Crosby Committee.

About 50 persons were on hand for the question and answer session.

The governor said economic aid to Europe should be brought to an end, but added that military aid throughout the world is still justified to stem Communist aggression.

Spare Nothing

The United States should spare nothing in being militarily prepared for defense, he declared.

Expressing belief that the Strategic Air Command and the Air Force are the principal line of defense, he said he was definitely against universal military training. He expressed belief Selective Service was more fair with its provisions to end compulsory military service when possible.

Tractor Meet Plans Readied

Several thousand farmers from all parts of Nebraska, and adjoining states are expected to attend the third annual tractor power and safey program Friday at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, starting at 9 a.m.

The all day program will include latest tractor research information, discussions, demonstrations and contests, says Professor Lloyd W. Hurlbut, chairman of Agricultural Engineering Department.

Those attending the event will be given a glimpse of the past, present and future in tractor power, Hurlbut added. Out of the past, a running model of The Waterloo Boy, first tractor tested at the Nebraska Tractor Lab, will be presented for comparison with a parade of modern tractors that have been tested this past year.

Two experimental forms of farm power will also be shown. One will be a new engine design, using a 12 to one compression ratio and special fuel, presented by Oliver tractor manufacturer. The other attraction—International's Electrall, which incorporates the generation of electricity to be used for stand-by power on the farm and for transmitting power to machinery being pulled by the tractor. Both are strictly experimental models, Hurlbut pointed out.

Rigid Price Props Necessary—Carson

ORD, Neb. (AP)—State Sen. Hugh Carson of Ord, candidate for the Republican short term senatorial nomination, told a group of farmers here rigid price supports are an "absolute necessity" to keep the farmer solvent and the small businessman operating. Home from Lincoln on a short campaign swing, Carson said:

"Our present economy is geared to rigid supports. If they are withdrawn now it will break every tenant farmer in Nebraska.

"The small businessman, who depends on the farmer, will be the next to feel the withdrawal of rigid supports. When the farmer goes bankrupt he'll drag every associated business down with him."

Tractor Meet Plans Readied

Several thousand farmers from all parts of Nebraska, and adjoining states are expected to attend the third annual tractor power and safey program Friday at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, starting at 9 a.m.

The all day program will include latest tractor research information, discussions, demonstrations and contests, says Professor Lloyd W. Hurlbut, chairman of Agricultural Engineering Department.

Those attending the event will be given a glimpse of the past, present and future in tractor power, Hurlbut added. Out of the past, a running model of The Waterloo Boy, first tractor tested at the Nebraska Tractor Lab, will be presented for comparison with a parade of modern tractors that have been tested this past year.

Two experimental forms of farm power will also be shown. One will be a new engine design, using a 12 to one compression ratio and special fuel, presented by Oliver tractor manufacturer. The other attraction—International's Electrall, which incorporates the generation of electricity to be used for stand-by power on the farm and for transmitting power to machinery being pulled by the tractor. Both are strictly experimental models, Hurlbut pointed out.

Rigid Price Props Necessary—Carson

ORD, Neb. (AP)—State Sen. Hugh Carson of Ord, candidate for the Republican short term senatorial nomination, told a group of farmers here rigid price supports are an "absolute necessity" to keep the farmer solvent and the small businessman operating. Home from Lincoln on a short campaign swing, Carson said:

"Our present economy is geared to rigid supports. If they are withdrawn now it will break every tenant farmer in Nebraska.

"The small businessman, who depends on the farmer, will be the next to feel the withdrawal of rigid supports. When the farmer goes bankrupt he'll drag every associated business down with him."

275-Mile 'Dustless' Highway Plan Set

$8 Million Program Announced

First section of the two-year highway program proposed to start next year under the sufficiency rating system was announced Thursday by Gov. Robert Crosby. It consists of providing dustless surface on 275 miles of adequately graded and drained gravel roads carrying in excess of 300 vehicles a day.

Estimated cost is $8,250,000, half of which will be paid from federal funds. It will require about one-fourth of the estimated $35,000,000 to be provided for highway improvement.

The first two-year program which was submitted to the last Legislature only called for an expenditure of $3,500,000 for the transition from gravel to dustless surface. However, when it became apparent that about $4,000,000 would be available after carrying out the program an additional 125 miles of dustless surfacing was announced.

Now Catching Up

Two years ago there were a total of 1,270 miles of gravel highways built to standards suitable for hard surfacing. These roads were built before the repeal of the added one cent gasoline tax, by a referendum vote, with the intention of adding hard surfacing.

The highway department explains that they are now endeavoring to catch up on this backlog. The program to go into effect next July 1 includes 27 projects.

Balance of the program will be announced in November, the governor said, after new sufficiency rating studies are completed. The present two year program was not completed and announced until the Legislature was in session in February

The hard surfacing plans, as well as the entire two-year program being drawn up, are contingent upon the continuation of present revenue measures by the next Legislature.

The six cents of state gas tax now being collected is scheduled to revert to five cents on May 10 of next year unless the 1955 Legislature extends the period for collection of the extra cent of gas.

The specific projects selected for hard surfacing under the forthcoming program:

Ankenys Return From Long Tour Of West Europe

Judge and Mrs. Harry Ankeny can now be classified as seasoned tourists. They have just returned from a two and a half month tour of Western Europe.

The highlight of the trip, Mrs. Ankeny said, was a visit to Hitler's "eagle's nest" in Bavaria.

The Ankeny's visited 10 countries in Europe, missing only Norway and Sweden.

However, they did not follow the usual tourist routes They were "driven everywhere" by their son, Lt. Robert Ankeny and his wife, the former Jo Ann Todd Lt. Ankeny has been stationed with the Air Force at Bitburg, Germany, for the last year.

The Ankeny's also had an unusual trip home. They took the Southern route, sailing from Naples and visiting the Mediterranean ports of Geona, Cannes and Gibraltar.

But the best part of the trip is being back in Lincoln, Mrs. Ankeny said

Marine Corps Air Reservists Busy At Cherry Point

Lincoln Star Special

CHERRY POINT, N C—Marine Corps Air Reservists from Lincoln are busy almost every moment during their two-week training period at Cherry Point.

When the weather is clear and the ceiling unlimited, planes fill the sky all day long according to the training schedule.

However, when the weather turns "foul," there is sufficient work outlined to fill the days for pilots and crews.

Air Reservists are fliers, but they are also Marines which means keeping up on infantry tactics.

"Foul weather schedules" list such classroom instruction as M1 rifle, hand and arms signals, shelter halves (tents), technique of command, uniform code of military justice, history of the Marine Corps, the uniform, and chemical warfare.

Marine training for all personnel participating in the annual summer maneuvers at Cherry Point goes on every day, regardless of the weather.

$8 Million Program Announced

First section of the two-year highway program proposed to start next year under the sufficiency rating system was announced Thursday by Gov. Robert Crosby. It consists of providing dustless surface on 275 miles of adequately graded and drained gravel roads carrying in excess of 300 vehicles a day.

Estimated cost is $8,250,000, half of which will be paid from federal funds. It will require about one-fourth of the estimated $35,000,000 to be provided for highway improvement.

The first two-year program which was submitted to the last Legislature only called for an expenditure of $3,500,000 for the transition from gravel to dustless surface. However, when it became apparent that about $4,000,000 would be available after carrying out the program an additional 125 miles of dustless surfacing was announced.

Now Catching Up

Two years ago there were a total of 1,270 miles of gravel highways built to standards suitable for hard surfacing. These roads were built before the repeal of the added one cent gasoline tax, by a referendum vote, with the intention of adding hard surfacing.

The highway department explains that they are now endeavoring to catch up on this backlog. The program to go into effect next July 1 includes 27 projects.

Balance of the program will be announced in November, the governor said, after new sufficiency rating studies are completed. The present two year program was not completed and announced until the Legislature was in session in February.

The hard surfacing plans, as well as the entire two-year program being drawn up, are contingent upon the continuation of present revenue measures by the next Legislature.

The six cents of state gas tax now being collected is scheduled to revert to five cents on May 10 of next year unless the 1955 Legislature extends the period for collection of the extra cent of gas.

The specific projects selected for hard surfacing under the forthcoming program:

Inter-Agency Official

Ankenys Return From Long Tour Of West Europe

Judge and Mrs. Harry Ankeny can now be classified as seasoned tourists. They have just returned from a two and a half month tour of Western Europe.

The highlight of the trip, Mrs. Ankeny said, was a visit to Hitler's "eagle's nest" in Bavaria.

The Ankeny's visited 10 countries in Europe, missing only Norway and Sweden.

However, they did not follow the usual tourist routes. They were "driven everywhere" by their son, Lt. Robert Ankeny and his wife, the former Jo Ann Todd. Lt. Ankeny has been stationed with the Air Force at Bitburg, Germany, for the last year.

The Ankeny's also had an unusual trip home. They took the Southern route, sailing from Naples and visiting the Mediterranean ports of Geona, Cannes and Gibraltar.

But the best part of the trip is being back in Lincoln, Mrs. Ankeny said.

Mrs. Schalgemeier Services Monday

Funeral services for Mrs. Suella Schalgemeier, 77, of 1900 No. 32nd, will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at Umbergers. Dr. John Wichelt will officiate. Burial will be in Wyuka.

Mrs. Suella Schalgemeier

A Lincoln resident for about 50 years, Mrs. Schalgemeier, died Wednesday. She had been a practical nurse most of that time.

She was born in Keokuk, Ia., and lived in Nebraska City as a girl. She was a member of First United Brethren Church and Royal Neighbors.

Survivors include her husband, Henry W.; two daughters, Mrs. Leroy N. Manchester of Aurora, Ill., and Mrs. R. V. Reid of Lincoln; a son, Harold H. Brandt of Denver and a brother.

Diamond Rings Stolen

KEOKUK, Ia. (INS) — The theft of between $40,000 and $50,000 worth of diamond rings was reported to Keokuk police by a jewelry salesman. Officers said the rings, in three cases, were left overnight by a salesman for the Bauman Massa Jewelry Co., of St. Louis, in the Pribyl jewelry store. During the night, the door of the store was forced and the rings stolen.

Marine Corps Air Reservists Busy At Cherry Point

Lincoln Star Special

CHERRY POINT, N.C.—Marine Corps Air Reservists from Lincoln are busy almost every moment during their two-week training period at Cherry Point.

When the weather is clear and the ceiling unlimited, planes fill the sky all day long according to the training schedule.

However, when the weather turns "foul," there is sufficient work outlined to fill the days for pilots and crews.

Air Reservists are fliers, but they are also Marines which means keeping up on infantry tactics.

"Foul weather schedules" list such classroom instruction as M1 rifle, hand and arms signals, shelter halves (tents), technique of command, uniform code of military justice, history of the Marine Corps, the uniform, and chemical warfare.

Marine training for all personnel participating in the annual summer maneuvers at Cherry Point goes on every day, regardless of the weather.
